Governing By Inspection Studies In European Education:

Governing by Inspection Sotiria Grek, Joakim Lindgren, 2014-09-19 In recent decades governing practices in education have become highly contradictory deregulation and decentralisation are accompanied by re regulation and increased centralisation contributing to considerable governing tensions in and across different national systems and within the emergent European education policy space On the one hand there is the persistence of performance monitoring through target setting indicators and benchmarks and on the other the promotion of self evaluation and light touch regulation that express a softer governance turn and promote self regulation as the best basis for constant improvement Drawing on research undertaken into three national systems this edited volume explores the attempts to manage these tensions in Europe through the development of inspection as a governing practice Inspectorates and inspectors offer key locations for the exploration of governing tensions positioned as they are between the international the national and the local and institutional and with responsibility for both regulation and development All three national systems offer contrasting approaches to inspection all of which have changed considerably in recent years Governing by Inspection positions inspection in the framework of changing education policy and politics and in a period of intensive policy development and exchange in Europe It will be key reading for academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of education political science and social policy

The Changing Epistemic Governance of European Education Romuald Normand, 2016-06-17 This book examines the transformations of epistemic governance in education the way in which some actors are shaping new knowledge and how that new knowledge impacts other actors in charge of implementing this knowledge in the context of the decision making process and practice The book describes knowledge based and evidence based technologies that produce new modes of representation cognitive categories and value based judgements which determine and guide actions and interactions between researchers experts and policy makers It explores several major social theories and concepts analysing the transformation of the relationship between educational and social sciences and politics In the light of epistemic governance being linked to transformations of academic capitalism the book describes the ways in which academics engaged in heterogeneous networks are capable of developing new interactions as well as facing new trials imposed on them by the changing conditions of producing knowledge in their scientific community and within their institutions Knowledge is power It is materialized in metrics policy instruments and embedded in networks The governance of European higher education insightfully argues Romuald Normand is not structured by hierarchical public policies by governmental exercise of authority or heroic decision making Normand makes a sophisticated intellectual argument building upon the work of Foucault Latour Sociology of science and the pragmatic sociology of Boltanski and Th venot sociology of justification in order to precisely analyse Europe s higher education through the circulation of ideas and instruments Based upon precise research the book is a major contribution to the understanding of high education in a capitalist Europe beyond the simple idea of neo liberalism Normand provocatively even suggests the making of a European Homo Academicus This is an innovative and important book for public policy European Studies and the sociology of Education Patrick le Gal s FBA CNRS Research Professor Centre d Etudes Europeennes Sciences Po Paris France      Governing Educational Spaces Hans-Georg Kotthoff, Eleftherios Klerides, 2015-12-14 The governance of education in many countries and regions of the world is currently in transition challenging histories remaking subjectivities and shaping possible futures This book provides an up to date analysis and discussion of the cutting edge theme of educational governance from an international comparative perspective The volume explores the landscape of educational governance in its broadest sense considering new forms of steering leadership and management assessment and evaluation teaching and learning knowledge creation and the realities and possibilities for different forms of political engagement The new spatial dynamics of education are explored in institutional settings such as schools and universities and via professional groupings such as teachers administrators and leaders The chapters in this book are based on the best peer reviewed papers and keynote speeches which were delivered at the XXVI Conference of the Comparative Education Society in Europe CESE in June 2014 in Freiburg Germany Comparative Education is uniquely situated to explore the emerging dynamics of educational governance within changing and newly emerging educational spaces because it provides the opportunity to learn more about different local national or regional educational processes and trajectories and to share knowledge about the logics ideologies and impacts of different techniques and regimes of governance across Europe and beyond Hans Georg Kotthoff is Professor of Comparative Education and School Pedagogy at the University of Education Freiburg Germany and President of the Comparative Education Society in Europe CESE since 2012 Eleftherios Klerides is Lecturer in Comparative Education and History of Education at the University of Cyprus and the Secretary Treasurer of the Comparative Education Society in Europe CESE      A European Politics of Education Romuald Normand, Jean-Louis Derouet, 2016-06-10 A European Politics of Education proposes a sociology of education establishing connections between empirical data coming from European scale comparative surveys normative assumptions structuring actors representations and interpretative judgements and a specific focus on Lifelong Learning policy areas It invites readers to think about the place of standards expertise and calculations in the European space from a common perspective supported by a tradition of critical sociology and European political studies The book Addresses an important agenda how the policies and politics of supranational Europe are making a European educational space Contains a response to the emergence of new epistemic governance and instruments at European level Contains contributions from the EU and the UK which give a comprehensive selection of perspectives and analysis of the field as it concerns Europe The complexity of the contemporary European education policy space is addressed here with new lines of inquiry as well as a reflexive outlook on standardization policy making and actor engagement Students and researchers of European policy studies education policy analysts and theorists will all be particularly interested readers      School

Inspectors Jacqueline Baxter, 2017-04-10 This book examines the role of the inspector within the context of a number of OECD member states and explores the ways in which the inspectors themselves interpret implement and influence inspection practices and policy Inspection policy can have various unintended consequences some of which produce radical discrepancies between the policy intent and its implementation A number of these discrepancies derive from the way in which the policy is articulated while others derive from the ways in which inspectors interpret and operationalise this policy This implementation is coloured and conditioned by several factors including the evidence on which inspectors base their judgements what counts as evidence in different policy contexts what counts as valid knowledge in inspection processes the qualities needed by inspectors working in differing policy contexts and the identities that they adopt in order to successfully carry out their work The book provides a valuable contribution to our understanding of the politics and practices which colour and shape the legitimacy and operational execution of inspection policy The work is unique in its focus on the inspectors role within the implementation of the inspection process an element often overlooked in the literature It also includes two chapters co written by inspectors offering unique insights into their life worlds and identities
