Lee,2019-08-12 Fright a creature who lives in the stones of buildings they have recorded everything that has happened since dark metropolis was built Dark Metropolis is centuries old Buildings on top of buildings tell the story of Dark Metropolis and the people who have lived and died building it Their ghost are locked into the stones and at night they are set free to tell the living what has happened to them and give them a warning about how they are building their own tombs if they keep trying to control the forces of nature Urban Legends is the second story in the Dark Metropolis Trilogy      The Sphere Corneel Booysen,2011-02-03 The Sphere is a novel by Corneel Booysen The book describes the physical emotional and spiritual journey of a character named Victor that relocates to a foreign country with his family While the book initially describes the journey from a physical perspective and occasionally dwells on the emotional aspects associated with relocation it quickly turns into a deeper spiritual and emotional journey as the family joins an organization called the Sphere At first the family is overjoyed as they are immersed in a friendly and loving community For a period they experience a deep sense of belonging and revel in their perceived personal growth but several troublesome incidents and inconsistencies in the organization eventually leads to a growing feeling of cognitive dissonance Attempts to find answers lead Victor down a path of disillusion rejection and ultimately isolation as he unearths the real motivations of the organization he once held so dear At times the style of the narrative represents a literary abstract painting as the author wields the colors of the bizarre and the brush of symbolism to illustrate spiritual character progression that is perched on a canvas of evolving circumstances Ultimately the book puts the reader into the same position as the main character where every person is challenged with the same deep existential and spiritual questions regarding faith and organized religion

The shadow line Joseph Conrad, Ford Madox Ford, 1912      Cinematography in the Weimar Republic Paul Matthew St. Pierre, 2016-08-15 In film history director cinematographer collaborations were on a labor spectrum with the model of the contracted camera operator in the silent era and that of the cinematographer in the sound era But in Weimar era German filmmaking 1919-33 a short period of intense artistic activity and political and economic instability these models existed side by side due to the emergence of camera operators as independent visual artists and collaborators with directors Berlin in the 1920s was the chief site of the interdisciplinary avant garde of the Modernist movement in the visual literary architectural design typographical sartorial and performance arts in Europe The Weimar Revolution that arose in the aftermath of the November 1918 Armistice and that established the Weimar Republic informed and agitated all of the art movements such as Expressionism Dada the Bauhaus Minimalism Objectivism Verism and Neue Sachlichkeit New Objectivity Among the avant garde forms of these new stylistically and culturally negotiated arts the cinema was foremost and since its inception had been a radical experimental practice in new visual technologies that proved instrumental in changing how human beings perceived movement structure perspective light exposure temporal duration continuity spatial orientation human postural facial vocal and gestural displays and their own spectatorship as well as conventions of storytelling like narrative setting theme character and structure Whereas most of the arts mobilized into schools movements institutions and other structures cinema a collaborative art tended to organize around its ensembles of practitioners Historically the silent film era 1895-1927 is associated with auteurs the precursors of François Truffaut and other filmmakers in the 1960s actuality filmmakers and pioneers like R.W. Paul and Fred and Joe Evans in England Auguste and Louis Lumière and Georges Méliès in France and Charles Chaplin and Buster Keaton in America who by managing all the compositional executional and editorial facets of film production scripting directing acting photographing set costume and lighting design editing and marketing imposed their personal vision or authorship on the film The dichotomy of the auteur and the production ensemble established a production hierarchy in most filmmaking In formative German silent film however this hierarchy was less rank or class driven because collaborative partnerships took precedence over single authorship Whereas in silent film production in most countries the terms filmmaker and director were synonymous in German silent film the plural term filmemacherin connoted both directors and cinematographers along with the rest of the filmmaking crew Thus German silent filmmakers principle contribution to the new medium and art of film was less the representational iconographies of Expressionist New Objective and Naturalist styles than the executorial practice of co authorship and co production in distinctive cinematographer director partnerships such as those of cinematographer Theodor Sparkuhl and director Ernst Lubitsch Fritz Arno Wagner with F W Murnau Fritz Lang and G W Pabst Rudolf Mat with Carl Theodor Dreyer Guido Seeber with Lang and Pabst and Carl Hoffmann with Lang and Murnau
