Instructor's manual Edward Bradford Titchener,1905 The general purpose with which this book has been written is sufficiently indicated by its title I have selected a number of the classical experiments of Experimental Psychology and have tried to present them in such a way that their performance shall have a real disciplinary value for the undergraduate student Within this general purpose my aim has been two fold I have sought to show in the first place that psychology is above the laboratory that we employ our instruments of precision not for their own sake but solely because they help us to a refined and more accurate introspection And secondly just as in my Outline of Psychology and Primer of Psychology I gave the results of experimentation a prominent place in the psychological system so here I have treated the selected experiments not as separate exercises but as points of departure for systematic discussion PsycINFO Database Record c 2005 APA all rights reserved Catalog of Copyright Entries. molecular genetics labs and microbiological cleanrooms with a long overdue study of the history and philosophy of science She radically rereads Descartes's key epistemological text Meditations on First Philosophy reframing the philosopher as a hands-on knowledge maker With this reading Boulboull subverts the pervasive modern conception of the disembodied knower and puts the hands-on experimenter at the heart of life sciences research In so doing she contributes a theoretical model for understanding how life processes on cellular and molecular levels are manually produced in today's techno-scientific spaces By reassessing the Cartesian legacy and arguing that epistemology should be grounded in the standpoint of a hands-on practitioner Boulboull offers the philosophical and historical foundation to understand and study contemporary life sciences research as multisensory embodied practices
