Lilith George MacDonald, 2020-11-14 I had just finished my studies at Oxford and was taking a brief holiday from work beforeassuming definitely the management of the estate My father died when I was yet a child my mother followed him within a year and I was nearly as much alone in the world as aman might find himself I had made little acquaintance with the history of my ancestors Almost the only thing Iknew concerning them was that a notable number of them had been given to study I hadmyself so far inherited the tendency as to devote a good deal of my time though I confess after a somewhat desultory fashion to the physical sciences It was chiefly the wonder theywoke that drew me I was constantly seeing and on the outlook to see strange analogies not only between the facts of different sciences of the same order or between physical and metaphysical facts but between physical hypotheses and suggestions glimmering out of themetaphysical dreams into which I was in the habit of falling I was at the same time much given to a premature indulgence of the impulse to turn hypothesis into theory Of mymental peculiarities there is no occasion to say more The house as well as the family was of some antiquity but no description of it isnecessary to the understanding of my narrative It contained a fine library whose growthbegan before the invention of printing and had continued to my own time greatly influenced of course by changes of taste and pursuit Nothing surely can more impressupon a man the transitory nature of possession than his succeeding to an ancient property Like a moving panorama mine has passed from before many eyes and is now slowly flittingfrom before my own The library although duly considered in many alterations of the house and additions toit had nevertheless like an encroaching state absorbed one room after another until itoccupied the greater part of the ground floor Its chief room was large and the walls of itwere covered with books almost to the ceiling the rooms into which it overflowed were ofvarious sizes and shapes and communicated in modes as various by doors by openarches by short passages by steps up and steps down In the great room I mainly spent my time reading books of science old as well as new for the history of the human mind in relation to supposed knowledge was what most of all interested me Ptolemy Dante the two Bacons and Boyle were even more to me than Darwin or Maxwell as so much nearer the vanished van breaking into the dark ofignoranc Large Print Bible-Nab Oxford University Press, 2007-09 The New American Bible is the translation used for readings in the Catholic Church in the United States This edition is perfect for anyone needing a large print version of the NAB whether for public reading or personal devotions It includes translators notes and references positioned at the back of each book for ease of reading the Scripture text The Leather and Pacific Duvelle editions offer convenient thumb indexing which makes finding particular books in the Bible a snap plus gilded page edges and a ribbon marker making these volumes ideal as a thoughtful gift The paperback edition offers the basic features of the Large Print edition in a more affordable package Includes
