Health And The Rise Of Civilization:

Health and the Rise of Civilization Mark Nathan Cohen, 2011 Health and the Rise of Civilization, 1989

Epidemics and Enslavement Paul Kelton, 2007-01-01 Tracing the pathology of early European encounters with Native peoples of the Southeast this work concludes that while indigenous peoples suffered from an array of ailments before contact Natives had their most significant experience with new germs long after initial contacts in the sixteenth century The Plague Cycle Charles Kenny, 2021-10-12 This history of mankind's battles against infectious diseases looks at how epidemics shaped empires and economies and how medical revolutions freed us from these cycles until new threats arose caused by changes in global trade and climate Plagues and the Paradox of Progress Thomas J. Bollyky, 2019-10-01 Why the news about the global decline of infectious diseases is not all good Plagues and parasites have played a central role in world affairs shaping the evolution of the modern state the growth of cities and the disparate fortunes of national economies This book tells that story but it is not about the resurgence of pestilence It is the story of its decline For the first time in recorded history virus bacteria and other infectious diseases are not the leading cause of death or disability in any region of the world People are living longer and fewer mothers are giving birth to many children in the hopes that some might survive And yet the news is not all good Recent reductions in infectious disease have not been accompanied by the same improvements in income job opportunities and governance that occurred with these changes in wealthier countries decades ago There have also been unintended consequences In this book Thomas Bollyky explores the paradox in our fight against infectious disease the world is getting healthier in ways that should make us worry Bollyky interweaves a grand historical narrative about the rise and fall of plagues in human societies with contemporary case studies of the consequences Bollyky visits Dhaka one of the most densely populated places on the planet to show how low cost health tools helped enable the phenomenon of poor world megacities He visits China and Kenya to illustrate how dramatic declines in plagues have affected national economies Bollyky traces the role of infectious disease in the migrations from Ireland before the potato famine and to Europe from Africa and elsewhere today Historic health achievements are remaking a world that is both worrisome and full of opportunities Whether the peril or promise of that progress prevails Bollyky explains depends on what we do next A Council on Foreign Relations Book Maps of Time David Christian, 2011-10-03 An introduction to a new way of looking at history from a perspective that stretches from the beginning of time to the present day Maps of Time is world history on an unprecedented scale Beginning with the Big Bang David Christian views the interaction of the natural world with the more recent arrivals in flora and fauna including human beings Cosmology geology archeology and population and environmental studies all figure in David Christian's account which is an ambitious overview of the emerging field of Big History Maps of Time opens with the origins of the universe the stars and the galaxies the sun and the solar system including the earth and conducts readers through the evolution of the planet before human habitation It surveys the development of human society from the Paleolithic era through the transition to agriculture the emergence of cities and states and the birth of the modern industrial period right up to intimations of possible futures Sweeping in scope finely focused in its minute detail this riveting account of the known world from the inception of space time to the prospects of global warming lays the groundwork for world history and Big History true as never before to its name Duel Without End Stig S. Frøland, 2022-06-20 From the bubonic plague to theoretical pathogens on other worlds a sweeping look at the past present and future of mass infections and how we battle them In this panoramic and up to date account we learn how the Black Death smallpox the 1918 influenza pandemic and other great epidemics have not only led to enormous suffering and mass death but have also contributed to the fall of empires and changed the course of history We also discover how new infectious diseases such as HIV AIDS and COVID 19 emerge and how we wage war against them Humanity has struck back at the microbes antibiotics and new vaccines have saved millions of lives But the battle with these relentless silent enemies is far from won We face increasing threats from new and unavoidable pandemics antibiotic resistance and even potential extraterrestrial microbes Duel Without End is a fascinating journey through the long history of infection from the dawn of life to humanity's future exploration of deep space

Against Civilization John Zerzan, 2005 Against Civilization first published in 1999 by Uncivilized Books and out of print for several years is the well regarded primer to Green Anarchism Anarcho Primitivism and the most radical but relevant form of anarchism to develop in the past decade Anarcho primitivism is a shorthand term for a radical current that critiques the totality of civilisation from an anarchist perspective and seeks to initiate a comprehensive transformation of human life Revised and expanded edition Humans Versus Nature Daniel R. Headrick, 2020 Since the appearance of Homo sapiens on the planet hundreds of thousands of years ago human beings have sought to exploit their environments extracting as many resources as their technological ingenuity has allowed As technologies have advanced in recent centuries that impulse has remained largely unchecked exponentially accelerating the human impact on the environment Humans versus Nature tells a history of the global environment from the Stone Age to the present emphasizing the adversarial relationship between the human and natural worlds Nature is cast as an active protagonist rather than a mere backdrop or victim of human malfeasance Daniel R Headrick shows how environmental changes epidemics climate shocks and volcanic eruptions have molded human societies and cultures sometimes overwhelming them At the same time he traces the history of anthropogenic changes in the environment species extinctions global warming deforestation and resource depletion back to the age of hunters and gatherers and the first farmers and herders He shows how human interventions such as irrigation systems over fishing and the Industrial Revolution have in turn harmed the very societies that initiated them Throughout Headrick examines how human driven environmental changes are interwoven with larger global systems dramatically reshaping the complex relationship between people and the natural world In doing so he roots the current environmental crisis in the deep past The Gender Politics of HIV/AIDS in Women Nancy Goldstein, Jennifer L Manlowe, 1997-06 From their posts at the center of the pandemic in the laboratory the academy clinics and community based organizations experts such as Evelyn Hammonds Risa Denenberg Michelle Murrain and Paul Farmer criticize blind spots in the recognition and treatment of HIV in women and articulate accessible and practical solutions to specific areas of difficulty

History of Civilizations Mayson Kirby, 2018-08-11 The History of Civilizations traces the history of man in this vast region from the Palaeolithic beginnings to circa 700 B C when the foundations for the formation of the great Empire were laid Many different elements must come together before a human community develops to the level of sophistication commonly referred to as civilization The first is the existence of settlements classifiable as towns or cities This requires food production to be efficient enough for a large minority of the community to be engaged in more specialized activities such as the creation of imposing buildings or works of art the practice of skilled warfare and above all the administration of a centralized bureaucracy capable of running the machinery of state Despite the major role played by Central Asia in shaping the history of the past and of today this vast region stretching from the Caspian Sea to Mongolia and western China had not been studied as a whole cultural entity in time and space This multi volume History of Civilizations of Central Asia published in English is the first attempt to present a comprehensive picture of the cultures that flourished and vanished at the heart of the Eurasian continent from the dawn of civilization to the present day The book is an engaging and thought provoking philosophical account that demonstrates that critical inquiry is an ongoing process with strains of continuity and evolution of Civilizations

The Three Axial Ages John Torpey, 2017-03-01 How should we think about the shape of human history since the birth of cities and where are we headed Sociologist and historian John Torpey proposes that the Axial Age of the first millennium BCE when some of the world's major religious and intellectual developments first emerged was only one of three such decisive periods that can be used to directly affect present social problems from economic inequality to ecological destruction Torpey's argument advances the idea that there are in fact three Axial Ages instead of one original Axial Age and several subsequent smaller developments Each of the three ages contributed decisively to how humanity lives and the difficulties it faces The earliest or original Axial Age was a moral one the second was material and revolved around the creation and use of physical objects and the third is chiefly mental and focused on the technological While there are profound risks and challenges Torpey shows how a worldview that combines the strengths of all three ages has the potential to usher in a period of exceptional human freedom and possibility

Between Freedom and Security Beata Piłtuła, Małgorzata Wyganowska, Piotr Mocek, 2023-11-13 Between Freedom and Security is an attempt at an interdisciplinary humanistic technical consideration of the problem of the need of the self-realizing human being to meet the requirements imposed on him by among other things technical norms and legal regulations which in a certain sense form the framework for his functioning in a sense the limitation of the individual and his subjective reception of freedom Recognizing that the need for freedom and the need for security are constitutive for the self-realizing subject the contributors present the different aspects of security and the constraints associated with it and make suggestions for bridging the existing dissonance between what is objectively necessary and what is subjectively and individually justified

The Dead Tell Tales Maria Cecilia Lozada, Barra O'Donnabhain, 2013-12-31 Honoring Jane Buikstra's pioneering work in the development of bioarchaeological research the essays in this volume stem from a symposium held at the annual meeting of the Society for American Archaeology Multiple generations of Buikstra's former doctoral students and other colleagues gathered to discuss the impact of her mentorship The essays are remarkable for their breadth in terms of both the topics discussed and the geographical range they cover The contributions highlight the dynamism of bioarchaeology which owes so much to the strong foundations laid down over the last few decades The volume documents the degree to which bioarchaeological approaches have become normalized and integrated into anthropological research bioarchaeology has moved out of the appendix and into the interpretation of archaeological data New perspectives have emerged partly in response to theoretical changes within anthropology but also as a result of the engagement of the broader discipline with bioarchaeology
