The Law Reports, Vol. 5 James Anstie, 2016-07-15 Excerpt from The Law Reports Vol 5 Court of Exchequer From Michaelmas Term 1869 to Trinity Term 1870 Both Inclusive XXXIII Victoria Pigott B I am of the same Opinion The action is against a tradesmen for negligence and unskilfulness in ness Such an action by the purchaser himself is clearly maintainable Then where the thing purchased is for the use not of the purchaser himself but to the defendant s knowledge of his wife does the defendant s duty extend to her I can see no reason Why it should not She cannot contract for herself alone but that is no reason why the defendant s duty should stop short of her The case no doubt would have been very different if the declaration had not alleged that the defendant knew for whom the compound was intended Suppose for example a chemist sells to a customer a drug without any knowledge of the purpose to which it is to be applied which is fit for a grown person and that drug is afterwards given by the purchaser to a child and does injury it could not be contended that the chemist was liable That however is widely different from this case for here there is an express allegation that the defendant knew the purpose for which and the person for Whom this compound was bought About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may
