Asian Labor in the Wartime Japanese Empire Paul H. Kratoska, 2014-12-18 During the Pacific War the Japanese government used a wide range of methods to recruit workers for construction projects throughout the occupied territories. Mistreatment of workers was a major grievance both in widely publicized cases such as the use of prisoners of war and forced Asian labor to construct the Thailand Burma Death Railway and in a very large number of smaller projects. In this book an international group of specialists on the Occupation period examine the labor needs and the recruitment and use of workers whether forced military or otherwise throughout the Japanese empire. This is the first study to look at Japanese labor policies comparatively across all the occupied territories of Asia during the war years. It also provides a graphic context for examining Japanese colonialism and relations between the Japanese and the people living in the various occupied territories.

Gedenkschriften van Prof. Mr. R.P. Cleveringa L.E. van Holk, I. Schöffer, 2023-10-16      Churchill on the Far East in the Second World War C. Wilson, 2014-08-05 Cat Wilson brings together two strands of historical scholarship: Churchill's work as a historian and the history of WWII in the Far East. Examining Churchill's portrayal of the British Empire's war against Japan as set down in his memoirs, it ascertains whether he mythologised wartime Anglo-American relations to present a special relationship.      Wereldoorlog in de West Liesbeth van der Horst, 2004      Repertorium Marko Marulić, 1998

Enz, 2010-05-06 This book retraces the life of the physicist Wolfgang Pauli, analyses his scientific work and describes the evolution of his thinking. Includes extended account of Pauli's correspondence with figures such as Einstein, Bohr, Heisenberg and C. G. Jung.      Machseh Lajesoumim Jaap Focke, 2025-10-01 The Jewish Orphanage in Leiden was the last one of eight such care homes to open its doors in the Netherlands before the Second World War. After spending almost 39 years in an old and utterly inadequate building in Leiden's city centre, the inauguration in 1929 of a brand new building shown on the front cover was the start of a remarkably productive and prosperous period. The building still stands there proudly but sadly to this day the relatively happy period lasted less than fourteen years. On Wednesday evening 17th March 1943 the Leiden police under German instructions closed down the orphanage and delivered 50 children and nine staff to the Leiden railway station from where they were brought to Transit Camp Westerbork in the north east of the country. Two boys were released from Westerbork thanks to tireless efforts of a neighbour in Leiden; one young woman survived Auschwitz and one young girl escaped to Palestine via Bergen-Belsen. The remaining 55 were deported to Sobibor and not one of them survived. Some 168 children lived in the new building at one time or another between August 1929 and March 1943. This book reconstructs life in the orphanage based on the many stories and photographs which they left us. It is dedicated to the memory of those who perished in the Holocaust but also to those who survived. Without them this book could not have been written.      Genealogie van de families Ten Zijthoff/Ten Siethoff uit Goor J. ten Hove, M. J. A. Koster, 2011      National

Blokker,Daniëlla Dam-de Jong,Vid Prislan,2021-07-19 This rich collection focuses on the broad research interests of Professor Nico Schrijver in whose honour it was created Written by a wide range of international scholars affiliated with Leiden University's Grotius Centre for International Legal Studies the essays reflect Professor Schrijver's important contribution to academia and practice particularly in the fields of sovereignty human rights and sustainable development The authors aim to reflect on changes in international law and on new developments in the diverse fields they explore Furthering frontiers is the research theme of the Grotius Centre Its exploration in this thought provoking volume is a fitting homage to Nico Schrijver's achievements on the occasion of his retirement as Chair of Public International Law of Leiden University      Japan's Orient Stefan Tanaka,1995-02-08 Stefan Tanaka examines how late nineteenth and early twentieth century Japanese historians created the equivalent of an Orient for their new nation state He argues that the Japanese attempted to use a variety of pasts Chinese Indian and proto historic Japanese to construct an identity that was both modern and Asian      Out of the Darkness Frank Trentmann,2024-02-20 Shortlisted for the Wolfson History Prize One of The Telegraph's 50 Best Books of 2023 Named a Best Book of 2024 by Kirkus Reviews A gripping and nuanced history of the German people from the Second World War to the present day including hugely revealing new primary source material on every aspect of its transformation In 1945 Germany lay ruined Its citizens stood condemned by history responsible for a horrifying genocide and war of extermination But by the end of Angela Merkel's tenure in 2021 Germany looked like the moral voice of Europe welcoming over one million refugees holding together the tenuous threads of the European Union and making military restraint the center of its foreign policy At the same time its rigid fiscal discipline and energy deals with Russian leader Vladimir Putin have cast a shadow over the present. Innumerable scholars have asked how Germany could have degenerated from a nation of scientists, poets and philosophers into one responsible for genocide. And yet until now a similarly vital question has been ignored: That is, how did a nation whose past has been marked by mass murder of a people who cheered Adolf Hitler reinvent themselves? Trentmann tells this dramatic story from the middle of the Second World War through the Cold War and the division of East and West to the fall of the Berlin Wall and Germany's struggle to find its place in the world today. This journey includes a series of internal moral conflicts, admissions of guilt and shame vying with immediate economic concerns, restitution for some but not others, tolerance versus racism, compassion versus complicity. Through a range of voices, German soldiers and German Jews, displaced persons in limbo, East German women and shopkeepers angry about energy shortages, opponents and supporters of nuclear power, volunteers helping migrants and refugees, and right wing populists attacking them, Trentmann paints a remarkable and surprising portrait of the German people over eighty years, showing how they became who they are today.

Refugees in Europe, 1919-1959 Matthew Frank, Jessica Reinisch, 2017-09-21. This book is open access and available on www.bloomsburycollections.com. It is funded by Knowledge Unlatched. Refugees in Europe 1919-1959 offers a new history of Europe's mid 20th century as seen through its recurrent refugee crises. By bringing together in one volume recent research on a range of different contexts of groups of refugees and refugee policy, it sheds light on the common assumptions that underpinned the history of refugees throughout the period under review. The essays foreground the period between the end of the First World War, which inaugurated a series of new international structures to deal with displaced populations, and the late 1950s when Europe's home-grown refugee problems had supposedly been solved and attention shifted from the identification of an exclusively European refugee problem to a global one. Borrowing from E. H. Carr's The Twenty Years' Crisis (first published in 1939), the editors of this volume test the idea that the two post-war eras could be represented as a single crisis of a European-dominated international order of nation-states in the face of successive refugee crises, which were both the direct consequence of that system and a challenge to it. Each of the chapters reflects on the utility and limitations of this notion of a forty years' crisis for understanding the development of specific national and international responses to refugees in the mid 20th century. Contributors to the volume also provide alternative readings of the history of an international refugee regime in which the non-European and colonial world are assigned a central role in the narrative.

In the Shadow of the Holocaust Michael Fleming, 2022-01-06. In the midst of the Second World War, the Allies acknowledged Germany's ongoing programme of extermination. In the Shadow of the Holocaust examines the struggle to attain post-war justice and prosecution. Focusing on Poland's engagement with the United Nations War Crimes Commission, it analyses the different ways that the Polish Government in Exile, based in London from 1940, agitated for an Allied response to German atrocities. Michael Fleming shows that jurists associated with the Government in Exile made significant contributions to legal debates.

on war crimes and along with others paid attention to German crimes against Jews By exploring the relationship between the UNWCC and the Polish War Crimes Office under the authority of the Polish Government in Exile and later from the summer of 1945 the Polish Government in Warsaw Fleming provides a new lens through which to examine the early stages of the Cold War

Art and Propaganda during Peronist Argentina Iliana Cepero, 2025-06-19 This book chronicles the history of the visual languages developed in Argentina during Peronism exploring how art and propaganda interacted with and responded to their historical context At the heart of this study is the term intentional citations a framework that advocates for the socio cultural specificity of Latin American modernist art in contrast to models that overly rely on European concepts of modernism and the avant garde Readers will discover how Argentinian artists cited European artworks to express particular ideas and goals how Peronist propaganda employed various artistic traditions including abstraction for political purposes and how ideologues rebranded Per n and Eva as a formidable ruling couple This book also examines how the Peronist regime and artists competed for control of the cultural field Despite their stark political differences however both factions pursued similar goals

Medicine, health and Irish experiences of conflict, 1914-45 David Durnin, Ian Miller, 2016-10-28 This book explores Irish experiences of medicine and health during the First and Second World Wars the War of Independence and the Civil War It examines the physical mental and emotional impact of conflict on Irish political and social life as well as medical scientific and official interventions in Irish health matters The contributors put forward the case that warfare and political unrest profoundly shaped Irish experiences of medicine and health and that Irish political social and economic contexts added unique contours to those experiences not evident in other countries In pursuing these themes the book offers an original and focused intervention into a central but so far unexplored area of Irish medical history
