How Professors Think Inside The Curious World Of Academic Judgment:

How Professors Think Michèle Lamont, 2009-03-31 Everyone in academia stresses quality But what exactly is it and how do professors identify it Michèle Lamont observed deliberations for fellowships and research grants and interviewed panel members at length In How Professors Think she reveals what she discovered about this secretive powerful peculiar world Lamont aims to illuminate the confidential process of evaluation and to push the gatekeepers to both better understand and perform their role

Sojourning in Disciplinary Cultures Maureen Mathison, 2019-04-15 Sojourning in Disciplinary Cultures describes a multiyear project to develop a writing curriculum within the College of Engineering that satisfied the cultural needs of both compositionists and engineers at a large R1 university Employing intercultural communication theory and an approach to interdisciplinary collaboration that involved all parties cross disciplinary colleagues were able to develop useful descriptions of the process of integrating writing with engineering overcoming conflicts and misunderstandings about the nature of writing gender bias hard science versus soft science tensions and many other challenges This volume represents the collective experiences and insights of writing consultants involved in the large scale curriculum reform of the entire College of Engineering they collaborated closely with faculty members of the various departments and taught writing to engineering students in engineering classrooms Collaborators developed syllabi that incorporated writing into their courses in meaningful ways designed lessons to teach various aspects of writing created assignments that integrated engineering and writing theory and concepts and worked one on one with students to provide revision feedback Though interactions were sometimes tense the two groups writing and engineering developed a third culture that generally placed students at the center of learning Sojourning in Disciplinary Cultures provides a guide to successful collaborations with STEM faculty that will be of interest to WPAs instructors and a range of both composition scholars and practitioners seeking to understand more about the role of writing and communication in STEM disciplines Contributors Linn K Bekins Sarah A Bell Mara K Berkland Doug Downs April A Kedrowicz Sarah Read Julie L Taylor Sundy Watanabe The Palgrave International Handbook of Marxism and Education Richard Hall, Inny Accioly, Krystian Szadkowski, 2023-11-07 The Palgrave International Handbook of Marxism and Education is an international and interdisciplinary volume which provides a thorough and precise engagement with emergent developments in Marxist theory in both the global South and North Drawing on the work of authoritative scholars and practitioners the handbook explicitly shows how these developments enable a rich historical and material understanding of the full range of education sectors and contexts The handbook proceeds in a spirit of openness and dialogue within and between various conceptions and traditions of Marxism and brings those conceptions into dialogue with their critics and other anti capitalist traditions As such it contributes to the development of Marxist analyses that push beyond established limits by engaging with fresh perspectives and views that disrupt established perspectives

How to Get Grant Money in the Humanities and Social Sciences Raphael Brewster

Folsom,2019-01-08 A valuable and engaging guide to applying for and getting grants in the humanities and social sciences. Scholars in the humanities and social sciences need money to do research. This book shows them how to get it. In this accessible volume Raphael Folsom shares proven strategies in a series of short witty chapters. It features tips on how graduate students, postdocs, and young faculty members can present themselves and their work in the best possible light. The book covers the basics of the grant writing process, including finding a mentor, organizing a writing workshop, conceptualizing the project on a larger scale, and tailoring an application for specific submissions. The book includes interviews with nine of the most respected scholars in the country, each of whom has evaluated thousands of grant applications. The first authoritative book on the subject, Folsom's indispensable work will become a must-have resource for years to come.

Interdisciplinarity and Problem-Based Learning in Higher Education Annie Aarup Jensen, Diana Stentoft, Ole Ravn,2019-09-14 This book addresses the relation between Problem Based Learning (PBL) and interdisciplinarity and challenges the often implicit assumption that PBL leads to interdisciplinarity by default. The book examines theoretical and philosophical aspects of PBL and interdisciplinary learning. The first part of the book conceptualises the notions of problem based learning and interdisciplinary learning and highlights some key overlaps and ways of conceiving of their interrelatedness. It discusses the role of problem based medical education in relation to interdisciplinary professionalism in medical education. Taking the reader into the realm of techno anthropology, the book discusses the role of problems and projects in transgressing disciplines and presents an analysis of three challenges facing new students when entering interdisciplinary and problem based higher education. The second part of the book focuses on practicing interdisciplinarity in problem based higher education. It explores how the construction of problems in interdisciplinary PBL projects can be seen from the perspectives of multicultural groups and examines group processes in interdisciplinary PBL projects. It concludes by taking a closer look at student practices in interdisciplinary PBL and at how students are positioned and position themselves in the complex transdisciplinary PBL project.

Defy Dr. Sunita Sah,2025-01-14 Why is it so hard to speak up even when we know something's wrong? This is the definitive book on defiance: a clear-eyed dissection of the forces that silence us, featuring groundbreaking research and legendary stories alongside everyday examples and strategies for how to unleash the power of a True No. Many of us comply much more than we realize. How many times have you wanted to object, disagree, or opt out of something but ended up swallowing your words, shaking your head, and just going along? Analyzing cases ranging from corporate corruption and sexual abuse to everyday acquiescence at work, the doctor's office, and in our personal lives, award-winning organizational psychologist Dr. Sunita Sah delves deep into why the pressure to comply is a corrosive and often invisible force in our society. With her own revelatory research, she radically transforms our idea of defiance from a misunderstood negative trait into a crucial positive force for personal and societal change. Taking us through her five stages of defiance, Dr. Sah equips readers with simple tools to make decisions that align with their values. Defy is the essential

Shakespeare and the Digital World Christie Carson, Peter Kirwan, 2014-06-12 Due to the unique cultural capital of his works Shakespeare has long been the test subject for new methods and digital advances in arts scholarship Shakespeare sits at the forefront of the digital humanities in archiving teaching performance and editing impacting on scholars theatres and professional organisations alike The pace at which new technologies have developed is unprecedented and the pressure to keep up is only growing This book offers seventeen new essays that assess the opportunities and pitfalls presented by the twenty first century for the ongoing exploration of Shakespeare Through contributions from a broad range of scholars and practitioners including case studies from those working in the field the collection engages with the impact of the digital revolution on Shakespeare studies By assessing and mediating this sometimes controversial digital technology the book is relevant to those interested in the digital humanities as well as to Shakespeare scholars and enthusiasts

Advancing Pluralism in Teaching Economics Samuel Decker, Wolfram Elsner, Svenja Flechtner, 2018-09-03 The complex economic problems of the 21st century require a pluralist real world oriented and innovative discipline of economics that is capable of addressing and teaching these issues to students This volume is a state of the art compilation of diverse innovative and international perspectives on the rationales for and pathways towards pluralist economics teaching It fosters constructive controversy aiming to incite authors and commentators to engage in fruitful debates This volume addresses a number of key questions Why is it important for a social science to engage in pluralistic teaching What issues does pluralist teaching face in different national contexts Which traditions and practices in economic teaching make pluralist teaching difficult What makes economics as a canonical textbook science particular and how could the rigid textbook system be innovated in a meaningful way What can we learn from school education and other social science disciplines Through examining these issues the editors have created a pluralist but cohesive book on teaching economics in the contemporary classroom drawing from ideas and examples from around the world Advancing Pluralism in Teaching Economics offers a valuable insight into the methodology and application of pluralist economics teaching It will be a great resource for those teaching economics at various levels as well as researchers

The Market in Mind Mark Dennis Robinson, 2019-07-23 A critical examination of translational medicine when private risk is transferred to the public sector and university research teams become tech startups for global investors A global shift has secretly transformed science and medicine Starting in 2003 biomedical research in the West has been reshaped by the emergence of translational science and medicine the idea that the aim of research is to translate findings as quickly as possible into medical products In The Market in Mind Mark Dennis Robinson charts this shift arguing that the new research paradigm has turned university research teams into small biotechnology startups and their industry partners into early stage investment firms There is also a larger surprising consequence from this shift according to Robinson translational science and medicine enable biopharmaceutical firms as part of a broader financial strategy to outsource the riskiest parts of research to nonprofit universities Robinson examines the implications of this new configuration What happens for example when universities absorb unknown levels of risk Robinson argues that in the years since the global financial crisis translational science and medicine has brought about the financialization of health Robinson explores such topics as shareholder anxiety and industry retreat from Alzheimer's and depression research how laboratory research is understood as health innovation even when there is no product the emergence of investor networking events as crucial for viewing science in a market context and the place of patients in research decisions Although translational medicine justifies itself by the goal of relieving patients suffering Robinson finds patients voices largely marginalized in translational neuroscience

Moments of Valuation Ariane Berthoin Antal, Michael Hutter, David Stark, 2015 The outcome of innovation processes are determined by complex historically grown valuation practices In this book a wide range of innovations are taken into consideration from small inventions like entertainment novelties to large societal changes through new technologies The chapters observe the particular local or distributed sites in which their episodes of innovation take place and they identify the initial dissonance among those judging a newly proposed alternative. The emphasis of the inquiry, however, is on the practices of valuation that are at work when something succeeds in being new. The authors represent a wide variety of sub disciplines and national backgrounds in the social sciences. They share an interest in social valuation and a pragmatist approach. The differences between their empirical evidence reflect the wide variety of appearances that valuation takes in contemporary society. They are anthropologists, economic or cultural sociologists, organization researchers, historians or political scientists. A number of chapters deals with aesthetic valuation as in the tasting of a new vintage or in the socio technical process that shaped successful synthesizer sounds. Other chapters discuss the judgment processes in organizations like architect offices or consultancy firms and processes of evaluation and valorization in larger fields of practice like accounting or mathematics. The studies are both of interest in their various professional fields and contribute to a more general understanding of the social and cultural conditions under which innovations fail and succeed.
