Legislated Inequality Patti Tamara Lenard, Christine Straehle, 2012-09-01 Historically Canada has adopted immigration policies focused on admitting migrants who were expected to become citizens A dramatic shift has occurred in recent years as the number of temporary labourers admitted to Canada has increased substantially Legislated Inequality critically evaluates this radical development in Canadian immigration arguing that it threatens to undermine Canada's success as an immigrant nation Assessing each of the four major temporary labour migration programs in Canada contributors from a range of disciplines including comparative political science philosophy and sociology show how temporary migrants are posed to occupy a permanent yet marginal status in society and argue that Canada's temporary labour policy must undergo fundamental changes in order to support Canada's long held immigration goals The difficult working conditions faced by migrant workers as well as the economic and social dangers of relying on temporary migration to relieve labour shortages are described in detail Legislated Inequality provides an essential critical analysis of the failings of temporary labour migration programs in Canada and proposes tangible ways to improve the lives of labourers Contributors include Abigail B Bakan Queen's University Tom Carter University of Manitoba Sarah D Aoust University of Ottawa Christina Gabriel Carleton University Jill Hanley McGill University Jenna Hennebury Wilfrid Laurier University Christine Hughes Carleton University Karen D Hughes University of Alberta Jahhon Koo McGill University Patti Tamara Lenard University of Ottawa Laura Macdonald Carleton University Janet McLaughlin Wilfrid Laurier University Delphine Nakache University of Ottawa Jacqueline Oxman Martinez Universit de Montr al Kerry Priebisch University of Guelph Andr Rivard University of Windsor Nandita Sharma University of Hawaii Eric Shragge Concordia University Denise Spitzer University of Ottawa Daiva Stasuilus Carleton University Christine Straehle University of Ottawa Patricia Tomic University of British Columbia Okanagan Sarah Torres University of Ottawa and Richard Trumper University of British Columbia Okanagan Immigrant and Migrant Workers Organizing in Canada and the United States Jorge Frozzini, Alexandra Law, 2017-11-08 Across Canada and the United States immigrant workers face important obstacles at work and in the broader society whether their immigration status is temporary permanent or nonexistent Hyper precarious workers of all status groups and their allies in unions and worker centers are organizing to improve their conditions In this book Jorge Frozzini and Alexandra Law two longtime volunteers with a Canadian worker center draw on their own experience in depth interviews and academic work from the fields of law communication studies and social movement theory to produce a tactically focused theoretically informed introduction to immigrant worker organizing in a neoliberal era Frozzini and Law describe the phenomenon of employment precarity in the context of U S and Canadian labor history explaining how union certification and collective bargaining function under the law Without directing activists toward any single best strategy they cover tactical and ethical questions raised when organizers offer casework as a recruitment and research tool The royalties from this book will go to the

Immigrant Workers Centre Montreal Disrupting Deportability Leah F. Vosko, 2019-12-15 In an original and striking study of migration management in operation Disrupting Deportability highlights obstacles confronting temporary migrant workers in Canada seeking to exercise their labor rights Leah F Vosko explores the effects of deportability on Mexican nationals participating in Canada's Seasonal Agricultural Worker Program SAWP Vosko follows the decade long legal and political struggle of a group of Mexican SAWP migrants in British Columbia to establish and maintain meaningful collective representation Her case study reveals how modalities of deportability such as termination without cause blacklisting and attrition destabilize legally authorized temporary migrant agricultural workers Through this detailed expos Disrupting Deportability concludes that despite the formal commitments to human social and civil rights to which migration management ostensibly aspires the design and administration of this model temporary migrant work program produces conditions of deportability making the threat possibility of removal ever present Transnational Aging Vincent Horn, Cornelia Schweppe, 2015-09-16 This book focuses on the diverse interrelationships between aging and transnationality It argues that the lives of older people are increasingly entangled in transnational contexts on the social as well as the cultural economic and political levels Within these contexts older people both actively contribute to and are affected by border crossing processes In addition while some may voluntarily opt for adding a transnational dimension to their lives others may have less choice in the matter Transnational aging therefore provides a critical lens on how older people shape organize and cope with life in contexts that are no longer bound to the frame of a single nation state Accordingly the book emphasizes the agency of older people as well as the personal and structural constraints of their situations The chapters in this book reveal these aspects by approaching transnational aging from different methodological angles such as ethnographic research comparative studies quantitative data and policy and discourse analysis Geographically the chapters cover a wide range of countries in Africa Asia Europe North and South America such as Namibia Thailand Russia Germany the United States and Ecuador Theorising Noncitizenship Katherine Tonkiss, Tendayi Bloom, 2018-09-03 Noncitizenship if it is considered at all is generally seen only as the negation or deprivation of citizenship It is rarely examined in its own right whether in relation to States to noncitizens or citizens This means that it is difficult to examine successfully the status of noncitizens obligations towards them and the nature of their role in political systems As a result not only are there theoretical black holes but also the real world difficulties created as a result of noncitizenship are not currently successfully addressed In response Theorising Noncitizenship seeks to define the theoretical challenge that noncitizenship presents and to consider why it should be seen as a foundational concept in social science The contributions from leading scholars in the field and across disciplinary backgrounds capture a diversity of perspectives on the meaning position and lived experience of noncitizenship They demonstrate that we need to look beyond citizenship in order to take noncitizenship seriously and to capture fully the lived realities of the contemporary State system This book was previously published as a special issue of Citizenship Studies Tender Labour Jennifer E. Shaw, 2025-04-01 To meet demand in Canada more and more women are migrating from the Philippines to become domestic workers What happens to family left behind Tender Labour investigates the experiences of young people as they navigate precarity in all its forms when their mothers work elsewhere Jennifer Shaw conducts nuanced research with youth who have been separated from and later reunited with their mothers in Canada incorporating their own voices through poems song lyrics and photographs She focuses on how their tender labour the work they perform within their families emerges not only from necessity but also from the stresses and dreams that tug at the threads of kinship The role of young people in familial migrations reveals the hard consequences of capitalist extraction of transnational labour Nonetheless despite childhoods shaped by economic inequality and racialized disparity Shaw discovers that these Filipina o young people keep their hope of a good life Diversity and Contestations over Nationalism in Europe and Canada John Erik Fossum, Riva Kastoryano, Birte Siim, 2018-03-27 This edited collection considers how transformations in contemporary societies have raised questions surrounding our sense of community and belonging alongside our management of increased diversity Diversity and Contestations over Nationalism in Europe and Canada includes contributions that consider the rise in regional nationalism and a greater willingness to recognise that many states are multinational It critically explores the effects of altered patterns of immigration and emigration including whether they give rise to or re invigorate transnational or border crossing forms of nationalism The book also identifies the patterns of national transformation especially in Europe which we see coupled with significant nationalist reactions by populists as well as extreme right wing movements and parties This multidisciplinary collection of works will be a useful resource for researchers and students of political sociology in Europe and Canada particularly within the contexts of immigration multiculturalism and globalization North American Integration Gaspare M. Genna, David A. Mayer-Foulkes, 2013-07-18

The course of events since the implementation of NAFTA has had unexpected elements with significant impacts on North American integration First has been the rise of China as a larger source of imports and production partner than Mexico Second has been the rise of security concerns since September 11 2001 The result has been much stronger integration between Canada and the US than with Mexico Migration issues are now linked with security which has risen to a top priority in the international agenda While liberalization has furnished strong economic incentives for integration it has not provided a sufficient guide for the political process which requires leadership and appropriate institutions to coordinate and regulate the special interest groups A coherent and effective North American integration would be a valuable asset in the context of global integration and competition yet the issues involved are quite complex and varied North American Integration An Institutional Void in Migration Security and Development examines the current state of North American integration Editors Gaspare M Genna and David A Mayer Foulkes gather an international group of experts to give a broad coherent picture of the current multifaceted process of integration and find that institutional development is an essential component Divided into three sections the book Discuss the determinants of integration and shows that the institutional characteristics of the three countries including democracy and basic rights are the most important Provides examples of institutional building in contexts for which institutions are lacking specifically labor migration and health issues Examines issues such as overall security arrangements trade drug related violence energy and the continuing wage gap among the countries which have an important bearing on integration
