Love Objects Emotion Design And Material Culture:

Love Objects Anna Moran, SORCHA O'BRIEN, 2014-10-23 Love Objects is the first anthology on the concept of love to interrogate across a range of contexts its design and other material manifestations Love Objects Anna Moran, 2014

Feeling Things Stephanie Downes, Sally Holloway, Sarah Randles, 2018 This interdisciplinary essay collection investigates the various interactions of people feelings and things throughout premodern Europe It focuses on the period before mass production when limited literacy often prioritised material methods of communication The subject of materiality has been of increasing significance in recent historical inquiry alongside growing emphasis on the relationships between objects emotions and affect in archaeological and sociological research The historical intersections between materiality and emotions however have remained under theorised particularly with respect to artefacts that have continuing resonance over extended periods of time or across cultural and geographical space Feeling Things addresses the need to develop an appropriate cross disciplinary theoretical framework for the analysis of objects and emotions in European history with special attention to the need to track the shifting emotional valencies of objects from the past to the present and from one place and cultural context to another The collection draws together an international group of historians art historians curators and literary scholars working on a variety of cultural literary visual and material sources Objects considered include books letters prosthetics religious relics shoes stone and textiles Many of these have been preserved in international galleries museums and archives while others have remained in their original locations even as their contexts have changed over time The chapters consider the ways in which emotions such as despair fear grief hope love and wonder become inscribed in and ascribed to these items producing emotional objects of significance and agency Such objects can be harnessed to create affirm or express individual relationships as for example in religious devotion and practice or in the construction of cultural communal and national identities The Feeling Heart in Medieval and Early Modern Europe Katie Barclay, Bronwyn Reddan, 2019-12-02

The heart is an iconic symbol in the medieval and early modern European world In addition to being a physical organ it is a key conceptual device related to emotions cognition the self and identity and the body The heart is read as a metaphor for human desire and will and situated in opposition to or alongside reason and cognition In medieval and early modern Europe the feeling heart the heart as the site of emotion and emotional practices informed a broad range of art literature music heraldry medical texts and devotional and ritual practices This multidisciplinary collection brings together art historians literary scholars historians theologians and musicologists to highlight the range of meanings attached to the symbol of the heart the relationship between physical and metaphorical representations of the heart and the uses of the heart in the production of identities and communities in medieval and early modern Europe The Corporeality of Clothing in Medieval Literature Sarah Brazil, 2018-12-17 Every known society wears some form of clothing It is central to how we experience our bodies and how we understand the sociocultural dimensions of our embodiment It is also central to how we understand works of literature In this innovative study Brazil demonstrates how medieval writers use clothing to direct readers and spectators awareness to forms of embodiment Offering insights into how poetic works plays and devotional treatises target readers kinesic intelligence their ability to understand movements and gestures Brazil demonstrates the theological implications of clothing often evinced by how garments limit or facilitate the movements and postures of bodies in narratives By bringing recent studies in the field of embodied cognition to bear on narrated and dramatized interactions between dress and body this book offers new methodological tools to the study of clothing

Martial masculinities Michael Brown, Anna Maria Barry, Joanne Begiato, 2019-08-30 This collection explores the role of martial masculinities in shaping nineteenth century British culture and society in a period framed by two of the greatest wars the world had ever known It offers a fresh interdisciplinary perspective on an emerging field of study and draws on historical literary visual and musical sources to demonstrate the centrality of the military and its masculine dimensions in the shaping of Victorian and Edwardian personal and national identities Focusing on both the experience of military service and its imaginative forms it examines such topics as bodies and habits families and domesticity heroism and chivalry religion and militarism and youth and fantasy This collection will be required reading for anyone interested in the cultures of war and masculinity in the long nineteenth century

The Materiality of Love Anna Malinowska, Michael Gratzke, 2017-09-27 Drawing on love studies and research in material cultures this book seeks to re examine love through materiality studies especially their recent incarnations new materialism and object oriented philosophy to spark a debate on the relationship between love objects and forms of materializing affection It focuses on love as a material form and traces connections between feelings and materiality especially in relation to the changing notion of the material as marked by digital culture as well as the developments in understanding the nature of non human affect It provides insight into how materiality in its broadest sense impacts the understanding of the meanings and practices of love today and reversely how love contributes to the production and transformation of the material world

Describing Women's Clothing in Eighteenth-century England Elizabeth Spencer, 2024 Descriptions of women's clothing increasingly circulated across textual genres and beyond in eighteenth century England This book explores the significance of these descriptions across a range of sources including wills newspapers accounts court records and the records of the old poor law Attention has rested on women literate and wealthy enough to leave behind textual or material traces but this book ranges from the parish pauper to the gentlewoman to consider descriptive languages rhetorical strategies and relationships with clothing across the social hierarchy It explores how women described their own clothing but also looks at how it was described by overseers family members retailers and even strangers It shows that we must look beyond isolated descriptions to how why and who was describing clothing to understand its role Chapters uncover themes of material obligation expectation and entitlement
