A love story... with a happy ending Flávio Gikovate, 2013-08-06 Technological advances and changes in society have led to the growth of individuality and the impoverishment of conventional love which nonetheless prevails in the collective imagination as an ideal This slow transformation according to Flávio Gikovate is excellent news He believes that adults today have two options both of which are much better than the possessive conventional relationships of old to live alone establishing more superficial emotional and physical connections or to develop relationships based on what he calls love which respects individuality and can create ties capable of lasting a lifetime In this work Gikovate explains how to take the second path definitely more difficult but far more rewarding

How Other People Make Love Thisbe Nissen, 2021-04-01 Love stories wherein people ask themselves what is love In How Other People Make Love Thisbe Nissen chronicles the lives and choices of people questioning the heteronormative institution of marriage Not best served by established conventions and conventional mores these people young old gay straight midwestern coastal are finding their own paths in learning who they are and how they want to love and be loved even when those paths must be blazed through the unknown Concerning husbands and wives lovers and leavers Nissen's stories explore our search for connection and all the ways we undercut it unwittingly and intentionally when we do find it How do we hold ourselves together to function work and survive while endlessly yearning to be undone unraveled and laid bare however untenable and excruciating How Other

People Make Love contains nine stories. Win's Girl features a single woman who works at an Iowa slaughterhouse and uses the insurance money from a car accident to update the electric system in her dead parents' old house only to be unwittingly embroiled with a shady electrician who ultimately forces her to stand up for herself. In Home Is Where the Heart Gives Out and We Arouse the Grass a young woman flees after cheating on her husband and winds up at a Nebraska roadside motel populated by participants in a regional dog show who help her decide what to do next. In Unity Brought Them Together a young man heads to his favorite New York coffee shop intending to finish the Christmas cards his vacationing fiancée insists on sending but winds up meeting another displaced young midwestern man there and going home with him instead. All these stories explore the question how do we love as well as the answers we find: discard, follow, banish, and cling to in all our humanness and desperation. How Other People Make Love asserts that there aren't right and wrong ways to love; there are only our very complicated and contradictory human hearts, minds, bodies, and desires, all searching for something, whether we know what that is or not. These are stories for anyone who has ever loved or been loved. Love's Winning Plays: A Novel Inman Majors, 2012-08-27 In this fist-bumping, high-fiving, all-out comedic blitz about the sublimely ridiculous world of college football, Southeastern Conference head coach Von Driver will take his motivational magic and his Isosceles Triangle of Success on a Pigskin Cavalcade to the small towns in the state. Love in the Pandemic Marc Alain, 2022-11-07 Being bisexual, you never get the sense that you are accepted by either straight or gay people. This is the story of what happens when men or women are caught in the quandary of wondering which one they are. It is also about societal influences: religion, conservatism, family that threaten the fabric of individuality and the parental reigns that force choices that are not acceptable. There is a line that is crossed by society and parents that can destroy a person of either sex who chooses one form of intercourse or another. There is nothing worse than being a social pariah, and this is that story. Dangerous Love Jennifer Leigh Syvertsen, 2022-11-01 A free, open access ebook is available upon publication. Learn more at www.luminosoa.org. The relationships between female sex workers and their noncommercial male partners are often assumed to be coercive and anchored in risk, dismissed as pimp-prostitute arrangements by researchers and the general public alike. Yet these stereotypes unjustly erase the complexity of lives we imagine to be consumed by social suffering. Dangerous Love centers a framework of love to rethink sex workers' intimate relationships as commitments to collective solidarity and survival in contexts of oppression. Combining epidemiological research and ethnographic fieldwork in Tijuana, Mexico, Jennifer Leigh Syvertsen examines how individuals try to find love and meaning in lives marked by structural violence, social marginalization, drug addiction, and HIV/AIDS. Linking the political economy of inequalities along the border with emotional lived experience, this book explores how intimate relationships become dangerous safe havens that fundamentally shape both partners well-being. Through these stories, we are urged to reimagine the socially transformative power of love to carve new pathways to health equity. As Time Goes By Abigail Trafford, 2010-05-21 In this inspiring book, best-selling author Abigail Trafford
