Grief As A Family Process A Developmental Approach To Clinical Practice:

Grief as a Family Process Ester R. Shapiro, 1994-08-05 Grief as a Family Process draws on many sources such as developmental psychology psychoanalytic and family systems theory and cultural anthropology Using examples from a wide variety of cultural traditions this book argues for a transformation of attachment to instead of detachment from the deceased family member to sustain and enhance family development Sibling Loss Across the Lifespan Brenda J.

Marshall, Howard R. Winokuer, 2016-10-04 Sibling Loss Across the Lifespan brings together researchers clinicians and bereaved siblings to explore sibling loss Unique in both form and content the book focuses on loss within five key age ranges childhood adolescence emerging adulthood adulthood and late adulthood and losses within a special topics section that addresses areas of interest across multiple age groups In addition to chapters from researchers and clinicians the book includes personal stories from bereaved siblings who describe the lived experience of this loss Genetic Counseling Practice Bonnie S. LeRoy, Patricia M. Veach, Dianne M. Bartels, PhD, 2011-09-20 The first advanced level genetics counseling skills resource As genetic medicine and testing continue to expand so the role of the genetic counselor is transforming and evolving Genetic Counseling Practice Advanced Concepts and Skills is the first text to address ways that genetic counselors can deepen their skills to meet expanding practice demands This timely resource not only helps readers further develop their abilities to gather relevant data and interpret it for patients it also aids them in surpassing their usual role by truly understanding patient situations incorporating patient values into clinical practice providing in depth support and facilitating thoroughly informed autonomous decisions Edited by an expert cross disciplinary team consisting of a genetic counseling program director a licensed psychologist and a nurse bioethicist family social scientist this authoritative reference provides specific and detailed instruction in addressing psychosocial aspects of genetic counseling practice and professional development and training issues of genetic counselors Provides a process view of genetic counselor service provision i e skills that promote desired genetic counseling outcomes are emphasized such as relationship skills patient characteristics client behaviors and extra clinical skills Includes experiential activities in every chapter to help readers apply concepts and skills Draws on the experience of widely recognized experts in genetic counseling theory practice and research who serve as chapter authors Features numerous specific real life examples from clinical practice Genetic Counseling Practice addresses issues relevant to practicing genetic counselors as well as students of genetic counseling programs In addition oncology nurses social workers and psychologists working with genetic counseling patients and families medical geneticists and physicians training in the field and physician assistants will also benefit from this resource Dying, Death, and Bereavement Inge Corless, RN, PhD, FAAN, Inge B. Corless, Barbara B. Germino, Mary A. Pittman, DrPH, 2006-06-02 Based on practice knowledge of the authors rather than on research this book may be particularly useful for those professionals who have not had hands on experience with people at the last stages of dying It is a resource that can be referred to time and again by those who care for people facing the final stage of life Death, Bereavement, and Mourning Samuel C. Heilman, 2018-02-06 An encounter with the death of another is often an occasion when the bereaved need to be sustained in their loss relieved of the anxiety that the meeting with death engenders and comforted in their grief It is a time when those left behind often seek to redress wrongs in themselves or in the relationships that death has shaken and upset In both collective and individual responses to the trauma of encountering death we witness efforts to counter the misfortune and to explain the meaning of the loss to turn memory into blessing to reconcile life with death to regenerate life and redeem both the bereaved and the dead Sometimes loss may transform the bereaved in ways that lead to growth and maturity other times a loss leads to unrelenting anger or melancholia There may be a variety of spiritual expressions that the bereaved experience in their time of loss but there appears to be some common elements in all of them Overtime survivors feelings are transformed into growing exploration of the spiritual a profound sense of rebirth newfound feelings of self mastery or confidence and a deeply held conviction that life goes on The contributions to this volume are based on a conference held in New York on the first anniversary of September 11 2001 Contributors include Peter Metcalf Robert Jay Lifton Ilana Harlow Robert A Neimeyer Samuel Heilman and Neil Gillman This sensitive and heartfelt volume relates specifically to issues of death bereavement and mourning in the aftermath of the attack on the World Trade Center but the applications to other individual and catastrophic events is obvious The contributions do not simply explore how people deal with bereavement or are psychologically affected by extreme grief they address how people can try to find meaning in tragedy and loss and strive to help restore order in the wake of chaos The multidisciplinary perspectives include those of anthropology psychology theology social work and art Healing Children's Grief Grace Hyslop Christ, 2000 The author relates the powerfully moving stories of eighty eight families and their 157 children ages 3 to 17 who participated in a parent guidance intervention through the terminal illness and death of one of the parents from cancer Cover The Therapist's Notebook Volume 3 Catherine Ford Sori, Lorna L. Hecker, 2008-06-10 The Therapist's Notebook Volume 3 includes clinician field tested activities for therapists who work with individuals children and adolescents couples families and groups The reproducible handouts are designed to be practical and useful for the clinician and cover the most salient topics that counselors are likely to encounter in their practices with various theoretical approaches Each chapter includes a Reading and Resources for the Professional section that guides readers toward useful books videos or websites that will further enhance their understanding of the chapter contents This book is an excellent tool for both experienced and novice counselors for increasing therapeutic effectiveness The Oxford Handbook of Clinical Psychology David H. Barlow, 2011 The exponential growth of clinical psychology since the late 1960s can be measured in part by the extensive perhaps exhaustive literature on the subject This proliferation of writing has continued into the new century and the field has come to be defined as much by its many topics as its many voices The Oxford Handbook of Clinical Psychology synthesizes these decades of literature in one extraordinary volume Comprising chapters from the foremost scholars in clinical psychology the handbook provides even and authoritative coverage of the research practice and policy factors that combine to form today s clinical psychology landscape In addition to core sections on topics such as training assessment diagnosis and intervention the handbook includes valuable chapters devoted to new and emerging issues in the clinical field including health care reforms cultural factors and technological innovations and challenges Each chapter offers a review of the most pertinent literature outlining current issues and identifying possibilities for future research Featuring two chapters by Editor David H Barlow one on changes during his own 40 year odyssey in the field the other projecting ten themes for the future of clinical psychology The Oxford Handbook of Clinical Psychology is a landmark publication that is sure to serve as the field s benchmark reference publication for years to come It is an essential resource for students clinicians and researchers across the ever growing clinical psychology community

Writing Grief Christian Riegel, 2003-09-24 Margaret Laurence's much admired Manawaka fiction The Stone Angel A Jest of God The Fire Dwellers A Bird in the House and The Diviners has achieved remarkable recognition for its compassionate portrayal of the attempt to find meaning and peace in ordinary life In Writing Grief Christian Riegel argues that the protagonists in these books achieve resolution through acts of mourning placing this fiction within the larger tradition of writing that explores the nuances and strategies of mourning Riegel's analysis alludes to sociological and literary antecedents of the study of mourning including the tradition of elegy from Derrida and Lacan to Freud van Gennep and Milton The work of mourning is necessary to move from a state of emotional paralysis to one of acceptance and active engagement Laurence's characters perform the work of mourning returning over and over again to the key issues relating to loss and as Riegel's close examination of the texts suggests are changed thereafter fundamentally and significantly As an important study of one aspect of Laurence's oeuvre Writing Grief not only illustrates how Laurence's own preoccupations with mourning are figured but also how different ways of working through grief result in renewed potential for consolation and connection and a renewed definition of self

Parenting After the Death of a Child Jennifer L. Buckle, Stephen J. Fleming, 2011-01-19 The death of a child has a tremendous and overwhelming impact on parents and siblings, completely altering the psychological landscape of the family. In the aftermath of such a tragedy, parents face the challenge of not only dealing with their own grief but also that of their surviving children. How can someone attempt to cease parenting a deceased child while maintaining this role with his/her other children? Is it possible for a mother or father to effectively deal with feelings of grief and loss while simultaneously helping their surviving children? Parenting After the Death of a Child: A Practitioner's Guide addresses this complex and daunting dilemma. Following on the heels of a qualitative research study that involved interviewing bereaved parents, both fathers and mothers, Buckle and Fleming have put together several different stories of loss and recovery to create an invaluable resource for clinicians, students, and grieving parents. The authors present the experience of losing a child and its subsequent impact on a family in a novel and effective way, demonstrating the strength and importance of their book for the counseling field.

Evidence-based Nursing Care Guidelines Betty J. Ackley, 2008-01-01 From an internationally respected team of clinical and research experts comes this groundbreaking book that synthesizes the body of nursing research for 192 common medical/surgical interventions. Ideal for both nursing students and practicing nurses, this collection of research-based guidelines helps you evaluate and apply the latest evidence to clinical practice.

Brief Interventions with Bereaved Children Barbara Monroe, Frances Kraus, 2010 Recent years have seen increasing interest in the needs of children facing bereavement, and a corresponding increase in services to support them. This book addresses and explains the theoretical concepts and practical implications behind the idea of brief work with bereaved children and families. Flexible and accessible short-term services delivered at the right time underpin the strengths of bereaved children, supporting their recovery rather than pathologising the grief process. In this way, the book also speaks to the current interest in the concept of resilience and working with families' strengths and possibilities rather than merely identifying their problems. This second edition continues to be a unique book within the growing field of childhood bereavement, and the new chapters added to this edition discuss managing situations with learning disability, supporting very young children, and emotional literacy. The book also presents cases from the service user's perspective. It looks at different approaches to intervention, such as the importance of assessment and the value of groupwork, and also covers work with children and families before a death. Brief Interventions with Bereaved Children will appeal to practitioners, educators, and service providers managing scarce resources. The editors have more than twenty-five years' experience as practitioners within the field as service providers and educators. The book features chapters from distinguished contributors with backgrounds in healthcare, education, social work, and the police, alongside theoretical and practice-based chapters from

workers in the field of bereavement care for children

Grief Michael Cholbi, 2024-01-16 An engaging and illuminating exploration of grief and why despite its intense pain it can also help us grow Experiencing grief at the death of a person we love or who matters to us as universal as it is painful is central to the human condition Surprisingly however philosophers have rarely examined grief in any depth In Grief Michael Cholbi presents a groundbreaking philosophical exploration of this complex emotional event offering valuable new insights about what grief is whom we grieve and how grief can ultimately lead us to a richer self understanding and a fuller realization of our humanity Drawing on psychology social science and literature as well as philosophy Cholbi explains that we grieve for the loss of those in whom our identities are invested including people we don't know personally but cherish anyway such as public figures Their deaths not only deprive us of worthwhile experiences they also disrupt our commitments and values Yet grief is something we should embrace rather than avoid an important part of a good and meaningful life The key to understanding this paradox Cholbi says is that grief offers us a unique and powerful opportunity to grow in self knowledge by fashioning a new identity Although grief can be tumultuous and disorienting it also reflects our distinctly human capacity to rationally adapt as the relationships we depend on evolve An original account of how grieving works and why it is so important Grief shows how the pain of this experience gives us a chance to deepen our relationships with others and ourselves

New Models of Bereavement Theory and Treatment George Hagman, 2016-03-31 Honoring the centennial of Sigmund Freud's seminal paper Mourning and Melancholia New Models of Bereavement Theory and Treatment New Mourning is a major contribution to our culture's changing view of bereavement and mourning identifying flaws in old models and offering a new valid and effective approach George Hagman and his fellow contributors bring together key psychoanalytic texts from the past 20 years exploring contemporary research clinical practice and model building relating to the problems of bereavement mourning and grief They propose changes to the asocial intra psychic nature of the standard analytic model of mourning changes compatible with contemporary psychoanalytic theory and practice Arguing that the most important goal of mourning is often to preserve rather than give up the relationship to the deceased this book provides a more positive hopeful model Crucially it emphasizes the importance of mourning together rather than alone New Models of Bereavement Theory and Treatment New Mourning will be the go to resource for researchers clinicians and interested lay people seeking a clear accessible overview of contemporary mourning theory useful in their daily lives and in clinical practice It will appeal to psychoanalysts psychotherapists grief counsellors as well teachers undergraduates and advanced students studying in the field

Do Funerals Matter? William G. Hoy, 2021-09-13 Do Funerals Matter is a creative interweaving of historical sociocultural and research based perspectives on death rituals drawing from myriad sources to create a picture of what death rituals have been and where especially in the Western world they are going The Classic Edition includes a new preface from the author reflecting on changes in the field since the book's initial publication Death educators researchers counselors clergy funeral service professionals and others will appreciate the book's theory and research based approach to the ways in which different cultural groups memorialize their dead. They will also find clear clinical and practical applications in the author's exploration of the five ritual anchors of death related ceremonial practice and help for professionals counseling the bereaved surrounding funerals. Based on nearly four decades of research and teaching on funeral rites, this volume promises to fill an important gap in the cross cultural literature on bereavement while answering an important question for our generation: Do funerals matter?
