with The Geek Handbook      Ma'am Lue Wyatt, 2011-06-15 Ma'am is a story of an older woman who has lived a life of hard labor. She was a woman that not only worked hard, she also loved as well. Raised in poverty, married young with children, did the only thing she knew: worked. Later in life, due to circumstances that have happened to so many women, adopted five grandchildren. Later, she discovered to her dismay that while caring for children, all her life, siblings, her own children, later her own grandchildren. She had forgotten about her own personal life needs and desires. While trying to ignore it, becomes clinically depressed. Youth had slipped away, time had forgotten her. Once a beautiful red head and now merely a shell of her former self. Looking into the bathroom mirror one morning, she discovers the answer. All through her busy life, she held all the emotions in that a woman experiences. She had never talked to anyone before, but now in the privacy of her home, she could pour out all the pain and frustrations that she had felt for so many years. Talking to the reflection in the mirror and eventually finds peace of mind. I've tried to describe how a woman would react under these stressful circumstances in which she finds herself. In trying to deal with her own personal life and still be responsible for the care of five grandchildren, I have written of a woman who is strong. Life made her that way. She also has feet of clay. I've tried to portray her as being very human because we all are. In Ma'am's story, she deals with the problems of aging, but at the same time, she sees humor in everyday happenings and has the ability to laugh at herself as well with other people. The adventures of a woman and Ma'am are at times hilarious, but also truthful, but again, it is all part of life's story. In my story of Ma'am, the woman has no name because she speaks for umpteen thousands of women all over the world. She also believes in her God, but the older she gets, the more issues she has. Ma'am is truthful about her triumphs and her failings, as in all our lives, there are many.      The Australian Woman's Magazine and Domestic Journal, 1882. There is Olivia, the beautiful elder Davenport daughter, ready to do her duty by getting married until she meets the charismatic civil rights leader Washington DeWight, and sparks fly. The younger daughter, Helen, is more interested in fixing cars than falling in love, unless it's with her sister's suitor, Amy Rose, the childhood friend turned maid to the Davenport sisters, dreams of opening her own business and marrying the one man she could never be with, Olivia and Helen's brother, John. But Olivia's best friend, Ruby, also has her sights set on John Davenport, though she can't seem to keep his interest until family pressure has her scheming to win his heart just as someone else wins hers.
