Fray Julia Bryan-Wilson, 2021-02 In 1974 women in a feminist consciousness raising group in Eugene Oregon formed a mock organization called the Ladies Sewing Circle and Terrorist Society Emblazoning its logo onto t shirts the group wryly envisioned female collective textile making as a practice that could upend conventions threaten state structures and wreak political havoc Elaborating on this example as a prehistory to the more recent phenomenon of craftivism the politics and social practices associated with handmaking Fray explores textiles and their role at the forefront of debates about process materiality gender and race in times of economic upheaval Closely examining how amateurs and fine artists in the United States and Chile turned to sewing braiding knotting and quilting amid the rise of global manufacturing Julia Bryan Wilson argues that textiles unravel the high low divide and urges us to think flexibly about what the politics of textiles might be Her case studies from the 1970s through the 1990s including the improvised costumes of the theater troupe the Cockettes the braided rag rugs of US artist Harmony Hammond the thread based sculptures of Chilean artist Cecilia Vicuña's small hand sewn tapestries depicting Pinochet's torture and the NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt are often taken as evidence of the inherently progressive nature of handcrafted textiles. Fray however shows that such methods are recruited to often ambivalent ends leaving textiles very much in the fray of debates about feminized labor, protest cultures and queer identities. The malleability of cloth and fiber means that textiles can be activated or stretched in many ideological directions. The first contemporary art history book to discuss both fine art and amateur registers of handmaking at such an expansive scale, Fray unveils crucial insights into how textiles inhabit the broad space between artistic and political poles, high and low, untrained and highly skilled, conformist and disobedient craft and art.

Pop Art and Design Anne Massey, Alex Seago, 2017-11-30 This book offers the first in depth analysis of the relationship between art and design which led to the creation of pop. Challenging accepted boundaries and definitions, the authors seek out various commonalities and points of connection between these two exciting areas. Confronting the all pervasive high art/low culture divide, Pop Art and Design brings a fresh understanding of visual culture during the vibrant 1950s and 60s. This was an era when commercial art became graphic design, illustration was superseded by photography and high fashion became street fashion, all against the backdrop of a rapidly evolving economic and political landscape, a glamorous youth scene and an effervescent popular culture. The book's central argument is that pop art relied on and drew inspiration from pop design and vice versa. Massey and Seago assert that this relationship was articulated through the artwork, design publications and exhibitions of a network of key practitioners. Pop Art and Design provides a case study in the broader inter relationship between art and design and constitutes the first interdisciplinary publication on the subject.

The Material Culture of Basketry Stephanie Bunn, Victoria Mitchell, 2020-10-29 The Material Culture of Basketry celebrates basketry as a culturally significant skilled practice and as a theoretically rich discipline which has much to offer contemporary society. While sometimes understudied and underappreciated, it has much in common with mathematics and engineering, art, craft and design and can also act as a socially beneficial source of skill and care. Contributors show how local knowledge of materials, plants and place are central to the craft. Case studies include the skill in weaverbird nest building, challenging how we perceive learning in craft and nature, an engineer's perspective on twining Peruvian grass bridges and the local knowledge embodied in Pacific plaited patterns and knots. Photo essays explore materials and techniques from the point of view of artists, anthropologists and mathematicians, revealing how the structure and skill in basketwork illustrate a significant form of textile technology. Thus the book argues that the textures, patterns and geometric forms that emerge through basketwork reflect an embodied knowledge which expresses mathematical and engineering comprehension. The therapeutic value of the craft is recognised through a selection of case studies which consider basketry as a healing process for patients with brain injury, mental health problems and as a memory aid for people living with dementia. This reclaims basketry's significant role in occupational therapy as an agent of recovery and well being. Finally, basketry's inherently sustainable nature is also considered demonstrating the continuation of basketry in spite of handwork's general decline and profiling new and recycled materials. Above all, the book envisages basketry as an intellectually rewarding means of knowing. It presents the craft as embodying care for skilled making and for the social and natural environments in which it flourishes. Skin Crafts Julia Skelly, 2022-02-10. Skin Crafts discusses multiple artists from global contexts who employ craft materials in works that address historical and contemporary violence. These artists are deliberately embracing the fragility of textiles and ceramics to evoke the vulnerability of human skin and in so doing are demanding visceral responses from viewers. Drawing on a range of theories including affect theory, material feminism, skin studies, phenomenology, and global art history, the book illuminates the various ways in which artists are harnessing the affective power of craft materials to address and cope with violence. Artists from Mexico, Africa, China, the Netherlands, and Indigenous artists based in the unceded territory known as Canada are examined in relation to one another to illuminate the connections and differences across their bodies of work. Skin Crafts interrogates ongoing material violence towards women and marginalized others and demonstrates the power of contemporary art to force viewers and scholars into facing their ethical responsibilities as human beings. Designing for Health & Wellbeing: Home, City, Society Matthew Jones, Louis Rice, Fidel Meraz, 2019-12-03. Rapid urbanization represents major threats and challenges to personal and public health. The World Health Organisation identifies the urban health threat as three-fold: infectious diseases, non-communicable diseases, and violence and injury from amongst other things, road traffic. Within this tripartite structure of health issues in the built environment, there are multiple individual issues affecting both the developed and the developing worlds and the global north and south. Reflecting on a broad set of interrelated concerns about health and the design of the places we inhabit, this book seeks to better understand the interconnectedness and potential solutions to the problems associated with health and the built environment. Divided into three key themes: home, city, and society, each section presents a number of research chapters that explore global processes, transformative praxis, and emergent trends in architecture, urban design, and healthy city research. Drawing together practicing architects, academics, scholars, public health professionals, and activists from around the world to provide perspectives on design for health, this book includes emerging research on healthy homes, walkable cities, design for ageing, dementia, and the built environment, health equality, and urban poverty, community health services, neighbourhood support and wellbeing, urban sanitation, and communicable disease, the role of transport infrastructures, and government policy and the cost implications of unhealthy cities, etc. To that end, this book examines alternative and radical ways of practicing architecture and the reimagining of the profession of architecture through a lens of human health. Radical Decadence Julia Skelly, 2017-05-04. This pioneering book explores the notion of radical decadence as concept, aesthetic, and lived experience and as an analytical framework for the study of contemporary feminist textile art. Gendered discourses of decadence that perpetuate anxieties about women's power, consumption, and pleasure are deconstructed through images of drug use, female sexuality, and excessive living in artworks by several contemporary textile artists including Orly Cogan Tracey Emin Allyson Mitchell and Rozanne Hawksley Perceptions of decadence are invariably bound to the negative connotations of decay and degradation particularly with regard to the transgression of social norms related to femininity and the female body Excessive consumption by women has historically been represented as grotesque and until now women's pleasure in relation to drug and alcohol use has largely gone unexamined in feminist art history and craft studies Here representations of female consumption from cupcakes to alcohol and cocaine are opened up for critical discussion Drawing on feminist and queer theories Julia Skelly considers portrayals of bad girls in artworks that explore female sexuality performative pieces designed to subvert and exceed feminine roles In this provocative book decadence is understood not as a destructive force but as a liberating aesthetic How Textile Communicates Ganaele Langlois,2023-12-14 In this open access publication Ganaele Langlois describes how textile has been used as a medium of communication since the prehistoric period In fact up until the 19th century civilizations throughout the world manipulated thread and fabric to communicate in a way that would astound many of us now Unlike text and images textile is haptic and three dimensional Its meaning is unfixed constantly shifting as it circulates between different owners and creators In How Textile Communicates Langlois dissects textile's unique capacity for communication through a range of global case studies before examining the profound impact of colonialism on textile practice and the appropriation of this medium by capitalist systems A thought provoking contribution to the fields of both fashion and communication studies Langlois writing challenges readers preconceptions and shines new light on the profound impact of textiles on human communication The ebook editions of this book are available open access under a CC BY NC ND 4.0 licence on bloomsburycollections.com Open access was funded by York University Toronto Canada Critical by Design? Claudia Mareis,Moritz Greiner-Petter,Michael Renner,2022-02-03 In its constructive and speculative nature design has the critical potential to reshape prevalent socio material realities At the same time design is inevitably normative if not often violent as it stabilises the past normalises the present and precludes just and sustainable futures The contributions rethink concepts of critique that influence the field of design question inherent blind spots of the discipline and expand understandings of what critical design practices could be With contributions from design theory practice and education art theory philosophy and informatics Critical by Design aims to question and unpack the ambivalent tensions between design and critique How Materials Matter Graeme Were,2019-03-27 How does design and innovation shape people's lives in the Pacific Focusing on plant materials from the region How Materials Matter reveals ways in which a variety of people from craftswomen and scientists to architects and politicians work with materials to transform worlds Recognizing the fragile and ephemeral nature of plant fibres this work delves into how the biophysical properties of certain leaves and their aesthetic appearance are utilized to communicate information and manage different forms of relations It breaks new ground by situating plant materials at the centre of innovation in a region The Oxford Handbook of Media, Technology, and Organization Studies

Timon Beyes, Robin Holt, Claus Pias, 2020 This Handbook explores the largely uncharted territory of media technology and organization studies and interrogates their foundational relations their forms and their consequences The chapters consider how specific mediating technological objects such as the Clock or the Smartphone help us to create organizational form A Philosophy of Textile Catherine Dormor, 2020-12-10 Textile is at once a language a concept and a material thing Philosophers such as Plato Deleuze and Derrida have notably drawn on weaving processes to illustrate their ideas and artists such as Ann Hamilton Louise Bourgeois and Chiharu Shiota explore matters such as the seam the needle and thread and the flow of viscous materials in their work Yet thinking about textile and making textile are often treated as separate and distinct practices rather than parallel modes This beautifully illustrated book brings together for the first time the language and materiality of textile to develop new models of thinking writing and making Through the work of thinkers such as Roland Barthes Hélène Cixous and Luce Irigaray and international artists like Eva Hesse and Helen Chadwick textile practitioner theorist and writer Catherine Dormor puts forward a new philosophy of textile Exploring the material behaviours and philosophical language of folding shimmering seaming viscosity fraying and caressing Dormor demonstrates how textile practice and theory are intricately woven together

History Making a Difference Lyndon Fraser, Marguerite Hill, Katie Pickles, 2017-05-11 Why care about the past Why teach research and write history In this volume leading and emerging scholars activists and those working in the public sector archives and museums bring their expertise to provide timely direction and informed debate about the importance of history Primarily concerned with Aotearoa the Māori name for New Zealand the essays within traverse local national and global knowledge to offer new approaches that consider the ability and potential for history to make a difference in the early twenty first century Authors adopt a wide range of methodological approaches including social cultural Māori oral race relations religious public political economic visual and material history The chapters engage with work in postcolonial and cultural studies The volume is divided into three sections that address the themes of challenging power and privilege the co production of historical knowledge and public and material histories Collectively the potential for dialogue across previous sub disciplinary and public private and professional divides is pursued

Ageing Women in Literature and Visual Culture Cathy McGlynn, Margaret O'Neill, Michaela Schrage-Früh, 2017-11-23 This timely collection engages with representations of women and ageing in literature and visual culture Acknowledging that cultural conceptions of ageing are constructed and challenged across a variety of media and genres the editors bring together experts in literature and visual culture to foster a dialogue across disciplines Exploring the process of ageing in its cultural reflections refractions and reimaginings the contributors to Ageing Women in Literature and Visual Culture analyse how artists writers directors and performers challenge and in some cases reaffirm cultural constructions of ageing women as well as give voice to ageing women's subjectivities The book concludes with an afterword by Germaine Greer which suggests possible avenues for future research

The Top Books of the Year Handbook Textile Culture Janis Jefferies The year 2023 has witnessed a remarkable surge in literary brilliance, with numerous engrossing novels enthralling the hearts of readers worldwide. Lets delve into the realm of top-selling books, exploring the fascinating narratives that have charmed audiences this year. The Must-Read : Colleen Hoover's "It Ends with Us" This poignant tale of love, loss, and resilience has gripped readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover expertly weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can triumph. Handbook Textile Culture Janis Jefferies : Taylor Jenkins Reids "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This captivating historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reids compelling storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Handbook Textile Culture Janis Jefferies : Delia Owens "Where the Crawdads Sing" This mesmerizing coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens weaves a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, captivating readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These top-selling novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of engaging stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and gripping novel that will keep you speculating until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
