This week we have been reading an informational book from our reading series about shapes. We have also been reading Fire Fire by Gail Gibbons. After learning why we read informational text and the elements that make up the text, we decided to write our own informational text.

First, we took pictures of shapes around our school. We then decided how we wanted to organize our book. We decided on a table of contents. The students then arranged the pictures on the pages and we created headings and labels. We then decided what we should include in our Glossary. This was such a great activity to help them remember what to look for in an informational text.

| Glossary                                                            |  |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| Circle- curved line                                                 |  |
| Triangle- Three sides and three vertices                            |  |
| Rectangle- Four sides and four vertices                             |  |
| Small rectangle called a square- Four equal sides and four vertices |  |

Informational Text in K-3 Classrooms Mariam Jean Dreher, Sharon Bengé Kletzien, 2015-09-09 Specifically designed for K-3 teachers, this accessible guide describes ways to use informational text creatively and effectively in both reading and writing instruction. The book presents lessons, read-alouds, and activities that motivate students to engage with a wide variety of exemplary texts. Links to the Common Core State Standards (CCSS) are explained throughout. Key topics include how to build academic vocabulary, balance fiction and nonfiction, and address the needs of English language learners. Examples from diverse classrooms and end-of-chapter discussion questions and engagement activities enhance the book's utility as a professional development resource. Reproducible handouts and other tools can be downloaded and printed in a convenient 8 1/2 x 11 size. Beginning Reading and Writing Dorothy S.
