Urban Farming in the West Robert Carriker, 2010-04-15 From 1933 to 1935 the federal government's Division of Subsistence Homesteads created thirty four New Deal communities that sought to provide a healthier and more economically secure life for disadvantaged Americans These settlements were designed to combine the benefits of rural and urban living by offering part time farming uplifting social functions and inexpensive homes Four were located in the West in Phoenix Arizona El Monte and San Fernando California and Longview Washington Robert Carriker examines for the first time the intricate histories of these subsistence homestead projects which have long been buried in bureaucratic records and clouded by misunderstanding showing that in many ways they were among the agency's most successful efforts He provides case studies of the projects rescuing their obscure histories using archival documents and rare photographs He also reveals the machinations of civic groups and private citizens across the West who jockeyed for access to the funds being allotted for New Deal community building By describing what took place on these western homesteads Carriker shows that the DSH's agenda was not as far fetched as some have reported The tendency to condemn the Division and its projects he argues has failed to appreciate the good that came from some of the individual homestead communities particularly those in the Far West Although overshadowed by the larger undertakings of the New Deal some of these western communities remain thriving neighborhoods living legacies to FDR's efforts that show how the country once chose to deal with economic hardship Too often the DSH is noted for its failures Carriker's study shows that its western homesteads were instead qualified accomplishments

Dance Floor Democracy Sherrie Tucker, 2014-10-23 Open from 1942 until 1945 the Hollywood Canteen was the most famous of the patriotic home front nightclubs where civilian hostesses jitterbugged with enlisted men of the Allied Nations Since the opening night when the crowds were so thick that Bette Davis had to enter through the bathroom window to give her welcome speech the storied dance floor where movie stars danced with soldiers has been the subject of much U S nostalgia about the Greatest Generation Drawing from oral histories with civilian volunteers and military guests who danced at the wartime nightclub Sherrie Tucker explores how jitterbugging swing culture has come to represent the war in U S national memory Yet her interviewees varied experiences and recollections belie the possibility of any singular historical narrative Some recall racism sexism and inequality on the nightclub s dance floor and in Los Angeles neighborhoods dynamics at odds with the U S democratic egalitarian ideals associated with the Hollywood Canteen and the Good War in popular culture narratives For Tucker swing dancing s torque bodies sharing weight velocity and turning power without guaranteed outcomes is an apt metaphor for the jostling narratives different perspectives unsteady memories and quotidian acts that comprise social history

Geo-Spatial Technologies in Urban Environments Ryan R. Jensen, Jay D. Gatrell, Daniel McLean, 2005-08-29 Using Geospatial Technologies in Urban Environments simultaneously fills two gaping vacuums in the scholarly literature on urban geography The first is the clear and straightforward application of geospatial technologies to practical urban issues By using remote sensing and statistical techniques correlation regression analysis the expansion method factor analysis and analysis of variance the thors of these 12 chapters contribute significantly to our understanding of how geospatial methodologies enhance urban studies For example the GIS Specialty Group of the Association of American Geographers AAG has the largest membership of all the AAG specialty groups followed by the Urban Geography Specialty Group Moreover the Urban Geography Specialty Group has the largest number of cross memberships with the GIS Specialty Group This book advances this important geospatial and urban link Second the book fills a wide void in the urban environment literature Although the Annals of the Association of American Geographers has recently established an editorship devoted to human environmental issues Nature and Society relatively few of the articles in this section of the journal have focused specifically on urban environmental topics Likewise of the textbooks in urban geography published over the past decade Knox 1994 Pacione 2001 Kaplan Wheeler and Holloway 2004 none has offered a single chapter on urban environmental questions and only passing references to such topics as urban heat islands
