Jerusalem in Medieval Narrative Suzanne M. Yeager, 2008-11-06 An original study of the political religious and literary uses of representations of the holy city in the fourteenth century The Legend of Veronica in Early Modern Art Katherine T. Brown, 2020-02-18 In The Legend of Veronica in Early Modern Art Katherine T Brown explores the lore of the apocryphal character of Veronica and the history of the true image relic as factors in the Franciscans placement of her character into the Via Crucis Way of the Cross as the Sixth Station in both Jerusalem and Western Europe around the turn of the fifteenth century Katherine T Brown examines how the Franciscans adopted and adapted the legend of Veronica to meet their own evangelical goals by intervening in the fabric of Jerusalem to incorporate her narrative which is not found in the Gospels into an urban path constructed for pilgrims as well as in similar participatory installations in churchyards and naves across Western Europe This book proposes plausible reasons for the subsequent proliferation of works of art depicting Veronica both within and independent of the Stations of the Cross from the early fifteenth through the mid seventeenth centuries This book will be of interest to scholars in art history theology and medieval and Renaissance studies

The Bible and Global Tourism James S. Bielo, Lieke Wijnia, 2021-01-14 This volume examines the ways in which biblical tourism is enmeshed within the production and management of heritage global contexts of marketing and publicity accessibility of sacred sites and routes for multiple audiences and the forging of connections between travel and social identity By exploring issues such as devotional piety religious pedagogy and entertainment an interdisciplinary collection of scholars traces how biblical tourism experiences are choreographed and consumed and how these practices shape embodied and narrative performances of scripture Contributors focus on four major questions How have people used tourism to develop new or renewed relationships with the Bible Historically what role has the Bible played in the development of modern tourism In the context of the tourist encounter how have people mobilized the Bible as a social and expressive resource And what forms of social exchange shape acts of biblical tourism such as among pilgrims or between people and landscapes These questions are centered not only around authorized shrines and Holy Places but also festivals museums theme parks and heritage sites This book aims to create a comparative and interdisciplinary dialogue around the dynamic relationship between biblical heritage claims and the practices and infrastructures of modern tourism
