Women, Migration and Gendered Experiences Ermira Danaj, 2022-03-09 This open access book focuses on Albanian internal and international female migration and places gender at the heart of postsocialist transformation It explores the vulnerabilities that arise for female citizens from the contradictory policies produced by the Albanian state By illuminating the intersection of gender and migration it shows how Albanian women are likely to embed themselves in complex social relations and migration trajectories By focusing on various cases internal international return economic and student female migrants the book underlines that migration does not follow any kind of evolutionary development according to which women go from traditional to modern gender relations By providing a compelling account on the complex negotiations and tactics women employ to deal with gender inequalities this book leads to a better understanding of gender and migration entanglements It is a useful read to students academics in migration and gender studies as well as social scientists and policy makers in European countries

A Microhistory of Early Modern Transatlantic Migration Alejandro Salamanca Rodríguez, 2025-03-25 This microhistory of early modern transatlantic migration follows the journey of the Agata a Dutch frigate hired by Spanish merchants in 1747 to travel between Cádiz and Veracruz Manned by migrants from across Europe the Agata was intercepted by British privateers on its return trip an event that led to the preservation of most of the documents on board including a collection of personal letters Through a microscopical lens this book delves into the lives of some of the migrants linked to the Agata either as members of the crew a ship after all is a moving workplace as passengers or as people sending letters through the ship Their stories and anecdotes illustrate how early modern migrants in the Spanish Atlantic navigated the often restrictive migration laws stayed connected with family and friends back home sent remittances and gifts and built networks to support new migrants A Microhistory of Early Modern Transatlantic Migration is written for anyone interested in the history of migration regardless of their familiarity with the specific historical context It aims to engage both specialists and general readers interested in migration labour seafaring and social history This book also seeks to bridge some gaps between contemporary migration studies and migration history serving as an introduction to these fields for non specialist readers while providing new insights from unpublished sources not previously examined by other historians and offered in translation

Rethinking Case Study Research Lesley Bartlett, Frances Vavrus, 2016-11-10 Comparative case studies are an effective qualitative tool for researching the impact of policy and practice in various fields of social research including education Developed in response to the inadequacy of traditional case study approaches comparative case studies are highly effective because of their ability to synthesize information across time and space In Rethinking Case Study Research A Comparative Approach the authors describe explain and illustrate the horizontal vertical and transversal axes of comparative case studies in order to help readers develop their own comparative case study research designs In six concise chapters two experts employ geographically distinct case studies from Tanzania to Guatemala to the U S to show how this innovative approach applies to the operation of policy and practice across multiple social fields With examples and activities from anthropology development studies and policy studies this volume is written for researchers especially graduate students in the fields of education and the interpretive social sciences

Newcomers Navigating the Welfare State Hanne Vandermeersch, Elsa Mescoli, Jean-Michel Lafleur, Peter De Cuyper, 2023-12-15 The topic of social assistance for migrant newcomers often sparks heated public debate and remains a prominent concern on the policy agenda. Society has experienced a growing level of diversity. This reality gives rise to new demands and changing profiles of individuals who benefit from welfare services. Welfare institutions which are responsible for providing social assistance play a crucial role in granting access to social benefits for newcomers. Moreover, the provision of social assistance can significantly influence the settlement and integration processes of migrants. This book provides empirical insights into the alignment between the needs of newcomers and the service provided to them. It examines the accessibility of social assistance for newcomers from a comprehensive perspective encompassing aspects such as gaining access including equal access for all and service availability. By focusing on the Belgian Public Centres for Social Welfare as a case study, the authors explore the policies and practices related to social assistance and labour market activation for newcomers and the factors that influence individuals' access to their rights. By incorporating the perspectives of all the relevant stakeholders involved, drawing on the insights of social workers and managers as well as the experiences of newcomers themselves, this book offers a unique understanding of the interactions between immigrants, the welfare state, and street-level bureaucrats. It provides valuable insights for enhancing service provision, striving for a more inclusive approach.

Tourism in European Microstates and Dependencies Dallen J. Timothy, 2020-11-06 Tourism in European Microstates and Dependencies carefully examines the nuances and realities associated with tourism, social and economic development, geography, and geopolitics of Europe's smallest microstates and dependencies. Through case study-based material, the book covers the smallest states of Europe, the European dependencies inside Europe, and other unique territorial anomalies and unrecognized de facto states. It looks at how, besides small size and economy of scale, one of the characteristics that connects these unique states and territories is their dependence on tourism or their desire to develop it for their socio-economic well-being.

Challenging Multiculturalism Raymond Taras, 2012-12-17 Tackles the challenge of dismantling the multicultural model without destroying diversity in European society. Have Europeans become hostile to multiculturalism? When people vote for anti-immigration parties, do they also support their anti-multiculturalism policies? And are right-wing extremists becoming the storm troopers of the struggle against diversity? In recent years, European political leaders from Angela Merkel to David Cameron have discarded the term multiculturalism and now express scepticism, criticism, and even hostility towards multicultural ways of organising their societies. Yet they are unprepared to reverse the diversity existing in their states. These contradictory choices have different political consequences in the countries examined in this book. The future of European liberalism is being played out as multicultural notions of belonging, inclusion, tolerance, and the national home are brought into question.
