Linguistics Communication Artificial Intelligence Collections:

Linguistic Issues in Machine Translation Frank Van Eyndne, 2015-12-17 The key assumption in this text is that machine translation is not merely a mechanical process but in fact requires a high level of linguistic sophistication as the nuances of syntax semantics and intonation cannot always be conveyed by modern technology The increasing dependence on artificial communication by private and corporate users makes this research area an invaluable element when teaching linguistic theory

The Body in Language Horst Ruthrof, 2015-12-17 This book opposes the position that meanings can be explained by way of intralinguistic relations as in structural linguistics and its successors and rejects definitional descriptions of meaning as well as naturalistic accounts The idea that we are able to live by strings of mere signifiers is shown to rest on a misconception Ruthrof also attempts an explanation of why arguments grounded in a post Saussurean view of language as for instance certain feminist theories find it so difficult to show how precisely the body can be reclaimed as an integral part of linguistic signs In reinstating the body in language Ruthrof draws on Peirce Husserl Heidegger Wittgenstein and Derrida cognitive linguistics and rhetoric as well as on the writings of Helen Keller

New Concepts in Natural Language Generation Helmut Horacek, 2015-12-17 This book aims to inform researchers with an interest in natural language generation about advances in the field It is organised around four topics system architectures content planning discourse planning and realisation in linguistic form and it presents some of the most important works in this area of research

representation called the Text Structure an intermediate between the representation of world and the language User Modelling in Text Generation Cecile Paris,2015-12-17 This book addresses the issue of how the user s level of domain knowledge affects interaction with a computer system It demonstrates the feasibility of incorporating a model of user s domain knowledge into a natural language generation system The Intonation Systems of English Paul Tench,2015-12-17 Tench provides an introduction to the current state of functional linguistics studies in the intonation of English Intended not only for students of linguistics and English language the book also contains information ideal for consideration by language teachers speech therapists drama students and other professions that rely heavily upon the spoken word Nihongo Roy Andrew Miller,2015-12-17 The Japanese language is often under attack by linguists translators and even amateurs for having a seemingly vague set of rules making it near impossible to ever fully grasp all of the language s facets Roy Andrew Miller guides the reader through these often contradictory allegations by evaluating Japanese in the light of linguistic science He also pays particular attention to the problems inherent in certain systems for describing the language and to questions posed by published translations from Japanese literature A DDC Bibliography of Bibliographies in the DDC Collection Defense Documentation Center (U.S.),1968 The Case for Lexicase Stanley Starosta,2015-12-17 Starosta describes the formal properties of lexicase theory and its historical and metatheoretical relations to other current grammatical frameworks He argues that it is preferable to other grammatical frameworks as it is constrained enough to have empirical content simple enough to be tested and applied to enough languages to have a plausible claim to universality Examples are drawn from English and various Asian Pacific Australian and African languages The Communicative Syllabus Robin Melrose,2015-12-17 Beginning with a thorough survey of approaches to communicative syllabus design Melrose deals with the early 1970s functional approach and subsequent criticism of it as well as the contemporary search for a process approach to language learning It proposes a meaning negation model which draws upon the seminal work of Halliday Martin Fawcett and Lemke and is illustrated through their analysis of a unit from a communicative course book Its topical interactional approach is placed within the context of the current debate on language teaching and learning
