Mastering The Machine Revisited Poverty Aid And Technology:

Mastering The Machine Ian Smillie, 2019-04-02 Mastering the Machine Revisited is about the connection between poverty aid and technology It is about a search that has been going on officially in the developing world for over forty years and less officially in most countries since the beginning of time It is a search driven today by more hard core poverty than has ever been known and by Mastering the Machine Revisited Ian Smillie, 2000 Mastering the Machine Revisited is about the connection between poverty aid and technology It is about the search driven today by greater extreme poverty than has ever been known and by a realization that the technologies applied to the problem have severe limitations Mastering the Machine Revisited Ian Smillie, 2000 Mastering the Machine Revisited is about the connection between poverty aid and technology It is about the search driven today by greater extreme poverty than has ever been known and by a realization that the technologies applied to the problem have severe limitations Aid on the Edge of Chaos Ben Ramalingam, 2013-10-24 It is widely recognised that the foreign aid system which today involves every country in the world is in need of drastic change But there are conflicting opinions as to what is needed Some call for dramatic increases in resources to meet long overdue commitments and to scale up what is already being done around the world Others point to the flaws in aid and bang the drum for cutting it altogether and argue that the fate of poor and vulnerable people be best placed in the hands of markets and the private sector Meanwhile growing numbers are suggesting that what is most needed is the creative innovative transformation of how aid works Aid on the Edge of Chaos is firmly in the third of these camps In this ground breaking book Ben Ramalingam shows that the linear mechanistic models and assumptions on which foreign aid is built would be more at home in early twentieth century factory floors than in the dynamic complex world we face today All around us we can see the costs and limitations of dealing economies and societies as if they are analogous to machines The reality is that such social systems have far more in common with ecosystems they are complex dynamic diverse and unpredictable Many thinkers and practitioners in science economics business and public policy have started to embrace more ecologically literate approaches to guide both thinking and action informed by ideas from the new science of complex adaptive systems Inspired by these efforts there is an emerging network of aid practitioners researchers and policy makers who are experimenting with complexity informed responses to development and humanitarian challenges This book showcases the insights experiences and often remarkable results from these efforts From transforming approaches to child malnutrition to rethinking processes of economic growth from building peace to combating desertification from rural Vietnam to urban Kenya Aid on the Edge of Chaos shows how embracing the ideas of complex systems thinking can help make foreign aid more relevant more appropriate more innovative and more catalytic Ramalingam argues that taking on these ideas will be a vital part of the transformation of aid from a post WW2 mechanism of resource transfer to a truly innovative and dynamic form of global cooperation fit for the twenty first century Rethinking International Organizations Dennis Dijkzeul, Yves

Beigbender,2003 The management of international organisations is attracting growing attention This text provides a fundamental rethinking of current approaches criticism and cures for these organisations Fifty Key Thinkers on Development David Simon,2006-05-02 The essential guide to the world s most influential development thinkers this authoritative text presents a unique guide to the lives and ideas of leading contributors to the contested terrain of development studies Reflecting the diverse interdisciplinary nature of the area the book includes entries on modernisers like Hirshman Kindleberger and Rostow dependencistas such as Frank Cardoso and Amin progressives like Prebisch Helleiner and Streeten political leaders enunciating radical alternative visions of development such as Mao Nkrumah and Nyerere progenitors of religiously or spiritually inspired development such as Gandhi and Ariyaratne development environment thinkers like Blaikie Brookfield and Shiva This is a fascinating and readable introduction to the major figures that have shaped the field ideal for anyone studying or working in the area Science, Technology, and Innovation Alfred J.

Watkins,Michael Ehst,2008-01-01 This book summarizes and highlights main messages from a February 2007 Global Forum convened by the World Bank to discuss strategies programs and policies for building science technology and innovation STI capacity to promote sustainable growth and poverty reduction in developing countries Educating Citizen Designers in South Africa Elmarie Costandius,Herman Botes,2018-09-07 Educating Citizen Designers in South Africa is the first book of its kind to appear in post apartheid South Africa and it is therefore both overdue and extremely welcome The book aims at sharing critical citizenship design teaching and learning pedagogies by including contributions from a range of design educators and one student who work in different design disciplines such as architecture graphic and product design Critical citizenship education is explicated in relation to a range of theories and new and existing models Numerous contemporary case studies and examples of design projects from a range of South African Higher Education Institutions are included As such a variety of perspectives emerge including the consensual where the aim of critical citizenship education is viewed as promoting social justice shared values and critical thinking to the conflicting where critiques are levelled against conceptions of critical citizenship education Contentious contesting and contradictory views are inevitable and necessary given the South African context as it is only in open debate that the one point of agreement among the authors the need for social change can be worked towards Prof Deirdre Pretorius Univeristy of Johannesburg Invisible Users Jenna Burrell,2012-05-04 An account of how young people in Ghana s capital city adopt and adapt digital technology in the margins of the global economy The urban youth frequenting the Internet caf s of Accra Ghana who are decidedly not members of their country s elite use the Internet largely as a way to orchestrate encounters across distance and amass foreign ties activities once limited to the wealthy university educated classes The Internet accessed on second hand computers castoffs from the United States and Europe has become for these youths a means of enacting a more cosmopolitan self In Invisible Users Jenna Burrell offers a richly observed account of how these Internet enthusiasts have adopted and adapted to their own priorities a technological system that was not designed with them in mind Burrell describes the material space of the urban Internet caf and the virtual space of push and pull between young Ghanaians and the foreigners they encounter online the region s famous 419 scam strategies and the rumors of big gains that fuel them the influential role of churches and theories about how the supernatural operates through the network and development rhetoric about digital technologies and the future viability of African Internet caf s in the region Burrell integrating concepts from science and technology studies and African studies with empirical findings from her own field work in Ghana captures the interpretive flexibility of technology by users in the margins but also highlights how their invisibility puts limits on their full inclusion into a global network society Engineering and War

Ethan Blue,Michael Levine,Dean Nieusma,2022-06-01 This book investigates the close connections between engineering and war broadly understood and the conceptual and structural barriers that face those who would seek to loosen those connections It shows how military institutions and interests have long influenced engineering education research and practice and how they continue to shape the field in the present The book also provides a generalized framework for responding to these influences useful to students and scholars of engineering as well as reflective practitioners The analysis draws on philosophy history critical theory and technology studies to understand the connections between engineering and war and how they shape our very understandings of what engineering is and what it might be After providing a review of diverse dimensions of engineering itself the analysis shifts to different dimensions of the connections between engineering and war First it considers the ethics of war generally and then explores questions of integrity for engineering practitioners facing career decisions relating to war Next it considers the historical rise of the military industrial academic complex especially from World War II to the present Finally it considers a range of responses to the militarization of engineering from those who seek to unsettle the status quo Only by confronting the ethical historical and political consequences of engineering for warfare this book argues can engineering be sensibly reimagined Projects as Socio-Technical Systems in Engineering Education

Johan Meyer,Zach Simpson,Suné von Solms,2018-09-21 This book presents the case for Project Based Learning within Socio Technical Systems in Engineering Education The book highlights the importance of projects as Socio Technical Systems as a means for supporting and enhancing international accreditation of engineering programs Practical examples illustrate how Socio Technical Systems are brought into the educational environment through Project Based Learning The book goes on to discuss the impact this may have on Engineering Education practice The work presented will enable engineering educators to develop curricula that can respond to societal needs while also enhancing teaching and learning It offers an approach to engineering education that centers on engaging scholars in projects that are located within socio technical systems University government and industry leaders will gain from this book as it provides insight into strategic planning and partnership building for Engineering Education We hope this book will further foster deep scholarship of research to ready engineering faculties for engaging responsibly with their surrounding communities Features Offers applications of Project Based Learning PBL in Engineering Education Matches elements of Socio Technical Systems in Higher Engineering Education with the Exit Level Outcomes ELOs required by professional engineering bodies Provides practical examples for the establishment of project environments within an academic faculty Shows examples in the success of execution of projects involving engineering educators researchers program developers government agencies and industry partners Presents a framework to develop Project Based Learning in Engineering Education that addresses Socio Technical requirements and will enable engineering educators to collaboratively develop engineering curricula with industry that will respond to societal needs Public Interest Design Education Guidebook Lisa Abendroth, Bryan Bell, 2018-08-06 Public Interest Design Education Guidebook Curricula Strategies and SEED Academic Case Studies presents the pedagogical framework and collective curriculum necessary to teach public interest designers The second book in Routledge's Public Interest Design Guidebook series the editors and contributors feature a range of learning competencies supported by distinct teaching strategies where educational and community originated goals unite Written in a guidebook format that includes projects from across design disciplines this book describes the learning deemed most critical to pursuing an inclusive informed design practice that meets the diverse needs of both students and community partners Featured chapter themes include Fundamental Skills Intercultural Competencies Engaging the Field Experience Inclusive Iteration and Evaluating Student Learning The book consists of practice based and applied learning constructs that bridge community based research with engaged learning and design practice SEED Social Economic Environmental Design academic case studies introduce teaching strategies that reinforce project specific learning objectives where solving social economic and environmental issues unites the efforts of communities student designers and educators This comprehensive publication also contains indices devoted to learning objectives cross referenced from within the book as well as considerations for educational program development in public interest design Whether you are a student of design an educator or a designer the breadth of projects and teaching strategies provided here will empower you to excel in your pursuit of public interest design
