Leaving China Wanning Sun, 2002 More than ever before China is on the move When the flow of people and images is fused meanings of self place space community and nation become unstable and contestable This fascinating book explores the ways in which movement within and across the national borders of the PRC has influenced the imagination of the Chinese people both those who remain and those who have left Travelers or no all participate in the production and consumption of images and narratives of travel thus contributing to the formation of transnational subjectivities Wanning Sun offers a fine grained analysis of the significant narrative forms and discursive strategies used in representing transnational space in contemporary China This includes looking at how stay at homes fantasize about faraway or unknown places and how those in the diaspora remember experiences of familiar places She considers the ways in which mobility of people capital and images affects localities through individuals constructions of a sense of place Relatedly the author illustrates how economic social and political forces either facilitate or inhibit the formation of a particular kind of transnational subjectivity Leaving China Wanning Sun, 2002-08-15 More than ever before China is on the move When the flow of people and images is fused meanings of self place space community and nation become unstable and contestable This fascinating book explores the ways in which movement within and across the national borders of the PRC has influenced the imagination of the Chinese people both those who remain and those who have left Travelers or no all participate in the production and consumption of images and narratives of travel thus contributing to the formation of transnational subjectivities Wanning Sun offers a fine grained analysis of the significant narrative forms and discursive strategies used in representing transnational space in contemporary China This includes looking at how stay at homes fantasize about faraway or unknown places and how those in the diaspora remember experiences of familiar places She considers the ways in which mobility of people capital and images affects localities through individuals constructions of a sense of place Relatedly the author illustrates how economic social and political forces either facilitate or inhibit the formation of a particular kind of transnational subjectivity Marriage and Marriageability Chigusa Yamaura, 2020-07-15 How do the Japanese men and Chinese women who participate in cross border matchmaking individuals whose only interaction is often just one brief meeting come to see one another as potential marriage partners Motivated by this question Chigusa Yamaura traces the practices of Sino Japanese matchmaking from transnational marriage agencies in Tokyo to branch offices and language schools in China from initial meetings to marriage the visa application processes and beyond to marital life in Japan Engaging issues of colonial history local norms and the very ability to conceive of another or oneself as marriageable Marriage and Marriageability rethinks cross border marriage not only as a form of gendered migration but also as a set of practices that constructs marriageable partners and imaginable marriages Yamaura shows that instead of desiring different others these transnational marital relations are based on the tactical deployment of socially and historically created conceptions of proximity between Japan and northeast China Far from seeking to escape local practices participants in these marriages actively seek to avoid transgressing local norms By doing so on a transnational scale they paradoxically reaffirm and attempt to remain within the boundaries of local marital ideologies

Routledge Handbook of the Chinese Diaspora Chee-Beng Tan,2013 With around 30 million migrants worldwide the ethnic Chinese and the Chinese in diaspora form the largest diaspora in the world The economic reform of China in the late 1970s marked a huge phase of migration from China and the new migrants have had a major impact on the local societies including the ethnic Chinese and on China The transnational networks between the Chinese in diaspora and China have become even more significant as China has emerged as an economic world power

War Is Hell Charles Douglas Lummis,2023-03-03 War is Hell is a study of the philosophy of war and peace ranging critically from ancient peace thinking to today The author uses a Socratic method focused on political philosophy rather than on cultural or psychological aspects of war and peace making The book is not a treatise on ethics but rather an analysis of some aspects of the nature of war and peace This book is a study of war and by extension peace from the standpoint of political theory For all those who think there is too much war and to deal with that we need to search for new ways of thinking

Chinese Labour Migration in the Digital Media Context Hong Chen,2025-10-01 What does it mean to a family when parents go abroad for economic gains while leaving their children behind How do they maintain a family when living in different areas separated for years How do emerging digital media like instant messaging social media and webcam calls impact the everyday lives of today s transnational families Drawing on immersive ethnography conducted among UK based Chinese labour migrants their left behind children and caregivers this book explores how they employ digital media to negotiate family roles and maintain kinship ties While virtual connections are indispensable they are not a panacea for physical separation rather they introduce complexity to family dynamics Probing the bittersweet experiences of various family members it portrays how mediated familial communications intertwine with transnational socio economic asymmetries and intra familial dynamics This book offers an interdisciplinary perspective for general publics and academics interested in migration studies family and gender studies and media and communications behind families

Routledge Handbook of Chinese Media Ming-Yeh T. Rawnsley,Yiben Ma,Gary D. Rawnsley,2015-04-24 The study of Chinese media is a field that is growing and evolving at an exponential rate Not only are the Chinese media a fascinating subject for analysis in their own right but they also offer scholars and students a window to observe multi directional flows of information culture and communications within the contexts of globalization and regionalization Moreover the study of Chinese media provides an invaluable opportunity to test and refine the variety of communications theories that researchers have used to describe analyse compare and contrast systems of communications The Routledge Handbook of Chinese Media is a prestigious reference work providing an overview of the study of Chinese media Gary and Ming Yeh Rawnsley bring together an interdisciplinary perspective with contributions by an international team of renowned scholars on subjects such as television journalism and the internet and social media Locating Chinese media within a regional setting by focusing on Greater China the People's Republic of China Taiwan Hong Kong Macau and overseas Chinese communities the chapters highlight the convergence of media and platforms in the region and emphasise the multi directional and trans national character of media information flows in East Asia Contributing to the growing de westernization of media and communications studies this handbook is an essential and comprehensive reference work for students of all levels and scholars in the fields of Chinese Studies and Media Studies

Circuits of Visibility Radha Sarma Hegde, 2011 This title explores transnational media environments as a way to understand the gendered constructions and contradictions that support globalization with special emphasis on women and a global feminist perspective

The Right to Leave and Return and Chinese Migration Law Guofu Liu, 2007-01-31 Although the Right to Leave and Return RLR is a fundamental human right each State has the sovereign right to regulate RLR in accordance with its own laws In the case of China the country's communist political system has significantly affected the development of RLR and the country's approach to it As a rule China's approach is restrictive As part of its reform and opening up policies China has embarked on a range of reforms to liberalise RLR but the reforms lack cohesion and focus and remain restrictive Given its past and its complex social and economic conditions China may have some justifications for its approach but on balance has more to gain from adopting a more liberal approach The issue of RLR in China is crucial both for the future of China and for development of RLR in the world The Right to Leave and Return RLR and Chinese Migration Law provides a comprehensive and systematic review of the RLR in international and Chinese migration law It has been written on the basis of Chinese statutes pertinent to the RLR also of relevant international instruments and key cases It investigates RLR in international migration law and practice analyses RLR in the context of China and identifies its driving factors investigates the conditions and practical concerns relevant to the protection of RLR and concludes with recommendations on how the Chinese regulatory regime governing RLR can be improved

The New Middle Classes Hellmuth Lange, Lars Meier, 2009-06-10 With respect to the developing and threshold economies it is no longer the poor who are the only focus of media attention Today the new middle classes are about to take centre stage too With their lifestyles and attitudes the new middle classes are considered to be both the products as well as the promoters of globalization They are a highly heterogeneous group in socio economic terms as well as in habits and preferences including their societal role as consumers and citizens The first wave of scholarly and political attention can be traced back to the mid nineties The focal point was surprise and unease about indubitable symptoms of consumerism which until then had been seen as a characteristic of the richest western societies However since the nineties consumerism has run rampant in developing countries too This has particularly been noted with respect to the emerging middle classes in South East Asia The will to consume seemed inexhaustible and appetites insatiable This rage to consume was both celebrated and feared by political leaders and other social moral gatekeepers who began to condemn the process as Westernization and even westernization Chua 2000 xii Ever since the debate about the lifestyles of the new middle classes and their role in society has gained momentum      Handbook on Transnationalism Yeoh, Brenda S.A., Collins, Francis L., 2022-01-18 Providing a critical overview of transnationalism as a concept this Handbook looks at its growing influence in an era of high speed globalised interconnectivity It offers crucial insights on how approaches to transnationalism have altered how we think about social life from the family to the nation state whilst also challenging the predominance of methodologically nationalist analyses      The Routledge Encyclopedia of Citizen Media Mona Baker, Bolette B.

Blaagaard, Henry Jones, Luis Pérez-González, 2020-10-21 This is the first authoritative reference work to map the multifaceted and vibrant site of citizen media research and practice incorporating insights from across a wide range of scholarly areas Citizen media is a fast evolving terrain that cuts across a variety of disciplines It explores the physical artefacts digital content performative interventions practices and discursive expressions of affective sociality that ordinary citizens produce as they participate in public life to effect aesthetic or socio political change The seventy seven entries featured in this pioneering resource provide a rigorous overview of extant scholarship deliver a robust critique of key research themes and anticipate new directions for research on a variety of topics Cross references and recommended reading suggestions are included at the end of each entry to allow scholars from different disciplinary backgrounds to identify relevant connections across diverse areas of citizen media scholarship and explore further avenues of research Featuring contributions by leading scholars and supported by an international panel of consultant editors the Encyclopedia is essential reading for undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as researchers in media studies social movement studies performance studies political science and a variety of other disciplines across the humanities and social sciences It will also be of interest to non academics involved in activist movements and those working to effect change in various areas of social life

China's Media Go Global Daya Kishan Thussu, Hugo de Burgh, Anbin Shi, 2017-11-27 As part of its going out strategy China is using the media to promote its views and vision to the wider world and to counter negative images in the US dominated international media China's Media Go Global the first edited collection on this subject evaluates how the unprecedented expansion of Chinese media and communications is changing the global media landscape and the role of China within it Each chapter examines a different dimension of Chinese media's globalization from newspapers radio film and television to social media and journalism Topics include the rise of Chinese news networks China Daily as an instrument of China's public diplomacy and the discussion around the growth of China's state media in Africa Other chapters discuss entertainment television financial media and the advertising market in China Together this collection of essays offers a comprehensive evaluation of complex debates concerning the impact of China on the international media landscape and makes a distinctive addition to Chinese media studies as well as to broader global media discourses Beyond its primary readership among academics and students China's Media Go Global is aimed at the growing constituency of general readers for whom the role of the media in globalization is of wider interest      Chinese Activism of a Different Kind Gao

Jia,2013-09-19 In Chinese Activism of a Different Kind Jia Gao examines the social behavior and patterns of actions of 45 000 or so Chinese students as they fought to obtain the right to stay permanently in Australia after the June 4 Tiananmen Square incident of 1989 In a time of relative Internet infancy their response to the shifting stances of the Australian government saw them build networks make use of media and develop a range of strategies In achieving success this diverse group of students became the largest intake of onshore asylum seekers in the history of Australian immigration Through their testimonies Jia Gao provides a fascinating addition to our knowledge of Chinese activism and to the history of Chinese migration The International Migration Review ,2003 Engaging China Jamie Reilly,Jingdong Yuan,2023-09-01 As the strategic rivalry between the United States and China rapidly deepens growing distrust and fears of China are once again shaping Australian media coverage and public discourse with potent implications for Australia's China policy At this crucial historical moment Engaging China offers a full throated defence of engagement This volume brings together a diverse set of Australia's seasoned diplomats experienced journalists and renowned scholars to assess the current state of Australia's China relations and offer pragmatic advice for how Australia can restore a healthy and stable relationship with China Over the past five decades Australia's engagement of China has facilitated a deepening economic relationship alongside expanded cultural educational and people to people exchanges fostering greater understanding between the two countries and populations The contributors to this volume share a common vision Australia and Australians should continue to engage with China and Chinese people for mutual benefit The chapters take stock of past achievements identify recent challenges and offer practical suggestions for how the Australian government and Australian firms institutions and individuals can proactively productively and securely engage with China Australia's rich and diverse relations with China extend far beyond the political and economic interactions that tend to dominate news headlines In explaining how and why an engagement strategy continues to serve Australian interests Engaging China offers a timely alternative to the prevailing public and policy discourses on Australia's most challenging bilateral relationship Imagined Mobility Michiel Baas,2012-10 This book critically examines the history and current issues on the migration of Indian students to Australia Underglobalization Joshua Neves,2020-03-06 Despite China's recent emergence as a major global economic and geopolitical power its association with counterfeit goods and intellectual property piracy has led many in the West to dismiss its urbanization and globalization as suspect or inauthentic In Underglobalization Joshua Neves examines the cultural politics of the fake and how frictions between legality and legitimacy propel dominant models of economic development and political life in contemporary China Focusing on a wide range of media technologies and practices in Beijing Neves shows how piracy and fakes are manifestations of what he calls underglobalization the ways social actors undermine and refuse to implement the specific procedures and protocols required by globalization at different scales By tracking the rise of fake politics and transformations in political society in China and globally Neves demonstrates that they are alternate outcomes of globalizing processes rather than anathema to them      China and the EU in Context Kerry Brown, 2014-03-30 Brings together the research of world class commentators on China from across Europe to explore the policy aspects of the China EU relationship Aimed at practitioners this book shows how to relate to China practically and understand its complexities for business purposes including investment social unrest and China's five year program      Women and the Media in Asia Y. Kim, 2012-05-22 At a time of significant change in the precarious world of female individualization this collection explores such phenomena by critically incorporating the parameters of popular media culture into the overarching paradigm of gender relations economics and politics of everyday life
