Brislin, 2013-10-22 Handbook of Intercultural Training Volume III Area Studies in Intercultural Training deals with information about the countries in which people will be living and working where trainers want new and better country specific information that can be incorporated into their programs This volume contains two parts wherein the first part deals with training in educational institutions where existing programs are examined An intercultural competence in bilingual teacher training programs is presented and the intercultural communications skills imparted to trainers teachers are examined Also addressed are methods to facilitate education on cross cultural matters to college level students To put cross cultural relations in perspective the topic of American and foreign students in the United States in a university context is discussed and its implications for theory future research and applied intercultural programming are further examined Part II is concerned with area studies and covers Sub Sahara Africa Islamic countries such as Iran Americans in Australia Oceania India Japan Canada and the American retiree abroad The inclusion of this section shows the types of content that can be included in the preparation of training programs Trainers and cross cultural workers foreign workers diplomats foreign students immigrants and even transients working and living in a different culture will find this volume a wealthy source of information      Handbook of intercultural training. vol. 2 Dan Landis, Richard W. Brislin, 1983      The Cambridge Handbook of Intercultural Training Dan Landis, Dharm P. S. Bhawuk, 2020-08-27 With the number of international migrants globally reaching an estimated 272 million United Nations report September 2019 the need for intercultural training is stronger than ever Since its first edition this handbook has evaluated the methodologies and suggested the best practice to develop effective programs aimed at facilitating cross cultural dialogue and boosting the economic developments of the countries mostly affected by migration This handbook builds and expands on the previous editions by presenting the rational and scientific foundations of intercultural training and focuses on unique approaches theories and areas of the world In doing so it gives students managers and other professionals undertaking international assignments a theoretical foundation and practical suggestions for improving intercultural training programs      Handbook of Intercultural Training: Issues in theory and design Dan Landis, Richard W. Brislin, 1983      Testing the Untestable in Language Education Amos Paran, Lies Sercu, 2010 The testing and assessment of language competence continues to be a much debated issue in foreign language teaching and research This book is the first one to address the testing of four important dimensions of foreign language education which have been left largely unconsidered learner autonomy intercultural competence literature and literary competence and the integration of content and language learning Each area is considered through a theoretical framework followed by two empirical studies raising questions of importance to all language teachers How can one test literary competence Can intercultural competence be measured What about the integrated assessment of content and language in CLIL and teaching Is progress in autonomous learning skill gaugeable The book constitutes essential reading for anyone interested in the testing and assessment of seemingly largely untestable aspects of foreign language competence The title of this book is well chosen Despite the apparent oxymoron this collection of papers succeeds in addressing important issues of educational policy and theory with the precision born of empirical work combined with discussion of principles This book will open new options for testers for teachers and for those who make policy decisions Michael Byram School of Education University of Durham UK
