Navajas Patricio Navia Liliana Rojas Suarez Jaime Saavedra Miguel Sz kely Andr s Velasco John Williamson and Laurence Wolff Politicians and Economic Reform in New Democracies Kent Eaton,2010-11 As economic reform in developing countries has shifted from macroeconomic stabilization to liberalization opportunities for legislators to influence the process and outcome of reform have increased and their role has become more important This book focuses attention on differences in institutional structure in political parties and electoral rules to show how they create incentives that can explain the varying ways in which legislators respond to policy initiatives from the executive branch In Argentina and the Philippines presidents proposed similar fiscal reforms in the 1990s expanding tax bases strengthening tax administration and redesigning tax revenue sharing with subnational governments Drawing on archival research and interviews with policy makers Kent Eaton follows the path of legislation in these three areas from initial proposal to final law to reveal how it was shaped by the legislators participating in the process Obstacles to the adoption of reform he demonstrates are greater in candidate centered systems like the Philippines where the cultivation of personal reputations is paramount than in party centered systems like Argentina s where loyalty to party leaders is emphasized To test his argument further Eaton looks finally at other kinds of reform ventured in these two countries and at tax reforms attempted in some other countries
