

Regulating Gene Expression in Eukaryotes

Name: Kay Period: 2

Differentiation has been learned about DNA and protein synthesis before. You know that genes are expressed through transcription and translation to produce proteins that regulate processes and determine your hereditary characteristics. Even though all cells have the same genes, they are regulated and expressed in different ways through changes and modifications along the process of protein synthesis (transcription and translation). If you remember, the steps to protein synthesis include unwinding and unzipping the DNA gene, transcribing the gene, processing the mRNA, sending it out through the nuclear membrane to the cytoplasm where it is translated into a protein chain. Any of these steps can be regulated by different mechanisms and can change the outcome (protein). The chart below will outline the major regulating mechanisms at each step.

 Exons: pink, introns: green, orange, small group: green, coded DNA: light blue, non-coding DNA: light blue, large group: dark blue, orange, small, yellow, non-coding: red, mRNA: light green, tRNA: light green.
