The Gold Hunters James Oliver Curwood, 2014-02-19 The deep hush of noon hovered over the vast solitude of Canadian forest The moose and caribou had fed since early dawn and were resting quietly in the warmth of the February sun the lynx was curled away in his niche between the great rocks waiting for the sun to sink farther into the north and west before resuming his marauding adventures the fox was taking his midday slumber and the restless moose birds were fluffing themselves lazily in the warm glow that was beginning to melt the snows of late winter It was that hour when the old hunter on the trail takes off his pack silently gathers wood for a fire eats his dinner and smokes his pipe eyes and ears alert that hour when if you speak above a whisper he will say to you Sh h h h Be quiet You can t tell how near we are to game Everything has had its morning feed and is lying low The game won t be moving again for an hour or two and there may be moose or caribou a gunshot ahead We couldn t hear them now And yet after a time one thing detached itself from this lifeless solitude At first it was nothing more than a spot on the sunny side of a snow covered ridge Then it moved stretched itself like a dog with its forefeet extended far to the front and its shoulders hunched low and was a wolf
