May I Have Your Attention Please The Autobiography:

May I Have Your Attention, Please? Chris Hilicki, 2005-01-14 What is a businessperson's biggest hidden asset? His or her own true story and authenticity. One's personal identity is the key to one's professional brand. In May I Have Your Attention Please, Chris Hilicki illustrates how everyone can be successful by applying their personal experiences to business. Using real world examples of famous corporations, celebrities, and the guy next door, Hilicki gets readers to use their best and often most untapped assets to build a better personal and professional life. Complete with thought provoking chapter questions and practical exercises that readers can immediately apply to their plans for success, this unique guide offers step by step strategies that help readers examine their identity, make a lasting impression, and turn it into a reputation that transforms their businesses. Chris Hilicki, Nashville, TN, is founder and Vice Chair of Dalmatian Press, one of the U.S.'s most successful children's book companies. Formerly a scientist and now a publishing leader, she regularly speaks before industry leaders, live television audiences, and large conventions. Chris has been interviewed for Forbes, Inc., The Wall Street Journal, Southern Living, and Publishers Weekly, and has appeared on television shows as an expert on building brands through the use of personal identity.

James Acaster & James Corden Natasha Tristan, James Acaster and James Corden, similar in name and have the same occupation, work in the same century, from two corners of the same field, are said to have come together as footmen in Cinderella's adaptation, with their excellence in British comedy representation. Although they have many similarities between them, reading this book will help you to understand how your favorite comic actors spent their life. James Acaster, a foodie and musician, has established himself a career in comedy. He was a man who got into a few problems in the games of life and then, after a long time, turned away from comedy and relied on music again. James Corden is a comedian and host who has taken his surroundings into the world of entertainment with various humorous actions since he was a kid. But he built a career as a comedian only in his 17 or 18. While fixing every brick of comedy in it, he became the prey of some criticism for the idea of his presentation. They are trying to remove their past from the audience again and again with their better performances to survive different situations and stay firm in their field. Go through this book about the life journeys of those two comedians walking towards such endeavors.

The Art of Teaching Children Phillip Done,2023-07-18 An essential guide for teachers and parents that s destined to become a classic The Art of Teaching Children is one of those rare and masterful books that not only defines a craft but offers a magical reading experience. After more than thirty years in the classroom, award-winning teacher Phillip Done decided that it was time to retire. But a teacher's job is never truly finished, and he set out to write the greatest lesson of his career: a book for educators and parents that would pass along everything he learned about working with kids. From the first day of school jitters to the last day's tears, Done writes about the teacher's craft, classrooms and curriculums, the challenges of the profession, and the reason all teachers do it: the children. Drawing upon decades of experience, Done shares time-tested tips and sage advice. Real learning is messy, not linear. Greeting kids in the morning as they enter the classroom is an important part of the school day. If a student is having trouble, look at what you can do differently before pointing the finger at the child. Ask yourself: Would I want to be a student in my class? When children watch you, they are learning how to be people, and one of the most important things we can do for our students is to model the kind of people we would like them to be. Done tackles topics you won't find in any other teaching book, including Back to School Night nerves, teacher pride, the Sunday Blues, Pinterest envy, teacher guilt, and the things they never warn you about in teacher school but should like how to survive recess, duty field trips, and lunch supervision. Done also addresses some of the most important issues schools face today: bullying, excessive screen time, the system's obsession with testing, teacher burnout, and the ever-increasing demands of meeting the diverse learning needs of students. But The Art of Teaching Children is more than a guide to educating today's young learners. These pages are alive with inspiration, humor, and tales of humanity. Done welcomes us like visitors at Open House Night to the world of elementary school, where we witness lessons that go well and others that flop, periods that run smoothly and ones that go haywire when a bee flies into the room. We meet master teachers and new ones, librarians and lunch supervisors, principals and parents, some with too much time on their hands. We get to know kids who want to hold a ball and those who'd rather hold a marker, students with difficult home lives and children with disabilities, youngsters who need drawing out, and those who happily announce in the middle of a math lesson that they have a loose tooth. With great wit and wisdom, irresistible storytelling, and boundless compassion, The Art of Teaching Children is the new educator's bible for teachers, parents, and all who work with kids and care about their learning and success.

A Lifetime Spent Doing What I Loved to Do! Thomas Hamm, 2008. As I mention in the prologue of the book, a man who was my mentor once said to me: Tommy, the easiest thing in the world to do is make a buck. You can shine shoes, deliver newspapers, stack groceries, and many other mundane things. But the hardest thing in this world to do is make a buck doing what you love to do. Hence the title of this book. I have been lucky enough to be able to make a buck doing what I loved to do in four careers: First, being in World War II. Second, performing in show business and being involved in the beginning of television. Third, creating music for the advertising business, and fourth, retiring and enjoying the sights in this big beautiful world of ours. By remembering many of the amusing things that happened and being able to pass them on to you, readers, fulfills my purpose in writing this.
