How Institutions Think Routledge Revivals:

Thinking About The Curriculum (Routledge Revivals) William Reid, 2013-10-14 First published in 1978 this book looks at the curriculum crisis of the 1970s examining the effect it has had for Curriculum Studies and curriculum policy making. It focuses on a time when long established structures and procedures were challenged and schools were accused of having lost touch with the wants and needs of communities. The author argues that the curriculum should become part of community interest and be led by this rather than by professionals and initiates. Indeed he feels that the curriculum must have an identity which avoids alliances with technocrats, bureaucrats or ideologues but yet has a positive philosophy and a commitment to good values.

Recreating Sexual Politics (Routledge Revivals) Victor Seidler, 2009-12-15 This thought provoking book first published in 1991 examines sexual politics in a world which is being radically changed by the challenges of feminism. Seidler explores how men have responded to feminism and the contradictory feelings men have towards dominant forms of masculinity. Seidler's stimulating and original analysis of social and political theory connects personally to everyday issues in people's lives. It reflects the growing importance of sexual and personal politics within contemporary politics and culture and demonstrates clearly the challenge that feminism brings to our inherited forms of morality, politics and sexuality.

The Phenomenon of Money (Routledge Revivals) Thomas Crump, 2011 First published in 1981 this book concerns itself with the different ways in which money is used, the relationships which then arise and the institutions concerned in maintaining its various functions. Thomas Crump examines the emergence of institutions with familiar and distinctive monetary roles: the state, the market and the banking system. However other uses of money such as for gambling or the payment of fines are also taken into account in an exhaustive encyclopedic treatment of the subject which extends far beyond the range of conventional treatises on money.

Raymond Williams on Television (Routledge Revivals) Raymond Williams, 2013-05-13 First Published in 1989 this work is based around a monthly TV column which Raymond Williams wrote for The Listener between 1968 and 1972. Those were the years of the Prague Spring, of anti Vietnam war demonstrations of fighting in Cambodia and Northern Ireland, of hope for McGovern in the United States and attacks on the Wilson Labour Government in Britain. In The Listener articles Williams comments on all of these events providing a rare glimpse not only into the events of his daily life but also into the continuing development of a personal sociology of culture. The articles also discuss such television forms as detective series, science programmes and sports travelogue, education, gardening and children's programming. The book also includes Williams' key lecture Drama in a Dramatised Society which sets a framework for his analysis, a London Review of Books piece on the Falklands/Malvinas adventure as a tele-war and an interview with Williams on television and teaching. Cited by The Guardian as 'The foremost political thinker of his generation' Williams' writing amounts to a primer on ways of watching television and of critiquing its profound social and political impact.

Thinking about Nature (Routledge Revivals) Andrew Brennan, 2014-07-16 Ecology unlike astronomy, physics or chemistry is a science with an associated political and ethical movement the Green Movement As a result the ecological position is often accompanied by appeals to holism and by a mystical quasi religious conception of the ecosystem In this title first published in 1988 Andrew Brennan argues that we can reduce much of the mysticism surrounding ecological discussions by placing them within a larger context and illustrating that our individual interests are bound with larger community interests Using an interdisciplinary approach which bridges the gap between the sciences philosophy and ethics this is an accessible title which will be of particular value to students with an interest in the philosophy of environmental science and ethics

Reciprocity (Routledge Revivals) Lawrence C. Becker, 2014-06-17 The tendency to reciprocate to return good for good and evil for evil is a potent force in human life and the concept of reciprocity is closely connected to fundamental notions of justice obligation or duty gratitude and equality In Reciprocity first published in 1986 Lawrence Becker presents a sustained argument about reciprocity beginning with the strategy for developing a moral theory of the virtues He considers the concept of reciprocity in detail contending that it is a basic virtue that provides the basis for parental authority obligations to future generations and obedience to law Throughout the first two parts of the book Becker intersperses short pieces of his own narrative fiction to enrich reflection on the philosophical arguments The final part is devoted to extensive bibliographical essays ranging over anthropology psychology political theory and law as well as the relevant ethics and political philosophy

The Robert Hall Diaries 1947-1953 (Routledge Revivals) Alec Cairncross, 2014-06-17 Lord Roberthall was economic adviser to a succession of Labour and Conservative governments from 1947 to 1961 During that time he served under eight Chancellors and exercised more influence on economic policy than perhaps any other official Fortunately though it was contrary to Civil Service rules he kept a diary in which he documented and reflected on day to day events This first volume published in 1989 deals with the years between 1947 and 1953 in which Robert Hall acted as Director of the Economic Section and was faced with a variety of lingering uncertainties This is a highly readable and fascinating account of what went on inside government in the post war years The book provides a unique picture of the relationship between Whitehall and Downing Street and those people who shaped this challenging period in British economic history Edited by Sir Alec Cairncross who succeeded Lord Roberthall as Economic Adviser to HM Government in 1961 this reissue will interest any student researching policy and decision making in the post war period

The Material Culture and Social Institutions of the Simpler Peoples (Routledge Revivals) L. T. Hobhouse, G. C. Wheeler, M Ginsberg, 2013-06-17 Originally published in 1915 this pioneer study has long occupied an important place in the literature of sociology An exercise in the statistical correlation of the economic and social institutions of the working classes of the early twentieth century the book is an important link between contemporary sociology with a focus on the problems of social development and the classical social liberalism on which L T Hobhouse left his mark The reissue includes the introduction written by Morris Ginsberg in the 1965 reprint where he explains what he and his colleagues set out to achieve and responds to the criticism faced by the study This is a classic work which is still of great value to sociologists and anthropologists today The Status of Everyday Life (Routledge Revivals) Fiona Mackie, 2010-12 First Published in 2010 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

Prosperity and Public Spending (Routledge Revivals) Edward Nell, 2009-12-15 In a dramatic and well argued challenge to the prevailing wisdom Prosperity and Public Spending first published in 1988 contends that the failure of Keynesian economics has been due to its timidity Far from contracting the government must expand its powers and activities in order to achieve and maintain economic prosperity The need for such expansion arises from the fact that the system has developed from a craft based economy to a mass production network with sophisticated international finance This transformational growth brings about irreversible and sometimes devastating changes requiring government action Professor Nell argues that a lack of government action in the decade prior to the book's initial publication was responsible for the stagnation of the economy and he asserts that this could only be overcome by a determined policy intervention and the political will to achieve dominance over private capital

Essays on Fiction 1971-82 (Routledge Revivals) Sir Frank Kermode, 2015-06-11 In this book which was first published in 1983 Frank Kermode looks in particular at the revived Russian Formalism a highly original body of literary theory that flourished in the years immediately following the Revolution and at the work of Roman Jakobson one of its most distinguished exponents He discusses its modern structuralist descendants recalling the importance of Roland Barthes and the invigorating effect of his fertile and surprising mind He considers also the work of Foucault Lacan and Levi Strauss as well as that of Jacques Derrida which uses a novel and deconstructive method of analysis to question tacit assumptions on which structuralism is based In an opening chapter Professor Kermode surveys his relationship with the new theory explaining that it is a relation from which he has benefited without ever feeling disposed to join a movement These essays will be of interest to students of literature

Man and the Social Sciences (Routledge Revivals) William Alexander Robson, 2014-02-04 One of the most significant movements in the world of learning in the twentieth century was the rise and development of the social sciences However few attempts have been made to see how far social scientists have travelled on the road to studying and understanding human society First published in 1972 the lectures reprinted in this book aim to trace the development of the social sciences during the twentieth century and to show the role of the London School of Economics and Political Science in this development since it was founded in 1895 Each of the very distinguished lecturers was asked to take the larger view to be critical where necessary to treat his subject in the context of the world of learning The result is a survey of exceptional interest in which the growth of the social sciences is analysed from a number of contrasting viewpoints each of which ranges widely and often with provocative brilliance over themes that are of general concern The introduction by Professor W A Robson which was not part of the original lecture series is in itself a critical assessment of the field that will be read with close attention

Critics of Society (Routledge Revivals) Tom B. Bottomore, 2013-05-13 First published in 1967 this essay in the interpretation of radical social thought deals mainly with the

radical theorists rather than the doctrines of social and political movements but makes an exception in an important discussion of the new radicalism of the 1960s The author s main concern is to lay bare the connections between intellectual dissent and theories of society and in so doing to explore the neglected subject of the heritage of American radical thinking Readers of this book will not only emerge enlightened by Professor Bottomore s impressive knowledge of American radical thought but with a greatly increased understanding of contemporary American history He ends with the question of whether the new radicalism can find a firmer basis than the student movement or the negro revolt cn produce an ideology both responsive to the doubts and complexities of our time and capable of directing action to plausible ends Semantics and Social Science Graham MacDonald, Philip Pettit, 2011-03-31 Originally published in 1980 this book examines the major issues in the philosophy of social science paying specific attention to cross cultural understanding humanism versus scientism individualism versus collectivism and the shaping of theory by evaluative commitment Arguing for a cross cultural conception of human beings the authors defend humanism and individualism and reject the notion that social inquiry is necessarily vitiated by an adherence to values Artisans and Politics in Early Nineteenth-Century London (Routledge Revivals) Iorwerth Prothero, 2013-10-14 First published in 1979 this book was the first full length study of working class movements in London between 1800 and the beginnings of Chartism in the later 1830s The leaders and rank and file in these movements were almost invariably artisans and this book examines the position of the skilled artisan in politics Starting from the social ideals outlook and the experience of the London artisan Dr Prothero describes trade union political co operative educational and intellectual movements in the first forty years of the century Setting a scene of alternating growth and contraction in trade successive hostile governments and the increasing articulation of working class consciousness the author shows that artisans could be no less militant radical or anti capitalist than other groups of working class men

Psychology and Ethical Development (Routledge Revivals) R. S. Peters, 2015-08-11 First published in 1974 this book presents a coherent collection of major articles by Richard Stanley Peters It displays his work on psychology and philosophy with special attention given to the areas of ethical development and human understanding The book is split into four parts The first combines a critique of psychological theories especially those of Freud Piaget and the Behaviourists with some articles on the nature and development of reason and the emotions The second looks in historical order at ethical development The third part combines a novel approach to the problem of understanding other people whilst the fourth part is biographical in an unusual way The volume can be viewed as a companion to the author s Ethics and Education and will appeal to students and teachers of education philosophy and psychology as well as to the interested non specialist reader

Rostow, 2014-03-18 First published in 1975 this book traces the origins of our modern economy showing the routes by which nations have either achieved wealth or have been impoverished W W Rostow brings together issues of public policy international trade and the world of science and technology arguing that conventional economic thought has failed to relate scientific innovation to the economic process Chapters consider the politics of modernization the Commercial Revolution and the development of the world economy between 1783 and 1820
