Mastering Civic Engagement A Challenge To Museums:

Mastering Civic Engagement, 2002 This call to action from AAM's Museums and Community Initiative challenges museums to pursue their potential as active visible players in community life Essays and reflections offer food for thought on the complex process of changing the terms of engagement between communities and museums Engaging Communities Through Civic Engagement in Art Museum Education Bobick, Bryna, DiCindio, Carissa, 2020-12-25 As art museum educators become more involved in curatorial decisions and creating opportunities for community voices to be represented in the galleries of the museum museum education is shifting from responding to works of art to developing authentic opportunities for engagement with their communities Current research focuses on museum education experiences and the wide reaching benefits of including these experiences into art education courses As more universities add art museum education to their curricula there is a need for a text to support the topic and offer examples of real world museum education experiences Engaging Communities Through Civic Engagement in Art Museum Education deepens knowledge on museum and art education and civic engagement and bridges the gap from theory to practice The chapters focus on various sectors of this research including diversity and inclusion in museum experiences engaging communities through new techniques and museum and university partnerships As such it includes coverage on timely topics that include programs and audience engagement with the LGBTQ refugee disability and senior communities socially responsive museum pedagogy and the use of student workers This book is ideal for museum educators museum directors curators professionals practitioners researchers academicians and students who are interested in updated knowledge and research in art education curriculum development and civic engagement Archaeology as a Tool of Civic Engagement Barbara J. Little, Paul A. Shackel, 2007 Archaeology as a Tool of Civic Engagement is an indispensable resource for archaeologists and the communities in which they work The authors are intensely committed to developing effective models for participating in the civic renewal movement through active engagement in community life in development of interpretive and educational programming and for participation in debates and decisions about preservation and community planning Using case studies from different regions within the United States Guatemala Vietnam Canada and Eastern Europe Little and Shackel challenge archaeologists to create an ethical public archaeology that is concerned not just with the management of cultural resources but with social justice and civic responsibility Their new book will be a valuable guide for archaeologists community planners historians and museum professionals Museum Activism Robert R. Janes, Richard Sandell, 2019-01-10 Only a decade ago the notion that museums galleries and heritage organisations might engage in activist practice with explicit intent to act upon inequalities injustices and environmental crises was met with scepticism and often derision Seeking to purposefully bring about social change was viewed by many within and beyond the museum community as inappropriately political and antithetical to fundamental professional values Today although the idea remains controversial the way we think about the roles and responsibilities of museums as knowledge based social institutions is changing Museum Activism examines the increasing significance of this activist trend in thinking and practice At this crucial time in the evolution of museum thinking and practice this ground breaking volume brings together more than fifty contributors working across six continents to explore analyse and critically reflect upon the museum s relationship to activism Including contributions from practitioners artists activists and researchers this wide ranging examination of new and divergent expressions of the inherent power of museums as forces for good and as activists in civil society aims to encourage further experimentation and enrich the debate in this nascent and uncertain field of museum practice Museum Activism elucidates the largely untapped potential for museums as key intellectual and civic resources to address inequalities injustice and environmental challenges This makes the book essential reading for scholars and students of museum and heritage studies gallery studies arts and heritage management and politics It will be a source of inspiration to museum practitioners and museum leaders around the globe Folklife and Museums C. Kurt Dewhurst,Patricia Hall,Charlie Seemann,2016-12-15 This cutting edge new book is the replacement for Folklife and Museums Selected Readings which was published nearly thirty years ago in 1987 The editors of that volume Patricia Hall and Charlie Seemann are now joined by C Kurt Dewhurst as a third editor for this book which includes updates to the still relevant and classic essays and articles from the earlier text and features new pioneering pieces by some of today s most outstanding scholars and practitioners to provide a more current overview of the field and addressing contemporary issues Folklife and Museums Twenty First Century Perspectives is a brand new collection of cutting edge essays that combine theoretical insights practical applications topical case studies focusing on particular subject matter areas and specific cultural groups accompanied by up to date resources and suggested readings sections Each essay is preceded by an explanatory headnote contextualizing the essay and includes illustrative photographs Archaeology, Heritage, and Civic Engagement Barbara J Little,Paul A Shackel,2016-09-16 The definition of public archaeology has expanded in recent years to include archaeologists collaborations with and within communities and activities in support of education civic renewal peacebuilding and social justice Barbara Little and Paul Shackel long term leaders in the growth of a civically engaged relevant archaeology outline a future trajectory for the field in this concise thoughtful volume Drawing from the archaeological study of race and labor among other examples the authors explore this crucial opportunity and responsibility then point the way for the discipline to contribute to the contemporary public good The Civic Mission of Museums Anthony Pennay,2020-12-15 Museums have long sought to maintain relevance in the daily lives of their communities Over the past several decades museums have shifted as a field from a focus on collections to a focus on connecting with audiences More recently museums must confront political polarization and a decreasing sense of trust in nearly every public institution As a result few institutions are better positioned to serve the country than museums In fact polls show that museums rank among the most trusted institutions in the country regardless of political belief During tumultuous times this trust means that museums have a unique and important responsibility to fulfill their civic mission A century ago John Cotton Dana argued that the most important thing a museum can do is produce a public benefit The Civic Mission of Museums argues that museums play an essential role in the cultivation of engaged and informed citizens The book outlines a spectrum of civic learning that includes civic knowledge civic mindset civic skillset and civic action It offers concrete examples of impactful civic programming exhibits and public engagement from a diverse set of museums It ends with a practical toolkit gleaned from across the country for museum professionals to utilize

Systems Thinking in Museums Yuha Jung, Ann Rowson Love, 2017-10-06 Systems Thinking in Museums explores systems thinking and the practical implication of it using real life museum examples to illuminate various entry points and stages of implementation and their challenges and opportunities Its premise is that museums can be better off when they operate as open dynamic and learning systems as a whole as opposed to closed stagnant and status quo systems that are compartmentalized and hierarchical This book also suggests ways to incorporate systems thinking based on reflective questions and steps with hopes to encourage museum professionals to employ systems thinking in their own museum Few books explore theory in practice in meaningful and applicable ways this book offers to unravel complex theories as applied in everyday practice through examples from national and international museums

Museums Involving Communities Margaret Kadoyama, 2018-02-02 Museums Involving Communities Authentic Connections explores how museums can become more active and also considers how they might involve members of their local communities in their everyday work Examining the key components of the museum community relationship this book looks at both the impact of museums on the cultural and civic lives of local communities and the impact of local communities on the programs collections and organizational culture of museums Advocating an accessible and inclusive approach to museum management Kadoyama focuses on the role of museum leadership in fostering and deepening community relationships The result offers insights into how relationships between communities and museums can be forged in practice how museums can be involved in building healthier communities and how community engagement strategies can be developed implemented and evaluated successfully Written by an experienced museum professional with extensive experience in community involvement and audience development Museums Involving Communities is key reading for museum workers looking to make an impact while building long term relations with local communities to the benefit of both museum and community It should also be of great interest to students taking courses in museum and heritage studies

The Engaging Museum Graham Black, 2012-11-12 This very practical book guides museums on how to create the highest quality experience possible for their visitors Creating an environment that supports visitor engagement with collections means examining every stage of the visit from the initial impetus to go to a particular institution to front of house management interpretive approach and qualitative analysis afterwards This holistic approach will be immensely helpful to museums in meeting the needs and expectations of visitors and building their audience This book features includes chapter
