Listening To The Silences Women And War International Humanitarian Law:

Listening to the Silences Helen Durham, Tracey Gurd, 2005 Demonstrates that women are taking on increasingly less traditional roles during war and that these roles are multifaceted complicated and sometimes contradictory Reveals that women s requirements during times of war will continue to be inadequate so long as we continue silencing the differing perspectives Australian editors Listening to the Silences: Women and War Helen Durham, Tracey Gurd, 2005-06-01 Challenging the perception that women are exclusively the victims the caregivers or the passive supporters of men in times of armed conflict Listening to the Silences Women and War exposes the reader to a diversity of women s voices These voices both personal and academic demonstrate that women are increasingly taking on less traditional roles during war and that these roles are multifaceted complicated and sometimes contradictory The experiences of a judge forensic anthropologist survivor of sexual slavery soldier activist journalist humanitarian worker and others provide the reader with the opportunity to consider the depth of women s involvement in armed conflict Their voices highlight the fact that the international community at large has historically failed to listen to women even as they have tried to tell their own individual tales of horror heroism courage devastation betrayal violence and integrity during armed conflict Concurrently the book examines in detail the legal infrastructure in this area including debates on the adequacy of international law developments in jurisprudence and the implementation of international resolutions This book reveals that responses to women s requirements during times of war will continue to be inadequate so long as we persist in silencing these differing perspectives and fail to take account of women s dynamic and changing needs during war Listening to the Silences Women and War is a collection of women s voices each of which makes a unique contribution to a topic that is gathering international momentum and interest The perspectives of these women greatly enhance our understanding of the gendered dimensions of armed conflict they help to move the discourse beyond silence and towards inclusion greater understanding and peace The Handbook of International Humanitarian Law Dieter Fleck, 2008-01-24 This fully updated second edition the work previously known as The Handbook of Humanitarian Law in Armed Conflicts sets out an international manual of humanitarian law in armed conflicts accompanied by case analysis and extensive explanatory commentary by a team of distinguished and internationally renowned experts Topics examined include the historical development legal basis and scope of application of international humanitarian law methods and means of combat protection of the civilian population and of the wounded sick or shipwrecked and of prisoners of war the protection of cultural property the law of neutrality and the enforcement of international humanitarian law This edition also incorporates new chapters covering the law of non international armed conflicts and international peace operations Highly topical issues including the role of the UN security council the relevance of International Humanitarian Law in peacetime and post conflict military operations and enforcement through trials for war crimes in national and international courts are also discussed International Humanitarian Law and Human Rights

Law Roberta Arnold, Noëlle N. R. Quénivet, 2008 Drawing upon previous theories on the relationship between human rights law and international humanitarian law this book examines on the basis of a series of individual case studies the new theoretical trend arguing for a merge of these two sets of norms Reproductive Violence and International Criminal Law Tanja Altunjan, 2021-03-13 This book deals with the phenomenon of conflict related reproductive violence and explores the international legal framework's capacity to respond to it The international discourse on gender based violence in conflicts tends to focus on sexualized crimes which leads to incomplete narratives of the gendered dimensions of armed conflicts In particular international law has often remained silent on conflict related violence affecting or aimed at the victim's reproductive system The author conceptualizes reproductive violence as a distinct manifestation of gender based violence and a violation of reproductive autonomy The analysis explores the historical approaches to reproductive violence and evaluates the current potentials of international criminal law for its prosecution as genocide crimes against humanity and war crimes In this regard it also develops proposals for a gender sensitive interpretation of the existing legal framework as well as possible amendments to it The book is aimed at researchers and practitioners in the fields of international criminal justice and international human rights law with an interest in gender perspectives on international law sexualized and gender based violence and the discourse on reproductive human rights Tanja Altunjan is a former researcher at Humboldt Universität zu Berlin where she obtained her doctoral degree in criminal law

Commentary on the Third Geneva Convention, 2021-09-09 The application and interpretation of the four Geneva Conventions of 1949 and their two Additional Protocols of 1977 have developed significantly in the seventy years since the International Committee of the Red Cross ICRC first published its Commentaries on these important humanitarian treaties To promote a better understanding of and respect for this body of law the ICRC commissioned a comprehensive update of its original Commentaries of which this is the third volume The Third Convention relative to the treatment of prisoners of war and their protections takes into account developments in the law and practice in the past seven decades to provide up to date interpretations of the Convention The new Commentary has been reviewed by humanitarian law practitioners and academics from around the world This new Commentary will be an essential tool for anyone involved with international humanitarian law

Truth Without Reconciliation Abena Ampofo Asare, 2018-07-31 Abena Ampofo Asare identifies the documents testimonies and petitions gathered by Ghana's National Reconciliation Commission as a portal to an unprecedented public archive of Ghanaian political history as told by the self described survivors of human rights abuse The 1949 Geneva Conventions Andrew Clapham, Paola Gaeta, Marco Sassòli, 2015-10-15 The four Geneva Conventions adopted in 1949 remain the fundamental basis of contemporary international humanitarian law They protect the wounded and sick on the battlefield those wounded sick or shipwrecked at sea prisoners of war and civilians in time of war However since they were adopted warfare has changed considerably In this groundbreaking commentary over sixty international law experts investigate the application of the

Geneva Conventions and explain how they should be interpreted today It places the Conventions in the light of the developing obligations imposed by international law on states armed groups and individuals most notably through international human rights law and international criminal law The context in which the Conventions are to be applied and interpreted has changed considerably since they were first written The borderline between international and non international armed conflicts is not as clear cut as was once thought and is complicated further by the use of armed force mandated by the United Nations and the complex mixed and transnational nature of certain non international armed conflicts The influence of other developing branches of international law such as human rights law and refugee law has been considerable The development of international criminal law has breathed new life into multiple provisions of the Geneva Conventions This commentary adopts a thematic approach to provide detailed analysis of each key issue dealt with by the Conventions taking into account both judicial decisions and state practice Cross cutting chapters on issues such as transnational conflicts and the geographical scope of the Conventions also give readers a full understanding of the meaning of the Geneva Conventions in their contemporary context Prepared under the auspices of the Geneva Academy of International Humanitarian Law and Human Rights this commentary on four of the most important treaties in international law is unmissable for anyone working in or studying situations of armed conflicts

The Law of Occupation Yutuka Arai, 2009-04-24 This monograph analyses the historical evolution of the laws of occupation as a special branch of international humanitarian law IHL focusing on the extent to which this body of law has been transformed by its interaction with the development of international human rights law It argues that a large part of the laws of occupation has proved to be malleable while being able to accommodate changing demands of civilians and any other persons affected by occupation in modern context Its examinations have drawn much on archival research into the drafting documents of the instruments of IHL including the aborted Brussels Declaration 1874 the 1899 1907 Hague Regulations the 1949 Geneva Conventions and the 1977 Additional Protocol I After assessing the complementary relationship between international human rights law and the laws of occupation the book examines how to provide a coherent explanation for an emerging framework on the rights of individual persons affected by occupation It engages in a theoretical appraisal of the role of customary IHL and the Martens clause in building up such a normative framework

Gender and Transitional Justice Susan Harris Rimmer, 2010-02-25. Gender and Transitional Justice provides the first comprehensive feminist analysis of the role of international law in formal transitional justice mechanisms. Using East Timor as a case study, it offers reflections on transitional justice administered by a UN transitional administration. Often presented as a UN success story, the author demonstrates that in spite of women and children's rights programmes of the UN and other donors, justice for women has deteriorated in post-conflict Timor and violence has remained a constant in their lives. This book provides a gendered analysis of transitional justice as a discipline. It is also one of the first studies to offer a comprehensive case study of how women engaged in the whole range of transitional mechanisms in a post-conflict state, i.e. domestic trials, internationalised trials and truth commissions. The book reveals the political dynamics in a post-conflict setting around gender and questions of justice and reframes the meanings of success and failure of international interventions in the light of them. Defining Rape: Emerging Obligations for States Under International Law? Maria Eriksson, 2011-10-28. The crime of rape has been prevalent in all contexts, whether committed during armed conflict or in peacetime, and has largely been characterised by a culture of impunity. International law, through its branches of international human rights law, international humanitarian law and international criminal law, has increasingly condemned such violence and is progressively obliging states to prevent rape, whether committed by a state agent or a private actor. The Right to Reparation in International Law for Victims of Armed Conflict E. Christine Evans, 2012-06-28. Christine Evans assesses the right to reparation for victims of armed conflict in international law and in national practice.
