Host Guest Complex Chemistry Macrocycles F. Vögtle, E. Weber, 2012-12-06 The scientific and practical interest in coronands crown ethers cryptands podands as complexing agents for cations as well as for anions and neutral low molecular species is undeniable 1 2 The chemistry of crown compounds is steadily increasing About 250 original papers dealing with crown chemistry appeared only in 1980 New molecules with crown ether properties are constantly synthesized and new applications discovered Owing to lack of space only a small number of the original publications is mentioned here Thus in the literature compilation only some but relevant works are selected for each chapter Whenever possible reference is made to reviews or review like articles alone by means of which original works can be consulted The reviews given under ref 1 are considered to be the most relevant The formulae presented in the figures should be understood as representative structures outlining a specific field 2 Classification of Oligo Multidentate Neutral Ligands and of their Complexes Today a distinction is made between the classical ring oligoethers crown ethers and monocyclic coronands oligocyclic spherical cryptands and the acyclic podands with respect to topological aspects 3 This classification and the topology are illustrated in Fig 1 each figure representing the minimum number of donor atoms and chain segments characteristic of each class of compounds

Multidentate monocyclic ligands with any type of donor atoms are called coronands crown compounds while the term crown ether should be reserved for cyclic oligoethers exclusively containing oxygen as donor atom

Nanoscale Matter and Principles for Sensing and Labeling Applications Dambarudhar Mohanta, Purushottam Chakraborty, 2024-03-13 This book is a compilation of carefully chosen chapters that cover the subjects of nanoscale matter sensing and labelling applications. It is aimed primarily at scientists and researchers who are already involved in theme-based research or who are just starting their careers. Despite the diverse nature of the topics covered which include a range of materials in various forms and uses, the emphasis is primarily on sensing and labelling phenomena. The book begins with materials quantification in nanoscale systems by using an innovative technique like molecular secondary ion mass spectrometry without calibration standards. Subsequently, the book features an array of materials such as inorganic semiconductor nanoscale particles, carbon dots, rare earth oxides, polymer nanocomposites, and a few biomaterials, all of which illustrate their functionality and potential for deployment in a wide variety of sensing applications. Although the book delves into the technical aspects of fabrication, workouts to some extent, the focus is predominantly on the physical principles, mechanisms, and relevance involved in sensing and labelling applications. The book covers a wide range of topics that leverage the unique properties of nanoscale materials. By carefully selecting appropriate active materials, the authors explore the detection of LPG, hazardous and explosive gases, as well as humidity sensing and hydrogen evolution. It also delves into photo-sensing and persistent photoconductivity by using nanoscale semiconductors which are used for heavy metal sensing and UV sensing respectively. The use of metal nanoparticles in various forms is reviewed to address issues related to water contamination, biofilm protection, and food-borne pathogens. The book also discusses surface plasmon resonance, starting with its basic principles and expanding to its relevance in a broader perspective with a greater focus on applied biosensing. Nanoscale ferrites and magnetic systems are explored with an emphasis on magnetic sensing and actuation. Lastly, the book explores the use of rare earth-based nanosystems, highlighting persistent luminescence and up-down converted transitions which have unprecedented applications in bioimaging and biolabeling. Every effort has been made to strike a balance between the observed phenomena in the emerging areas of sensing applications and suitable theoretical treatments there in.
