Love Where You Live Creating Emotionally Engaging Places:

Love Where You Live Peter Kageyama, 2015-01-05 Following the widespread success of For the Love of Cities this book builds upon the central premise that love of place matters with more examples from all over the world and practical steps that community leaders both official and unofficial might use to kick start the process in their city This book explores how to build networks of co creators how to allay community fears how to deal with naysayers and bad news how to find your authentic identity and how little bits of funding can be instrumental in creating big changes

For the Love of Cities Peter Kageyama, 2021-06-15 The Award Winning Book Returns Updated Revised and Expanded The mutual love affair between people and their place is one of the most powerful influences in our lives yet rarely thought of in terms of a relationship As cities come to think of themselves as engaged in a relationship with their residents and residents begin to consider their emotional connections with their places we open up new possibilities in community social and economic development by including the most powerful of motivators the human heart in our toolkit of place making Here we will explore what makes cities lovable what motivates ordinary people to do extraordinary things for their places and how some cities are using that energy to fill in the gaps that official city makers have left as resources disappeared Meet the amazing people who are truly in love with their cities and learn how they are the key resource to the future development of our communities Peter's book takes the age old notion that love is a powerful but intangible force and completely turns it on its head by uniquely illustrating the impact human emotion can have on our cities I strongly recommend For the Love of Cities to all local leaders and anyone who is looking for creative solutions to the challenges facing America's cities Buddy Dyer Mayor of Orlando Florida When it comes to making places better there are so many things we can do beyond those conventionally labeled as planning Most of them involve not the hardware of cities but the software people And the best of them are on display in this remarkable book Jeff Speck AICP author of Walkable City How Downtown Can Save America One Step at a Time In this book Peter goes next level and shows us HOW and WHY our placemaking process can help residents and visitors fall in love with your city all over again This book is for activists engineers planners and community leaders committed to transforming their communities Rebecca Ryan APF Futurists Economist NEXT Generation Consulting The book is a love note from Author Peter Kageyama to cities everywhere that will prompt you to more closely examine your own relationship with where you live work and play Diane Egner Publisher and Managing Editor 83 Degrees Media Former Book Editor The Tampa Tribune What Kageyama has done is to introduce the vital piece into the urban discussion the matter of love the piece without which all city building must fail for love the corner stone of civic citizenship It takes some bravura and acumen to champion the subject of love in the urban forum that wants to quantify when only love qualifies and justifies the discussion of cities Mr Kageyama goes one step further He provides precious indicators Many city thinkers will follow suit but for the time being this is the essential book Pier Giorgio Di Cicco Poet Laureate Emeritus Toronto Ontario Author of Municipal Mind Manifestos for The
