Legal Executions in Georgia Daniel Allen Hearn, 2015-12-22 In the state of Georgia 1025 men and women are known to have been hanged or electrocuted for capital crimes in the century after the Civil War Based on more than twenty years of investigative research this chronological record of these legal executions was pieced together from diverse sources in and outside of the state with many details never before made public The author documents the facts as they occurred without delving into the politics of capital punishment

The End of Public Execution Michael Ayers Trotti, 2022-11-29 Before 1850 all legal executions in the South were performed before crowds that could number in the thousands the last legal public execution was in 1936 This study focuses on the shift from public executions to ones behind barriers situating that change within our understandings of lynching and competing visions of justice and religion Intended to shame and intimidate public executions after the Civil War had quite a different effect on southern Black communities Crowds typically consisting of as many Black people as white behaved like congregations before a macabre pulpit led in prayer and song by a Black minister on the scaffold Black criminals often proclaimed their innocence and almost always their salvation This turned the proceedings into public mixed race and mixed gender celebrations of Black religious authority and devotion In response southern states rewrote their laws to eliminate these crowds and this Black authority ultimately turning to electrocutions in the bowels of state penitentiaries As a wave of lynchings crested around the turn of the twentieth century states transformed the ways that the South's white dominated governments controlled legal capital punishment making executions into private affairs witnessed only by white people

Robert E. Lee and Me Ty Seidule, 2021-01-26 Ty Seidule scorches us with the truth and rivets us with his fierce sense of moral urgency Ron Chernow In a forceful but humane narrative former soldier and head of the West Point history department Ty Seidule's Robert E Lee and Me challenges the myths and lies of the Confederate legacy and explores why some of this country's oldest wounds have never healed Ty Seidule grew up revering Robert E Lee From his southern childhood to his service in the U S Army every part of his life reinforced the Lost Cause myth that Lee was the greatest man who ever lived and that the Confederates were underdogs who lost the Civil War with honor Now as a retired brigadier general and Professor Emeritus of History at West Point his view has radically changed From a soldier a scholar and a southerner Ty Seidule believes that American history demands a reckoning In a unique blend of history and reflection Seidule deconstructs the truth about the Confederacy that its undisputed primary goal was the subjugation and enslavement of Black Americans and directly challenges the idea of honoring those who labored to preserve that system and committed treason in their failed attempt to achieve it Through the arc of Seidule's own life as well as the culture that formed him he seeks a path to understanding why the facts of the Civil War have remained buried beneath layers of myth and even outright lies and how they embody a cultural gulf that separates millions of Americans to this day Part history lecture part meditation on the Civil War and its fallout and part memoir Robert E Lee and Me challenges the deeply held legends and myths of the Confederacy and provides a surprising interpretation of essential truths that our country still has a difficult time articulating and accepting Legal Executions in Georgia Daniel Allen Hearn, 2015-12-31 In the state of Georgia 1025 men and women are known to have been hanged or electrocuted for capital crimes in the century after the Civil War Based on more than twenty years of investigative research this chronological record of these legal executions was pieced together from diverse sources in and outside of the state with many details never before made public The author documents the facts as they occurred without delving into the politics of capital punishment A Comprehensive Bibliography of American Constitutional and Legal History, 1896-1979 Kermit L.
