Dean,2013-09-20 The conduct of a brave and patriotic woman during the First World War filled with details of espionage and life in an occupied country In 1914 Margriet Ballegeer a young woman from Contich near Antwerp joined the resistance in order to help sabotage the German occupation of Belgium throughout the war Despite the danger Margriet aged only 24 joined the local resistance group and later became part of a wider network of spies run by the British Intelligence Service from Rotterdam She stole identity papers and passports from the town hall where her father was Chief of Police and using these she was able to help young men escape Belgium and join the Allies Margriet acted as a courier for the resistance group using the cover of her shop to pass on messages and vital pieces of intelligence First arrested in 1915 and charged with forging documents Margriet spent six months in prison but on her release remained committed to the cause again joining a larger resistance group In 1917 Margriet was arrested for a second time and interrogated by the Germans after being betrayed by one of their recruits This time she was charged for spying and sentenced to death This is her story I Am Not Afraid of Looking into the Rifles Rick Stroud,2024-02-29 A thrilling narrative that creates an extraordinary picture of female resistance The Lady Fascinating Kavita Puri BBC History Magazine A fierce intense picture of this aspect of the war it will stay with me Elizabeth Buchan author of Two Women in Rome On the evening of 31 March 1916 a 23 year old woman was led from her prison cell in occupied Brussels She wore a long blue coat and walked like a soldier The chaplain asked if she would like a blindfold before her execution I am not afraid of looking into the rifles she replied I have been expecting this for a long time This is not a traditional history of the First World War It is the untold story of the women of the resistance in Belgium and occupied France during that conflict Rick Stroud describes how the actions of eight exceptionally brave women affected the course of the war Before the Germans invaded they were ordinary people some like Gabrielle Petit were working class some like Edith Cavell were from the bourgeoisie and some like the Princess de Cro were from the upper echelons of society The youngest was only twenty one The women took enormous risks and produced extraordinary results they established underground networks transmitted coded information carried out sabotage attacks and helped to repatriate Allied soldiers What they did was dangerous and exhausting and the penalties were severe three faced the firing squad Recounting their heroism and their inevitable tragedies I Am Not Afraid of Looking into the Rifles is an enthralling story beautifully told In revealing the inspiring work of these remarkable women Rick Stroud will introduce you to an entirely new version of the war to end all wars
