Cruikshank, 2013 This work examines what it means to grow old in America today The book questions social myths and fears about aging sickness and the other social roles of the elderly the over medicalization of many older people and ageism Here the author proposes alternatives to the ways aging is usually understood in both popular culture and mainstream gerontology She does not propose the ideas of successful aging or productive aging but more the idea of learning how to age Featuring new research and analysis the third edition of this text demonstrates more thoroughly than the previous editions that aging is socially constructed The book focuses on the differences in aging for women and men as well as for people in different socioeconomic groups The author is able to put aging in a broad context that not only focuses on how aging affects women but men as well Key updates in the third edition include changes in the health care system changes in how long older Americans are working especially given the impact of the recession and new material on the brain and mind body interconnections The author challenges conventional ideas about aging and brings forth some new ideas surrounding aging in America today Outlines and Highlights for Learning to Be Old Cram101 Textbook Reviews, 2011-07-01 Never

Chrisler, Florence L. Denmark, 2014-10-20 These are paradoxical times to be an older woman As individual older women take the stage as role models in the arts and the public sphere female elders as a group are marginalized as dependent declining and unimportant Women and Aging surveys the evolving sociopolitical landscape in an era still struggling with gender and age discrimination

This insightful volume recasts familiar concepts such as social roles appearance health sexuality and transition through the related lenses of empowerment restraint and quality of life well being for a deeper understanding of the disparities that exist both with men and within their own gender Two especially relevant questions emerge from this framework how women over 60 are contributing to the current climate of societal change and how these positive developments can improve the lives of older women as a whole Featured topics analyze the wider implications of older women s experiences as family members sensual and sexual beings drivers of economies and members of a diverse population worldwide Older women power and the body Older women economic power and consumerism The impact of multiple roles on older women Strain or enrichment Older women leadership and encore careers Sexuality in older women Desirability and desire Lesbians over 60 Newer every day Clinical interventions to empower older women A significant advance in femi nist research Women and Aging brings path breaking perspectives to scholars in women s studies gerontology psychology sociology social work and human development whether they study women who have overcome barriers or those who need support in changing the rules A New Ethic of 'Older' Bridget Garnham,2016-10-04 Through its themes of subjectivity surgery and self stylization this book critically examines the cultural constraints and incitements that shape the practice of cosmetic surgery by older people The book problematizes anti ageing discourses to provide a nuanced descriptive ethical and political reading of older identity politics nested within the contemporary ethico political terrain of self care A New Ethic of Older aims to de territorialize the older subject from normative discourses of ageing and theorize becoming older Evidence of an active cultural politics of older emerges from the critically reflexive engagement of older people with cosmetic surgery This engagement constitutes a cutting critique of ageing discourses enmeshed in an aesthetic mode of subjectivation that underpins a new ethics of old age The book will appeal to those in the fields of Cultural Gerontology Ageing Studies Critical Psychology Sociology and Cultural Geography The methodological approach will be of interest to academics and students exploring the application of Foucault s work on care of the self to contemporary contexts and practices Researching Later Life and Ageing Miranda Leontowitsch,2016-11-09 This collection on researching later life and ageing critically reflects upon the qualitative methods used in gaining knowledge of under researched groups of older people and sets out future research agendas Edward Albee and the Emergence of Difference and Diversity in US and World Theatre David A. Crespy,Les Gray,2025-09-08 This collection of essays seeks to present articles that examine the early ventures of the 1960s and 1970s in the progressive theatre of identity with a new contemporary view considering the intersection of race gender ethnicity economic class and sexual orientation In 1964 Edward Albee and his producers Richard Barr and Clinton Wilder produced Funnyhouse of a Negro by Adrienne Kennedy and Dutchman by Amiri Baraka then Leroi Jones and by 1968 had produced the seminal gay drama The Boys in the Band by Mart Crowley No other major American playwright of this period including Thornton Wilder Arthur Miller Tennessee Williams or William Inge produced the plays of their junior colleagues with a specific focus on difference and diversity For most scholars these productions and Albee's involvement in them are a somewhat obscure footnote in theatre history But they remain important for their early support of diverse voices Even as Albee's career was skyrocketing he and his producers had begun a producing project that sowed the seeds of diversity equity and inclusion in a decidedly anti racist decolonizing and progressive move that still resonates powerfully today While this book is not a hagiography and does not intend to paint Albee as without his own critical failings in terms of diversity in his own work and that of others this volume of theatre history dramatic literature and performance essays takes a detailed critical approach to Albee's engagement with other initiating plays productions producers theatre companies theatre artists and performances in the United States that pushed the dial toward difference and diversity in the late 1950s through the late 1970s beginning the formations of new theatres of identity across the United States This volume will be of great interest to students and scholars in theatre and performance studies

The Ways Women Age Abigail T. Brooks, 2017-03-07 The story of how and why some women choose to use while others refuse cosmetic intervention What is it like to be a woman growing older in a culture where you cannot go to the doctor open a magazine watch television or surf the internet without encountering products and procedures that are designed to make you look younger What do women have to say about their decision to embrace cosmetic anti aging procedures And alternatively how do women come to decide to grow older without them In the United States today women are the overwhelming consumers of cosmetic anti aging surgeries and technologies And while not all women undergo these procedures their exposure to them is almost inevitable Set against the backdrop of commercialized medicine in the United States Abigail T Brooks investigates the anti aging craze from the perspective of women themselves examining the rapidly changing cultural attitudes pressures and expectations of female aging Drawn from in depth interviews with women in the United States who choose and refuse to have cosmetic anti aging procedures The Ways Women Age provides a fresh understanding of how today s women feel about aging The women s stories in this book are personal biographies that explore identity and body image and are reflexively shaped by beauty standards expectations of femininity and an increasingly normalized climate of cosmetic anti aging intervention The Ways Women Age offers a critical perspective on how women respond to 21st century expectations of youth and beauty

Leisure in the Time of Coronavirus Brett Lashua, Corey W. Johnson, Diana C. Parry, 2022-03-27 As the world grapples with the coronavirus COVID 19 pandemic on almost every news website across social media as well as in its many absences leisure has taken on new significance in both managing and negotiating a global crisis Leisure in the Time of Coronavirus A Rapid Response amidst the disruption inconvenience illness fear uncertainty tragedy and loss from COVID 19 generates discussions that enable leisure scholars to learn and to engage with wider debates about the crucial role of leisure in people s lives The pandemic has brought tourism to a standstill with borders closed and travel restricted From home for those fortunate enough to have them in physical isolation and in attempts to socialize at no time in recent memory has leisure seemed so vital and yet also so hauntingly absent Leisure therefore remains an important lens through which to view question and understand the world The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Leisure Sciences

Re-Imagining Old Age: Wellbeing, care and participation Marian Barnes, Beatrice Gahagan, Lizzie Ward, 2018-02-28 The understanding that humans are relational beings is central to the development of an ethical perspective that is built around the significance of care in all our lives Our survival as infants is dependent on the care we receive from others And for all of us in particular in older age there are times when illness emotional or physical frailty mean that we require the care of others to enable us to deal with everyday life With this in mind this book presents the findings of a project that seeks to understand what wellbeing means to older people and to influence the practice of those who work with older people Its starting point was a shared commitment amongst researchers and an NGO collaborator to the value of working with older people in both research and practice to learn from them and be influenced by them rather than seeing them as the subjects of a research project Theoretically the authors draw upon a range of studies in critical gerontology that seek to understand how experiences of ageing are shaped by their social economic cultural and political contexts By employing a broad body of work that challenges normative assumptions of successful ageing the authors draw attention to how these assumptions have been constructed through neo liberal policies of active ageing Notably they also apply insights from feminist ethics of care which are based on a relational ontology that challenges neo liberal assumptions of autonomous individualism Influenced by relational ethics they are attentive to older people both as co researchers and research respondents By successfully applying this perspective to social care practice they facilitate the need for practitioners to reflect on personal aspects of ageing and care but also to bridge the gap between the personal and the professional

Working Through Ageing Kathleen Riach, 2025-09-30 Growing up and older at work is something we all experience yet it remains surprisingly overlooked and under theorized in management and organization studies In this groundbreaking book Kathleen Riach draws on a 10 year longitudinal study to offer fresh theoretical and empirical insights into how ageing is experienced in the workplace Introducing a new phenomenological theory of ageing at work the book examines how individuals negotiate age biased workplace cultures and adapt to their changing bodies within the context of financial capitalism It reveals that ageing at work is not simply about demographic change or ageist stereotypes but is an ongoing process that involves balancing professional expectations the life course and the self
