Winning the Math Wars Martin Abbott,2010 n this volume four scholars at the Washington School Research Center WSRC at Seattle Pacific University present original research drawn from statistical studies of state educational data and from thousands of classroom observations carried out by The BERC Group They assess the current state of math education and review its history and development The authors also provide a dispassionate review of the extensive international national and state literature The in depth observational research in Winning the Math Wars confirms that the real issue is neither the approach to teaching traditional or reform nor the type of curriculum If America s goal of educational equity and excellence is to be achieved then math teachers everywhere must be fully supported in developing the specific skills that are ideal for educating all students The authors discussion focus on four principles for improving math teaching and learning fidelity to reform efforts by all involved an emphasis on instruction and instructional tools the critical nature of mathematical knowledge and the need for transformational change Winning the Math Wars is an important book for policy makers school leaders practitioners of mathematics education parents and anyone who wants to make sense of the math wars Martin Abbott Ph D is director of the WSRC and professor of sociology at Seattle Pacific University He specializes in evaluation research and statistical analysis of large data sets Duane Baker Ed D is president of The BERC Group and an expert in assessment classroom observation and teaching reforms Karen Smith Ed D is winner of a presidential award in mathematics education and an experienced elementary math teacher school administrator and consultant to public schools Thomas Trzyna Ph D is a specialist in international education and a co author of Toward a Global Ph D

Numerical Validation in Current Hardware Architectures Annie A.M. Cuyt,Walter Krämer,Wolfram Luther,Peter Markstein,2009-04-24 The major emphasis of the Dagstuhl Seminar on Numerical Validation in Current Hardware Architectures lay on numerical validation in current hardware architecturesand softwareenvironments The generalidea was to bring together experts who are concerned with computer arithmetic in systems with actual processor architectures and scientists who develop use and need techniques from verified computation in their applications Topics of the seminar therefore included The ongoing revision of the IEEE 754 854 standard for floating point arithmetic Feasible ways to implement multiple precision multiword arithmetic and to compute the actual precision at run time according to the needs of input data The achievement of a similar behavior of fixed point floating point and interval arithmetic across language compliant implementations The design of robust and efficient numerical programsportable from diverse computers to those that adhere to the IEEE standard The development and propagation of validated special purpose software in different application areas Error analysis in several contexts Certification of numerical programs verification and validation assessment Computer arithmetic plays an important role at the hardware and software level when microprocessors embedded systems or grids are designed The reliability of numerical softwarestrongly depends on the compliance with the corresponding floating point norms Standard CISC processors follow the 1985 IEEE norm 754 which is currently under revision but the new highly performing CELL processor is not fully IEEE compliant

In a sea of troubling reporting about education teaching reading and the wellbeing of teens Ivey and Johnston bring some good news that shows what happens when we stop underestimating young people This accessible book offers an engaging account of a 4 year study of adolescents who went from reluctant to enthusiastic readers These youth reported that reading not only helped them manage their stress but also helped them negotiate happier more meaningful lives This amazing transformation occurred when their teachers simply allowed them to select their own books invited them to read with no strings attached and provided time for them to do so These students nearly all of whom reported a previously negative relationship with reading began to read voraciously inside and outside of school performed better on state tests and transformed their personal relational emotional and moral lives in the process This illuminating book leads readers on a tour of adolescents reading lives in their own words offering a long overdue analysis of students deep engagement with literature

The text also includes research to inform arguments about what students should and should not read and the consequences of limiting students access to the books that interest them through censorship Book Features Links young adults reading engagement with socio emotional and intellectual development Provides nuanced descriptions of teaching practices that facilitate student agency in learning Features student voices that have been absent in debates about what is appropriate for young people to read and under what circumstances Connects student perspectives on reading with positive outcomes of reading to research from other disciplines Illuminates the breadth and depth of the responsibilities of teaching English language arts
