

► Model Narrative

Read the following model of a historical narrative about the presidential debate in 1960, between John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon. Notice that it includes the characteristics you have learned.

The First Televised Presidential Debate

The central character describes his surroundings.

Normally my job is pretty routine, but I saw something tonight that I'll remember for a long time. I'm a cameraman, and tonight I worked at WBBM Studios in Chicago, where the first presidential debate took place between Vice President Nixon and Senator Kennedy.

This first debate has turned into a big deal. The whole setup for the debate was really brand new, since the television networks all gave an hour of free time—no commercials. President Eisenhower even signed a special law to allow it. So it was definitely a very big deal.

The writer included historical events in the narrative.

When I got to the station late this afternoon, everyone seemed pretty keyed up. I was too—I was really worried about not making any mistakes. I was really excited when the two candidates arrived. Vice President Nixon got there first, with a Secret Service man. Nixon wore a baggy-looking gray suit that made him blend into the back wall. Not good. His shirt collar looked too big, and I remember that he'd had some kind of bad leg injury a few weeks before, so maybe he lost weight in the hospital. Also not good.

The writer blends fiction and nonfiction to create the narrative.

Then Senator Kennedy came. Kennedy seemed younger than Nixon and was definitely healthier looking — all tanned. His suit was dark blue, which contrasted well with the gray wall. Kennedy wore a white shirt, which looked great with his dark suit and tan. But white is terrible on television, since it starts to glow. Someone had to get him a light-blue shirt. The director offered the candidates makeup. The Vice President said "No" (bad idea, since he was pretty pale). But the senator, who was already tanned, thought he wanted some (smart—it keeps your face from showing sweat).

Teaching Historical Narratives Jon A. Levisohn, 2024-11-28 With this book Jon Levisohn argues that current history education is set up in a way that sees students of history at one end of a continuum with the academic experts in the field of history at the other and where the goal of history education is to help students to think like historians Building on a critical engagement with Carl Hempel Hayden White and David Carr as well as contemporary work in virtue epistemology Levisohn proposes a new theory of historiography which serves as a set of guidelines for the teaching and learning of history According to the theory the work of historiography is best characterized as a negotiation among narratives weaving together received narratives with new information and ideas in order to construct a new narrative This negotiation happens with a particular orientation towards negative evidence or flexible disconfirmationism and is assessed according to the openness sensitivity responsibility creativity boldness and humility i e the virtues of historical interpretation The book rethinks the work of history education offering new ways of thinking about the goals of the teaching of history namely in terms of the cultivation of the interpretive virtues

Analysing Historical Narratives Stefan Berger, Nicola Brauch, Chris Lorenz, 2021-05-14 For all of the recent debates over the methods and theoretical underpinnings of the historical profession scholars and laypeople alike still frequently think of history in terms of storytelling Accordingly historians and theorists have devoted much attention to how historical narratives work illuminating the ways they can bind together events shape an argument and lend support to ideology From ancient Greece to modern day bestsellers the studies gathered here offer a wide ranging analysis of the textual strategies used by historians They show how in spite of the pursuit of truth and objectivity the ways in which historians tell their stories are inevitably conditioned by their discursive contexts Historical Narratives

Mariana Imaz-Sheinbaum, 2023-10-27 This book explains some of the psychological processes that go into narrative construction and why it is that we have so much variability of historical accounts about a single historical event A central focus of this book is how historians go from having unconnected units of data to having a coherent structured and organized flow of experiences The author argues that the way these connections are established responds to certain Gestalt psychological principles that allow us to understand not only how histories are constructed but also how this construction can be rather different depending on how these principles are applied To illustrate how these principles are present in histories the author analyzes classic historical writers such as Burckhardt Huizinga Vico and Marx As well as an explanation of why historical multiplicity happens the book also offers a way to evaluate different historical narratives about the same historical event To illustrate how the evaluative framework is at play the author analyzes two views about the so called discovery of America The first one explains what happens in 1492 by using the term discovery The second one uses the notion of invention to talk about the same set of circumstances The book provides an important epistemic tool to evaluate these different accounts one that can be applied not only to this case but also others This book appeals to scholars graduate

Time, Temporality, and History in Process Organization Studies Juliane Reinecke, Roy Suddaby, Ann Langley, Haridimos Tsoukas, 2020-12-24 Time timing and temporality are inherently important to organizational process studies yet time remains an under theorized construct that has struggled to move much beyond chronological conceptions of clock time Missing from this linear view are ongoing debates about objectivity versus subjectivity in the experience of time linear versus alternative structures of time or an appreciation of collective or culturally determined inferences of temporality This is critical as our understanding of time and temporality can shape how we view and relate to organizational phenomena either as unfolding processes or stable objects History is equally important While we have an intuitive sense of history as a process organizational theorists have struggled to move beyond two limited conceptualizations history as a constraint on organization's capacity for change or history as a unique source of competitive advantage Both approaches suffer from the restrictive view of history as an objective set of brute facts that are exterior to the individuals organizations and collectives that experience them Yet management theory is acquiring an awareness of time history and memory as critical elements in processes of organizing This volume draws together emerging strands of interest in adopting a more nuanced orientation toward time temporality and history to better understand the temporal aspects of organizational processes Writing Historical Fiction Celia Brayfield, Duncan Sprott, 2013-12-05 Writing Historical Fiction A Writers Artists Companion is an invaluable companion for a writer working in this challenging and popular literary genre whether your period is Ancient Rome or World War II PART 1 includes reflections on the genre and provides a short history of historical fiction PART 2 contains guest contributions from Margaret Atwood Ian Beck Madison Smartt Bell Ronan Bennett Vanora Bennett Tracy Chevalier Lindsay Clarke Elizabeth Cook Anne Doughty Sarah Dunant Michel Faber Margaret George Philippa Gregory Katharine McMahon Valerio Massimo Manfredi Hilary Mantel Alan Massie Ian Mortimer Kate Mosse Charles Palliser Orhan Pamuk Edward Rutherfurd Manda Scott Adam Thorpe Stella Tillyard Rose Tremain Alison Weir and Louisa Young PART 3 offers practical exercises and advice on such topics as research plots and characters mastering authentic but accessible dialogue and navigating the world of agents and publishers
