

THINGS TO SAY IN BED

Do you sometimes feel that your performance in bed is great but your dialogue could be more effective?

Here are a few bon mots that should encourage a repeat performance and a few more that are calculated to banish him forever—if that's your intention.

- Whoever said sex was an overrated pastime?
 - On a scale of one to ten that was twelve.
 - You're one of the few people who look better out of clothes than in them.
 - Seconds? I know I'd like some.
 - You could put the electric blanket industry out of business.
 - Don't go to work today!
 - Did you write The Sensuous Man?
 - How can something so good be non-fattening?
 - I don't want to know about your past, but it certainly taught you a thing or two.
 - Sleeping with you is like spending a week in Marrakesh.
 - I reckon you could cope with six girls but don't let me catch you near one of them.
 - Where do I send the cheque?
 - Let's stay here all day.
 - You know you're beautiful without your glasses/executive frown/hippie headband.
 - Who needs champagne?
 - I'm so glad we kept the light on.
 - You must have been reading my Cosmopolitan.
 - Mmmmmmmmmmmmm!
 - And to think I once thought I was frigid!
 - Let's not waste time talking.
- REMARKS UTTERED TO MEN WHO DIDN'T RETURN
- How much did you say you weigh?
 - I'll bet you can run a mile in three minutes, too.
 - Listen, you know that Masters and Johnson study . . . ?
 - There's a man with binoculars across the street!
 - There, if that doesn't hold you, nothing will!
 - That hurts!
 - Is that the doorbell?
 - Let's see . . . did I take my Pill this morning?
 - For God's sake, it's only 7 am.
 - Maybe we should get a vibrator?
 - Did you read about the girl who got pregnant in a swimming pool?
 - Could we get rid of some of these covers? I get a terrible rash when I'm overheated.
 - Oh it's just a small infection but the doctors don't seem able to get rid of it.
 - Did you put the rubbish out?
 - Hey. You know, you're improving.
 - Would you mind moving to the sofa? I can't bear anyone in bed with me when I'm sleeping.
 - Do you always get hiccoughs?
 - You only want me for one thing.
 - But I always wear pyjamas.
 - I can't breathe.

Cosmopolitan Conceptions Marcia C. Inhorn,2015-07-23 In their desperate quest for conception thousands of infertile couples from around the world travel to the global in vitro fertilization IVF hub of Dubai In Cosmopolitan Conceptions Marcia C Inhorn highlights the stories of 220 reprotravelers from fifty countries who sought treatment at a cosmopolitan IVF clinic in Dubai. These couples cannot find safe, affordable, legal and effective IVF services in their home countries and their stories offer a window into the world of infertility, a world that is replete with pain, fear, danger, frustration and financial burden. These hardships dispel any notion that traveling for IVF treatment is reproductive tourism. The magnitude of reprotravel to Dubai, Inhorn contends, reflects the failure of countries to meet their citizens' reproductive needs, which suggests the necessity of creating new forms of activism that advocate for developing alternate pathways to parenthood, reducing preventable forms of infertility, supporting the infertile and making safe and low cost IVF available worldwide. The Cosmopolitan Canopy Elijah Anderson, 2012-03-12. A Yale sociology professor discusses how everyday people meet the demands of urban living through islands of civility he calls cosmopolitan canopies and describes how activities carried out under this canopy can ease racial tensions and promote harmony.

Sex, Feminism and Lesbian Desire in Women's Magazines Kate Farhall, 2020-09-14. This book examines evolving pop culture representations of sex and relationships from the 1970s onwards to demonstrate parallels between the strength of the feminist movement and positive portrayals of women's sexuality. In charting changes in the sex and relationship content of women's magazines over time, this analysis reveals that despite surface level changes in sexual and relationship content, the underlying paradigm of hetero monogamy remains unchanged. Despite a seemingly more diverse, empowered and liberated sexuality for women in contemporary magazines, in reality such feminist rhetoric masks an enduring model of sexuality which rests on women's sexual and emotional maintenance of male partners and their own self-objectification and self-surveillance. Where substantive changes can be identified, they rise and fall in tandem with feminism. By demonstrating this empirical relationship between cultural products and feminist organising, the book validates an assumption that has rarely been tested: that a feminist social milieu improves cultural narratives about sexuality for women.

Sex, Feminism and Lesbian Desire builds on ground-breaking feminist texts such as Susan Faludi's Backlash to present an empirically focused, comprehensive study interrogating changes in content over the lifetime of women's magazines. By charting the representation of sex and relationships in two women's magazines, Cosmopolitan and Cleo, since the 1970s through an analysis of over 6,500 magazine pages and 1,500 articles, this timely work interrogates and ultimately complicates the apparent linear progression of feminism. This book is suitable for researchers and students in women's and gender studies, queer studies, LGBT studies, media studies, cultural studies and sociology.

Cosmopolitan Desire Stephen William Foster, 2006. Foster's timely work looks at globalization processes and the transformations that occur within a diverse society. He investigates the multicultural blend of Western and Moslem cultures in Morocco, showing how a multicultural society deals with differences, e.g. how urban secularized Moslems constitute their identities and how they present themselves to non-Moslem Westerners. Foster's work is about close encounters; he captures the dialogues between individuals and their resistance to intolerance. He offers a combination of narrative, life history, timely investigation of the intercultural problems.
