Replication Manual David Keogh,Tim Wood,United Nations ICT Task Force,2005 Why is it such a challenge to provide telecommunications to rural areas High initial infrastructure investment relative low call volumes high maintenance costs due to harsh environments cash box collection needs cash security costs for coin operated phones card availability for prepaid airtime systems technical illiteracy remote locations and high transportation costs are just some of the impediments to providing rural telecommunications access This manual is based on the experiences of the Village Phone Programmes in Bangladesh and Uganda In rural villages where no telecommunications services have previously existed the programme provides cellular phones via a sustainable financing mechanism to poor entrepreneurs who use the phone to operate a business Such has been the success that over 2 000 village phone businesses are now operating in remote villages of Uganda This manual is a guideline for replicating the programme in a new country It establishes a template for creating sustainable initiatives that bring telecommunications to the poor create viable new businesses for micro entrepreneurs and expand the customer base for telecommunications companies Communications Equipment, Thailand ,1981 The Oxford

Handbook of Mobile Music Studies, Volume 2 Sumanth Gopinath,Jason Stanyek,2014-03-21 The two volumes of The Oxford Handbook of Mobile Music Studies consolidate an area of scholarly inquiry that addresses how mechanical electrical and digital technologies and their corresponding economies of scale have rendered music and sound increasingly mobile portable fungible and ubiquitous At once a marketing term a common mode of everyday life performance and an instigator of experimental aesthetics mobile music opens up a space for studying the momentous transformations in the production distribution consumption and experience of music and sound that took place between the late nineteenth and the early twenty first centuries Taken together the two volumes cover a large swath of the world the US the UK Japan Brazil Germany Turkey Mexico France China Jamaica Iraq the Philippines India Sweden and a similarly broad array of the musical and nonmusical sounds suffusing the soundscapes of mobility Volume 2 investigates the ramifications of mobile music technologies on musical sonic performance and aesthetics Two core arguments are that mobility is not the same thing as actual movement and that artistic production cannot be absolutely sundered from the performances of quotidian life The volume s chapters investigate the mobilization of frequency range by sirens and miniature speakers sound vehicles such as boom cars ice cream trucks and trains the gestural choreographies of soundwalk pieces and mundane interactions with digital media dance music practices in laptop and iPod DJing the imagery of iPod commercials production practices in Turkish political music and black popular music the aesthetics of handheld video games and chiptune music and the mobile device as a new musical instrument and resource for musical ensembles
