Conflict-Sensitive Conservation Carl Bruch, Geeta Batra, Anupam Anand, Shehla Chowdhury, Sierra Killian, 2023-08-10 This book provides an empirically formulated foundation for conflict sensitive conservation a field in which the existing literature relies primarily on anecdotal evidence Seeking to better understand the impact of conflict on the implementation and outcomes of environmental projects the Global Environment Facility GEF Independent Evaluation Office and the Environmental Law Institute undertook an evaluation of GEF support to fragile and conflict affected contexts Following a qualitative and quantitative analysis of documents from more than 4 000 projects the research team discovered a statistically significant negative correlation between a country's Fragile States Index score and the implementation quality of environmental projects in that country In this book the evaluation and research team explain these groundbreaking findings in detail highlighting seven key case studies Afghanistan Albertine Rift Balkans Cambodia Colombia Lebanon and Mali Drawing upon additional research and interviews with GEF project implementation staff the volume illustrates the pathways through which conflict and fragility frequently impact environmental projects It also examines how practitioners and sponsoring institutions can plan and implement their projects to avoid or mitigate these issues and find opportunities to promote peacebuilding through their environmental interventions Examining data from 164 countries and territories this innovative book will be of great interest to students and scholars of environmental management conservation international development and the fast growing field of environmental peacebuilding It will also be a great resource for practitioners working in these important fields The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

International Law and the War with Islamic State Saeed Bagheri, 2021-07-15 Armed non state actors ANSAs often have economic aims that international law needs to respond to This book looks at the aim of Islamic State to create an effective government with an economically independent regime which focused on key oilfields in Syria and Iraq Having addressed Islamic State's quest for energy resources in Iraq and Syria the book explores the lawfulness of the war with Islamic State from a variety of legal aspects It has been attempted to make inroads into the most controversial aspects of contradictions in the application of jus ad bellum and jus in bello particularly when discussing the use of extraterritorial armed force against ANSAs and the obligation to protect civilian objects including the natural environment The question is whether the targeting of energy resources should be regarded as a violation of the laws of armed conflict even though the war with Islamic State being classified as a non international armed conflict Ambitious in scope the study argues that legal theory and state practice are still problematic as to how and under what conditions states can justify resorting to military force in foreign territory and to what extent they can target natural resources as being part of state property Furthermore it goes on to examine the differences between international and non international armed conflicts to establish whether there is any difference in the targeting of energy resources as part of the war sustaining capabilities of either party Through an examination of the Islamic State case the book offers a comprehensive study to close the gaps in jus in bello by contextualising the questions of civilian protection victimisation and state responsibility by evaluating the US's war sustaining theory as a justification for the destruction of a territorial state's natural resources that are occupied by ANSAs

Land and Post-Conflict Peacebuilding Jon Unruh, Rhodri Williams, 2013-07-18 Claims to land and territory are often a cause of conflict and land issues present some of the most contentious problems for post conflict peacebuilding Among the land related problems that emerge during and after conflict are the exploitation of land based resources in the absence of authority the disintegration of property rights and institutions the territorial effect of battlefield gains and losses and population displacement In the wake of violent conflict reconstitution of a viable land rights system is crucial an effective post conflict land policy can foster economic recovery help restore the rule of law and strengthen political stability But the reestablishment of land ownership land use and access rights for individuals and communities is often complicated and problematic and poor land policies can lead to renewed tensions In twenty one chapters by twenty five authors this book considers experiences with and approaches to post conflict land issues in seventeen countries and in varied social and geographic settings Highlighting key concepts that are important for understanding how to address land rights in the wake of armed conflict the book provides a theoretical and practical framework for policy makers researchers practitioners and students Land and Post Conflict Peacebuilding is part of a global initiative to identify and analyze lessons in post conflict peacebuilding and natural resource management The project has generated six edited books of case studies and analyses with contributions from practitioners policy makers and researchers Other books in the series address high value resources water livelihoods assessing and restoring resources and governance Environmental Protection and Transitions from Conflict to Peace Carsten Stahn, Jennifer S. environmental protection in the peace building process addressing the strengths and weaknesses of different bodies of law

Justice and Economic Violence in Transition Dustin N. Sharp, 2013-09-14 This book examines the role of economic violence violations of economic and social rights corruption and plunder of natural resources within the transitional justice agenda Because economic violence often leads to conflict is perpetrated during conflict and continues afterwards as a legacy of conflict a greater focus on economic and social rights issues in the transitional justice context is critical One might add that insofar as transitional justice is increasingly seen as an instrument of peacebuilding rather than a simple political transition focus on economic violence as the crucial root cause is key to preventing re lapse into conflict Recent increasing attention to economic issues by academics and truth commissions suggest this may be slowly changing and that economic and social rights may represent the next frontier of transitional justice concerns There remain difficult questions that have yet to be worked out at the level of theory policy and practice Further scholarship in this regard is both timely and necessary This volume therefore presents an opportunity to fill an important gap The project will bring together new papers by recognized and emerging scholars and policy experts in the field
