Keys and Key Remover

There are two keys supplied with a removable key locking system. The key with the system head is your ignition key and also operates the car doors. The key with the round head locks and unlocks your trunk, glove box, fueling head release handle, handrail and some rear trunk lock(s). Both keys can be inserted in your glove.

When your keys are found just the key to your left, you will notice that the key attached to the door set has a round head. These keys are your door keys. If you should lose your keys, the key with the round head is the key to the lock. To replace the key, insert the key into the lock and turn it to the right. The key will be in the lock.

Ignition Switch Lock

The ignition switch is a key lock. The key is in the ignition switch. When you turn the key to the right, the ignition switch will lock. When you turn the key to the left, the ignition switch will unlock.

The ignition switch will be in the locked position when the key is in the ignition switch. To the left of the ignition switch is a key lock. When you turn the key to the right, the ignition switch will lock. When you turn the key to the left, the ignition switch will unlock.

In the ignition switch, the key is turned to the right and the key is in the lock. When the key is turned to the right, the key is in the lock. When the key is turned to the left, the key is out of the lock.
