The Red Scare and McCarthyism

Background and Overview

The Red Scare refers to the fear of communism that permeated American politics, culture, and society from the late 1940s through the 1950s. This period was marked by widespread concerns over the potential influence of Communist ideas in the United States, largely fueled by the Cold War tensions with the Soviet Union.

Key Events and Effects

During the Red Scare, there was a significant increase in anti-communist sentiment. This led to a series of government actions against suspected communists and left-leaning individuals, including the Smith Act trials and the activities of the House Un-American Activities Committee (HUAC). The Red Scare had a profound impact on American society, leading to the blacklisting of
