- ⊙ What are some of the ways Hurston makes this more than just the story of a single individual? How does it go beyond that?
- ⊙ In what ways do the author and her white friend react differently to the music at the New World Cabaret. What does this signify?
- ⊙ Describe the author's perspective of contrast between black and white approaches to achieving things in life.
- ⊙ What is the point she is trying to make in paragraph 17? Do you think she is right? Why or why not?
- ⊙ Recall a time someone made an assumption about you based upon the color of your skin. How did it make you feel? What did you do about it?
- ⊙ What role do you think race plays in today's society?

Women, America, and Movement Susan L. Roberson, 1998 Since the colonial days American women have traveled migrated and relocated always faced with the challenge of reconstructing their homes for themselves and their families Women America and Movement offers a journey through largely unexplored territory the experiences of migrating American women These narratives both real and imagined represent a range of personal and critical perspectives some of the women describe their travels as expansive and freeing while others relate the dreadful costs and sacrifices of relocating Despite the range of essays featured in this study the writings all coalesce around the issues of politics poetry and self identity described by Adrienne Rich as the elements of the politics of location treated here as the politics of relocation The narratives featured in this book explore the impact of race class and sexual economics on migratory women their self identity and their roles in family and social life These issues demonstrate that in addition to geographic place ideology is itself a space to be traversed By examining the writings of such women as Louise Erdrich Zora Neale Hurston and Gertrude Stein the essayists included in this volume offer a variety of experiences The book confronts such issues as racist politicking against Native Americans African Americans and Asian immigrants sexist attitudes that limit women to the roles of wife mother and sexual object and exploitation of migrants from Appalachia and of women newly arrived in America These essays also delve into the writings themselves by looking at what happens to narrative structure as authors or their characters cross geographic boundaries The reader sees how women writers negotiate relocation in their texts and how the written word becomes a place where one finds oneself From

Anthropologist Jennifer L. Freeman Marshall, 2023-02-28 Iconic as a novelist and popular cultural figure Zora Neale Hurston remains underappreciated as an anthropologist Is it inevitable that Hurston's literary authority should eclipse her anthropological authority If not what socio cultural and institutional values and processes shape the different ways we read her work Jennifer L Freeman Marshall considers the polar receptions to Hurston's two areas of achievement by examining the critical response to her work across both fields Drawing on a wide range of readings Freeman Marshall explores Hurston's popular appeal as iconography her elevation into the literary canon her concurrent marginalization in anthropology despite her significant contributions and her place within constructions of Black feminist literary traditions Perceptive and original Ain't I an Anthropologist is an overdue reassessment of Zora Neale Hurston's place in American cultural and intellectual life

Daughters of the Revolution James D. Lester, 1996 Raise Your Voices Thomas M. McCann, Andrew Bouque, Dawn Forde, Elizabeth A. Kahn, Carolyn C. Walter, 2018-11-06 In a collection of chapters from high school teachers and university researchers Raise Your Voices offers English language arts teachers one stop shopping to learn how to foster dialogic classrooms and how to prompt sustain connect and assess classroom discussions especially discussions about issues that adolescents find consequential The chapters explore both the basics for facilitating discussion to support literacy learning and the principles for assessing the progress and effect of discussion and for including all students in lively dialogue Taken together the entries in this book envision the English language arts classroom as a supportive environment for authentic inquiry and for the genuine democratic processes involved in grappling together with tough perennial and contemporary issues

Black Women, Writing and Identity Carole Boyce-Davies, 2002-09-11 Black Women Writing and Identity is an exciting work by one of the most imaginative and acute writers around. The book explores a complex and fascinating set of interrelated issues establishing the significance of such wide ranging subjects as re mapping re naming and cultural crossings tourist ideologies and playful world travelling gender heritage and identity African women's writing and resistance to domination marginality effacement and decentering gender language and the politics of location. Carole Boyce Davies is at the forefront of attempts to broaden the discourse surrounding the representation of and by black women and women of colour. Black Women Writing and Identity represents an extraordinary achievement in this field taking our understanding of identity location and representation to new levels

Toni Morrison and Literary Tradition Justine Baillie, 2013-08-01 Choice Outstanding Academic Title 2014 Toni Morrison and Literary Tradition explores Toni Morrison's construction of alternative and oppositional narratives of history and places her work as central to the imagining and re imagining of American and diasporic identities. Covering the Nobel Prize winning author's novels up to Home as well as her essays dramatic works and short stories this book situates Morrison's writings within both African American and American writing traditions and examines them in terms of her continuous dialogue with the politics philosophy and literary forms of these traditions. Toni Morrison and Literary Tradition provides a comprehensive analysis of Morrison's entire oeuvre from her early interrogation of Black Power to her engagement with fin de siècle postcolonial critiques of nationalism and twenty first century considerations of ecology. Justine Baillie goes on to argue that Morrison's aesthetic should be understood in relation to the historical political and cultural contexts in which it and the African American and American literary traditions upon which she draws have been created and developed

Multicultural Perspectives David W. Foote, Margaret Grauff Forst, Mary Hynes-Berry, Julie West Johnson, Basia C. Miller, Brenda Pierce Perkins, 1993

Dissent and Marginality Kiyoshi Tsuchiya, 1997-12-13 Twelve essays responding to the proposed title Dissent and Marginality each with a specific perspective and solid research are brought together here. The collection incorporates the historical and contemporary dimensions tracing back religious philosophical or social dissent in our history and addressing the issue of race gender sexuality and other forms of marginalization of our postmodern times. It offers a train of fine reading to theologians literary cultural or social critics and historians

Ethnic Modernisms D. Konzett, 2002-11-08 This study explores a new understanding of modernism and ethnicity as put forward in the transnational and diasporic writings of Anzia Yeziarska Zora Neale Hurston and Jean Rhys. In its selection of three modernists from apparently different cultural backgrounds it is meant to make us rethink the role of modernism in terms of ethnicity and displacement. Konzett critiques the traditional understanding of the monocultural ethnic identity often highlighted in the studies of these writers and argues that all three writers are better understood as ironic narrators of diaspora and movement and as avant garde modernists As a result they offer an alternative aesthetics of modernism which is centered around the innovative narration of displacement Her analysis of the complexities of language and form and impact of the complex and ambiguous formal styles of the three writers on the history of their reception is a model of the effective integration of formalist historicist and theoretical perspectives in literary criticism Empire in the Air Chandra D. Bhimull, 2017-12-12 Honorable Mention 2019 Victor Turner Prize in Ethnographic Writing given by the Society for Humanistic Anthropology Honorable Mention 2019 Sharon Stephens Prize given by the American Ethnological Society Examines the role that race played in the inception of the airline industry Empire in the Air is at once a history of aviation and an examination of how air travel changed lives along the transatlantic corridor of the African diaspora Focusing on Britain and its Caribbean colonies Chandra Bhimull reveals how the black West Indies shaped the development of British Airways Bhimull offers a unique analysis of early airline travel illuminating the links among empire aviation and diaspora and in doing so provides insights into how racially oppressed people experienced air travel The emergence of artificial flight revolutionized the movement of people and power and Bhimull makes the connection between airplanes and the other vessels that have helped make and maintain the African diaspora the slave ships of the Middle Passage the tracks of the Underground Railroad and Marcus Garvey's black owned ocean liner As a new technology airline travel retained the racist ideas and practices that were embedded in British imperialism and these ideas shaped every aspect of how commercial aviation developed from how airline routes were set to who could travel easily and who could not The author concludes with a look at airline travel today suggesting that racism is still enmeshed in the banalities of contemporary flight Short Stories in the Classroom Carole L.
