Hp C7000 Enclosure Manuals:

Handbook of Fiber Optic Data Communication Casimer DeCusatis, 2013-08-09 This chapter discusses the networking requirements for a new class of integrated data center appliances that have emerged within the past few years. Conventional data centers employ a combination of servers, storage, networking, software, applications, and services which are usually combined for the first time at the customer site and which frequently involve building custom solutions for specific jobs. Building custom systems is not a sustainable or economical approach; data center applications can take months to design and deploy, and there are ongoing issues with interoperability, support, scaling, and performance tuning to meet application requirements. Further, the provisioning and configuration of custom solutions is repetitive, manually intensive, and prone to errors. We discuss a new class of factory preintegrated systems combining servers, storage, and networking. Examples of integrated systems are discussed, including offerings from Cisco, Hewlett Packard, Hitachi, Huawei, IBM, Oracle, Sun, and others.
