Letters, Kinship, and Social Mobility in Nigeria Olufemi Vaughan, 2023-08-15 In 2003 Olufemi Vaughan received from his ninety five year old father Abiodun a trove of more than 3 000 letters written by four generations of his family in Ibadan Nigeria between 1926 to 1994 The men and women who wrote these letters had emerged from the religious social and educational institutions established by the Church Missionary Society the preeminent Anglican mission in the Atlantic Nigerian region following the imposition of British colonial rule Abiodun recruited to be a civil servant in the colonial administration became the patriarch of a prominent family with historical roots in both West Africa and the Americas his family was the subject of articles in Ebony and Jet as well as in acclaimed histories Reading deeply in these letters Olufemi realized he had a unique set of sources that could be used to illuminate everyday life for this important segment of Nigerian society Letter writing was a dominant form of communication for western educated elites in colonial Africa especially in Nigeria Exposure and an altruistic sense of nationalism were among the factors that led people to begin exchanging letters particularly in their interactions with British colonial authorities Through careful textual analysis and broad contextualization Vaughan reconstructs dominant storylines including themes such as people's relationships with colonial authorities and bureaucracy ideas about faith and kinship nationalism and communal development Vaughan brings his prodigious skills as a historian to bear on this wealth of information bringing to life a portrait at once intimate and expansive of a community during a transformative period in African history

Catherine the Great: Selected Letters Catherine The Great, 2018-07-19 Your Majesty may find it extraordinary that I should answer with a shipment of fruit your letter of 6 August in which you inform me that you are sending the plan for a treaty and that of the 8 September in which you are so good as to share with me equally important intelligence Things big and small often come from the same source my watermelons derive from the same principles as our planned alliance To Frederick the Great Catherine the Great's letters present a vivid picture of Russia in a momentous age They also offer a unique account of her personal development and intimate life her strategic acumen as a diplomat and military commander and her political skills at the Russian court and in handling foreign monarchs Born a German princess Catherine married into the Russian royal family and came to the throne after a coup As absolute ruler for 34 years she presided over the expansion of the Russian empire legislated actively to reform the country in keeping with the principles of the Enlightenment actively promoted the arts and sciences and in her correspondence engaged with the most renowned minds in Europe among them Diderot and Voltaire Her letters are her literary masterpiece written to a wide circle of associates and friends not least her most celebrated lover and ally Potemkin Combining her wit charm and quick eye for detail they entertain and tell the gripping story of a self made woman and legendary ruler This edition of the letters offers a taste of Catherine's entire writing career with biographies of Catherine's addressees a thorough overview of her reign and an analysis of Catherine's literary skill as a letter writer Organized chronologically and thematically into six periods each section also features an introduction to the domestic personal and foreign policy contexts out of which her letters emerge
