Growing Up Again Parenting Ourselves Parenting Our Children:

Growing Up Again Jean Illsley Clarke, Connie Dawson, 2009-07-31 Growing Up Again offers guidance on providing children with the structure and nurturing that are so critical to their healthy development and to our own. As time tested as it is, timely the expert advice in Growing Up Again Second Edition has helped thousands of readers improve on their parenting practices. Now substantially revised and expanded Growing Up Again offers further guidance on providing children with the structure and nurturing that are so critical to their healthy development and to our own. Jean Illsley Clarke and Connie Dawson provide the information every adult caring for children should know about ages and stages of development, ways to nurture our children and ourselves, and tools for personal and family growth. This new edition also addresses the special demands of parenting adopted children and the problem of overindulgence, a recognition and exploration of prenatal life and our final days as unique life stages, new examples of nurturing, structuring and discounting, as well as concise ways to identify them, help for handling parenting conflicts in blended families, and guidelines on supporting children's spiritual growth. About the Authors: Jean Illsley Clarke is a parent educator, teacher trainer, the author of Self Esteem: A Family Affair and co-author of the Help for Parents series. She is a popular international lecturer and workshop presenter on the topics of self-esteem, parenting, family dynamics, and adult children of alcoholics. Clarke resides in Plymouth, Minnesota. Connie Dawson is a consultant and lecturer who works with adults who work with kids. A former teacher, she trains youth workers to identify and help young people who are at risk. Dawson lives in Evergreen, Colorado.

Growing Up Again Jean Illsley Clarke, Connie Dawson, 1989. Many adults lack the necessary skills for parenting their children. Here is a reassuring guide that can help every parent gain those skills and the confidence to parent effectively. Illustrations Ready or Not Kay S. Hymowitz, 2008-06-30. Children today grow up so fast. How often we hear those words uttered both in frustrated good humor and in dumbfounded astonishment. Every day the American people hear about kids doing things both good and bad that were once thought to be well beyond their scope: flying airplanes, running companies, committing mass murder. Creatures of the information age, today's children sometimes seem to know more than their parents. They surf the Internet rather than read books, they watch South Park instead of The Cosby Show, they wear form-fitting capri pants and tank tops instead of sundresses. In short, they are sophisticated beyond their years. These facts lead us to wonder: Is childhood becoming extinct? In Ready or Not, Kay S. Hymowitz offers a startling new interpretation of what makes our children tick and where the moral anomie of today's children comes from. She reveals how our ideas about childrearing itself have been transformed perniciously in response to the theories of various experts: educators, psychologists, lawyers, media executives who have encouraged us to view children as small adults, autonomous actors who know what is best for themselves and who have no need for adult instruction or supervision. Today's children and teenagers have been encouraged by their parents and teachers to function as individuals to such an extent that they make practically every decision on their own: what to wear, what to study, and even what values they will adhere to The idea of childhood as a time of limited competence in which adults prepare the young for maturity has fallen into disrepute independence has become not the reward of time but rather something that our children have come to expect and demand at increasingly younger ages One of the great ironies of turning our children into small adults is that American society has become less successful at producing truly mature men and women When sophisticated children do grow up they often find themselves unable to accept real adult responsibilities Thus we see more people in their twenties and thirties living like children unwilling to embark on careers or to start families Until we recognize that children are different from grownups and need to be nurtured as such Hymowitz argues our society will be hollow at its core

Time-in Jean Illsley Clarke, 1999 This book will appeal to parents who have felt frustrated helpless or angry when traditional parenting tools didn't work The Time In process is an overall approach that teaches children to be competent to think and to succeed using four tools ask act attend and amend Parents can use Time In when they want children to listen and think ask change behaviour act pay attention to the needs of others attend or to right a wrong they have done amend and understanding between parents and teenagers at a stage when it's easy for relationships to crumble or sour. It's also about behaviour: tricky adolescent behaviour but also our own, perhaps sometimes tricky adult behaviour. It's packed with skills and strategies proven to help parents communicate effectively with their children and develop their confidence. It's a book for all parents or carers but it's a particularly valuable resource for those whose adolescents are exhibiting behaviour that's challenging or whose mental state is causing concern. Many young people are suffering since Covid lockdown and support services often lack funding. When children suffer, parents suffer; they too need support. It's based on the principles of the evidence-based Take 3 parenting course written by the author when she was employed as a parenting worker for the Youth Offending Service.

The Emotionally Absent Mother, Second Edition: How to Recognize and Cope with the Invisible Effects of Childhood Emotional Neglect (Second) Jasmin Lee Cori, 2017-04-18. The groundbreaking guide to self-healing and getting the love you missed. Years ago I was on vacation and read The Emotionally Absent Mother. That book was one of many that woke me up. I began the process of reparenting and it's changed my life. Dr Nicole LePera, New York Times bestselling author of How to Do the Work. Was your mother preoccupied, distant, or even demeaning? Have you struggled with relationships or with your own self-worth? Often the grown children of emotionally absent mothers can't quite put a finger on what's missing from their lives. The children of abusive mothers, by contrast, may recognize the abuse but overlook its lasting harmful effects. Psychotherapist Jasmin Lee Cori has helped thousands of men and women heal the hidden wounds left by every kind of undermothering. In this second edition of her pioneering book, with compassion for mother and child alike, she explains possible reasons your mother was distracted or hurtful and what she was unable to give. The lasting impact of childhood emotional neglect and abuse. How to find the child inside you and fill the mother gap through reflections and exercises. How to secure a happier future for yourself and perhaps for your children.

How Much Is Too Much? [previously published as How Much Is Enough?] Jean Illsley Clarke, Connie Dawson, David Bredehoft, 2014-01-07. A down-to-earth guide to regaining control of your kids and your family. Overindulgence is not the badge of a bad parent. In fact, it comes directly from having a good and generous heart. But despite our good intentions, the abundance we heap on our kids often becomes more than they need or can handle. Family and parenting experts Jean Illsley Clarke, Connie Dawson, and David Bredehoft help you to understand how damaging overindulgence can be for children. When you are overindulging and how to stop. Which methods work best to establish firm rules and structure. How to instill responsibility and independence in your kids. What to do when family and friends are overindulging your kids. What grandparents can do to help. Based on new research gathered over the past ten years, How Much Is Too Much gives you the insight and advice you need to put your children on track for a happy and successful life.

Self Esteem: A Family Affair Jean Illsley Clarke, 2011-11-03.
