Gender Intentional Crop Breeding: From Integration To Institutional Innovation Hale Tufan,Vivian Polar, Jacqueline Ashby,2025-06-02 Significant progress in agricultural technology development has remained persistently blind to social and gender inequalities Creating agricultural research ecosystems and institutions that address gender inequality requires structural and systemic analysis One of the major areas of investment in agricultural innovation is plant breeding Integrating social welfare objectives in plant breeding is a good starting point to catalyze progress towards gender equality objectives in research for development at a global scale yet devoid of structural change these efforts risk falling short of expectations Intentionally addressing gender in plant breeding research can reshape the technical options goals and intended impact of breeding programs Improving the benefits delivered to rural women through plant breeding can be achieved through new methods and learning critically analyzing systematic barriers to equitable plant breeding research and documenting experiences that demonstrate positive change There is a wide diversity of global experiences where gender research has analyzed how gender differences influence needs preferences and potential benefits from crop varieties and crop specific traits Some of these experiences were able to successfully integrate results and learning from gender research into breeding processes and decisions while some have failed to demonstrate concrete actionable results in breeding programs Agrindex ,1995

Smart Technologies for Sustainable Smallholder Agriculture David Chikoye,Therese Gondwe,Nhamo Nhamo,2017-04-07 Smart Technologies for Sustainable Smallholder Agriculture Upscaling in Developing Countries defines integrated climate smart agricultural technologies ICSAT as a suite of interconnected techniques and practices that enhance quantity and quality of agricultural products with minimum impact on the environment These ICSAT are centered on three main pillars increased production and income adaptation and resilience to climate change and minimizing GHG emissions This book brings together technologies contributing to the three pillars explains the context in which they can be scaled up and identifies research and development gaps as areas requiring further investigation It stresses the urgency in critically analyzing and recommending ICSAT and scaling out the efforts of both developing and disseminating these in an integrated manner The book discusses synthesizes and offers alternative solutions to agriculture production systems and socio economic development It brings together biophysical and socioeconomic disciplines in evaluating suitable ICSAT in an effort to help reduce poverty and food insecurity Highlights the research gaps and opportunities on climate smart agricultural technologies and institutional arrangements Provides information on institutional engagements that are inclusive of value chain actors that support partnerships and the development of interactive platforms Elaborates some of the effects of climate extremes on production and socioeconomic development on small farms whose impact has potentially large impact
