Chasing Methuselah Todd T. W. Daly, 2021-02-04. The quest to live much longer has moved from legend to the laboratory. Recent breakthroughs in genetics and pharmacology have put humanity on the precipice of slowing down human aging to extend the healthy life span. The promise of longer, healthier life is enormously attractive and poses several challenging questions for Christians. Who wouldn't want to live 120 years or more before dying quickly? How do we make sense of human aging in light of Jesus' invitation to daily take up our crosses with the promise of the resurrection to come? Is there anything wrong with manipulating our bodies technologically to live longer? If so, how long is too long? Should aging itself be treated as a disease? In Chasing Methuselah, Todd Daly examines the modern biomedical anti-aging project from a Christian perspective, drawing on the ancient wisdom of the Desert Fathers who believed that the incarnation opened a way for human life to regain the longevity of Adam and the biblical patriarchs through prayer and fasting. Daly balances these insights with the christological anthropology of Karl Barth, discussing the implications for human finitude, fear of death and the use of anti-aging technology, weaving a path between outright condemnation and uncritical enthusiasm.

Signaling at the Cell Surface in the Circulatory and Ventilatory Systems Marc Thiriet,2011-12-14 The volumes in this authoritative series present a multidisciplinary approach to modeling and simulation of flows in the cardiovascular and ventilatory systems especially multiscale modeling and coupled simulations The cardiovascular and respiratory systems are tightly coupled as their primary function is to supply oxygen to and remove carbon dioxide from the body s cells Because physiological conduits have deformable and reactive walls macroscopic flow behavior and prediction must be coupled to nano and microscopic events in a corrector scheme of regulated mechanisms when the vessel lumen caliber varies markedly Therefore investigation of flows of blood and air in physiological conduits requires an understanding of the biology chemistry and physics of these systems together with the mathematical tools to describe their functioning Volume 3 is devoted to the set of mediators of the cell surface especially ion and molecular carriers and catalytic receptors that once liganded and activated initiate signal transduction pathways Intracellular cascades of chemical reactions trigger the release of substances stored in cellular organelles and or gene transcription and protein synthesis Primary mediators are included in models of regulated cellular processes but multiple secondary signaling components are discarded to allow simple representative modeling and to manage their inverse problems
