Decorrelative Mollifier Gravimetry Willi Freeden, 2021-05-12. This monograph presents the geoscientific context arising in decorrelative gravitational exploration to determine the mass density distribution inside the Earth. First an insight into the current state of research is given by reducing gravimetry to mathematically accessible and thus calculable decorrelated models. In this way the various unresolved questions and problems of gravimetry are made available to a broad scientific audience and the exploration industry. New theoretical developments will be given and innovative ways of modeling geologic layers and faults by mollifier regularization techniques are shown. This book is dedicated to surface as well as volume geology with potential data primarily of terrestrial origin. For deep geology the geomathematical decorrelation methods are to be designed in such a way that depth information e.g. in boreholes may be canonically entered. Bridging several different geo-disciplines this book leads in a cycle from the potential measurements made by geoenvironmentalists to the cleansing of data by geophysicists and geoenvironmentalists to the subsequent theory and model formation computer based implementation and numerical calculation and simulations made by geomathematicians to interpretation by geologists and if necessary back. It therefore spans the spectrum from geoenvironmental engineering especially geodesy via geophysics to geomathematics and geology and back. Using the German Saarland area for methodological tests important new fields of application are opened particularly for regions with mining related cavities or dense development in today's geo-exploration. Bridge Maintenance, Safety,
