Henry E Huntingtons Library Of Libraries:

Henry E. Huntington's Library of Libraries Donald C. Dickinson, 1995-01-01 Henry E Huntington was one of the most important book and manuscript collectors of the twentieth century After making a fortune in the railroad industry he set out to build a rare book and manuscript library He succeeded in gathering his unequalled collections over a period of only fifteen years a result not only of personal determination and almost unlimited means but of fortunate timing In 1911 as he began to develop a serious interest in rare books important private collections came on the market In that year Huntington acquired the most important rarities from the Elihu D Church and Robert Hoe collections When other libraries became available subsequently he responded decisively with en bloc purchases and the library of libraries was born Between 1911 and 1917 Huntington dominated the book markets of New York and London This book recounts the story of those tumultuous years in the book trade The reader is taken behind the scenes at the auction houses and the strategies of the major book dealers of the early twentieth century especially George D Smith and A S W Rosenbach are revealed in fascinating detail Annual Report - Henry E. LONGLISTED FOR THE HISTORICAL WRITERS ASSOCIATION NON FICTION CROWN A SUNDAY TIMES NON FICTION BOOK OF THE YEAR Timely a long and engrossing survey of the library FT A sweeping absorbing history deeply researched Richard Ovenden author of Burning the Books Famed across the known world jealously guarded by private collectors built up over centuries destroyed in a single day ornamented with gold leaf and frescoes or filled with bean bags and children's drawings the history of the library is rich varied and stuffed full of incident In this the first major history of its kind Andrew Pettegree and Arthur der Weduwen explore the contested and dramatic history of the library from the famous collections of the ancient world to the embattled public resources we cherish today Along the way they introduce us to the antiquarians and philanthropists who shaped the world's great collections trace the rise and fall of fashions and tastes and reveal the high crimes and misdemeanours committed in pursuit of rare and valuable manuscripts Abstractions of Evidence in the Study of Manuscripts and Early Printed Books Joseph A. Dane, 2016-12-05 In this book Joseph Dane critiques the use of material evidence in studies of manuscript and printed books by delving into accepted notions about the study of print culture He questions the institutional and ideological presuppositions that govern medieval studies descriptive bibliography and library science Dane begins by asking what is the relation between material evidence and the abstract statements made about the evidence ultimately he asks how evidence is to be defined The goal of this book is to show that evidence from texts and written objects often becomes twisted to support pre-existing arguments and that generations of bibliographers have created narratives of authorship printing reading and editing that reflect romantic notions of identity growth and development The first part of the book is dedicated to medieval texts and authorship materials include Everyman Chaucer's Legend of Good Women the Anglo-Norman Le Seint Resurrection and Adam de la Helle's Le Jeu de Robin et Marion The second half of the book is concerned with abstract notions about books and scholarly definitions about what a book actually is chapters include studies of basic bibliographical concepts Ideal Copy and the application of such a notion in early editions of Chaucer the combination of manuscript and printing in the books of Colard Mansion and finally examples of the organization of books by an early nineteenth-century book collector Leander Van Ess This study is an important contribution to debates about the nature of bibliography and the critical institutions that have shaped its current practice A History of Modern Librarianship Pamela Spence Richards, Wayne A. Wiegand, Marija Dalbello, 2015-05-26 A broad comparative history of librarianship this intriguing work goes beyond the standard focus on institutions and collections to help you explore the part modern librarianship played and continues to play in forming Western cultures Previous histories of libraries in the Western world the last of which was published nearly 20 years ago concentrate on libraries and librarians This book takes a different approach It focuses on the practice of librarianship showing you how that practice has contributed to constructing the heritage of cultures To do so this groundbreaking collection of essays presents the history of modern librarianship in the context of recent developments of the library institution professionalization of librarianship and innovation through information technology Organized by region the book addresses the widely recognized international impact of Anglo American librarianship and its continuing influence over the past century combining critical analysis with chronological histories of modern librarianship in Europe North America Australia New Zealand and Africa An introductory chapter explains the origins of the project and a concluding chapter examines the effects of digitization on modern librarianship in the 21st century
