2.3 Summary: The Environmental Assessment Process

2.3.1 The Environmental Assessment Process

The Environmental Assessment Process is a systematic process for identifying, evaluating, and managing the potential environmental impacts of a proposed project. The process is typically divided into three main stages: scoping, assessment, and mitigation.

The first stage of the process is scoping, which involves identifying the project's potential impacts and the scope of the assessment. This stage is typically followed by the assessment stage, which involves evaluating the project's potential impacts and the scope of the assessment.

The final stage of the process is mitigation, which involves identifying and implementing measures to avoid, minimize, or compensate for the project's potential impacts.
